Los Angeles, California

FCC QUARTERTLY REPORT
1st Quarter, 2008
January 1, 2008 – March 31, 2008

The following are among the community issues to which KTLA has given significant treatment to during the calendar period identified above:

- I. Consumer / Economy
- II. Crime
- III. Education
- IV. Government/Politics
- V. Health
- VI. Minority Relations
- VII. Urban Concerns
- VIII. Employment/Unemployment
- IX. Human Resources
- X. Ecology

1. CONSUMER / ECONOMY / INFLATION

This continuing problem includes, but is not limited to, high interest rates, high rate of poverty among minorities and women who are heads of households, hunger, the homeless, federal state and local government spending, and the need for consumer education.

2. CRIME / CIVIL JUSTICE

This area of concern includes, among other things, an increase in youth delinquency, vandalism, proliferation of drugs, domestic and child abuse, use of neighborhood watch programs, court reform and judicious sentencing, senior citizen crime rate, and need for adequate and secure prison and county facilities. There are too many crimes committed against seniors and problems with prostitution. There is gang violence and hate crimes against the homosexual community as well.

3. EDUCATION

This issue includes, more teacher/parent involvement, art of motivation, young people need training in school readiness and work habits, funding cutbacks, effective use of funding, declining quality of education, issues concerning teacher, provision of relevant education for people of color, attitudes of teachers toward minority students. Minority youth feel disenfranchised by the system and the importance of reading classes.

4. GOVERNMENT / POLITICS

Problems in this area include, but are not limited to, cynicism and the need for elected officials and the community to work together to solve problems; inadequate political representation; threats to cut funding for health; education and social services programs; lack of Mexican-Americans in elected or appointed offices; absentee ballots; costly programs and registration of voters...verification of forms. Los Angeles City & County government lack direction and funds.

5. HEALTH / RECREATION

Concerns in this area include, among other things, the high cost of health care, funding cuts for health and recreation programs, and health care needs of the elderly. Drug abuse is a problem among the youth, more federal involvement, too much drug abuse in the community, schools and military bases, and more drug education programs. Including aids education, prevention and costs. County of Los Angeles health system lacks necessary funding.

6. MINORITY RELATIONS

The continuing concerns in this area include, but are not limited to, raising bigotry and racism often manifesting in violent acts; adequate political representations of people of color; stereotypical images; preservation of cultures; needs of minority women; and issues resulting in rise of minority populations. Additional problems include; too many liquor stores in black communities; building a better family involvement; need for more role models; need to integrate various ethnic cultures into the arts. Hispanic community lacks access to legal resources due to language barriers, economic barriers and inherent institutional racism; minority youth being disenfranchised from education system and from working world. Regarding media: news, coverage, employment, on screen image. Conflict resolution concerns between racial and ethnic communities.

7. URBAN CONCERNS

Problems in this area include: too many homeless people, the need for an efficient public transportation system, congested traffic systems, need for affordable housing, zoning problems resulting from too many homeless people, the need for affordable rental units and racial discrimination is still prevalent, gang problems.

8. EMPLOYMENT / UNEMPLOYMENT

This continuing area of concern include, but is not limited to, high minority and youth unemployment; need for apprenticeship programs; affirmative action and training programs for women and minorities; government funding cutbacks for training programs; employee lack of motivation; shutting down of major industries and the issues concerned with pay equity. Young people lack good grooming, maturity and dedication to hold jobs and minority youth feel disenfranchised.

9. HUMAN RESOURCES

This area includes but is not limited to, equal pay for women and the need for more shelters, needs of youth; including latch-key children; equal rights; women's reproductive rights; emergency housing for battered women and children; needs of single family households; and family relations.

10. ENVIRONMENT / ECOLOGY / ENERGY

Problems in this area include, but are not limited to, proper disposal of industrial waste. Santa Monica bay/ocean must be cleaned. Other issues include air pollution; legislation concerning pollution and toxic waste; cost of energy and other utilities; health problems resulting from bad air quality; extinction of rare species; and the need for the creation of desert parks. The need for more educational programs based on water conservation, minority and neighborhood environmental programs, and active youth participation in environmental programs and issues.

I. Consumer / Economy

This continuing problem includes, but is not limited to, high interest rates, high rate of poverty among minorities and women who are heads of households, hunger, the homeless, federal state and local government spending, and the need for consumer education.

518 – A PLACE OF MY OWN.

It has often been said that two heads are better than one. For brothers Mark & Maverick Franks, this rang true when their bright minds linked together to open a franchise division of United Parcel Service, commonly known as UPS, in Inglewood, CA. Planting an investment seed in the inner-city community would cause apprehension in the average aspiring entrepreneur. After only two years in business, however, The Franks' venture already averages fully developed sales between $30,000 and $35,000 a month. Their business strides have not only contributed to the economic growth of Inglewood, but also demonstrate how striving against the odds can be a blessing in disguise.

The Franks' client range from local neighborhood customers to small and mid-size businesses additionally prove how investing in a place of their own community was one of the best seeds they could have ever planted.

A place of her own was a aspiration for the persistent Maria Villalobos (Golden Scissors Family Salon), who was born in Bolivia. After only 1 year of marriage, Maria's husband abandoned her and their newborn, forcing Maria to put her accounting studies on hold and move to the U.S with a friend. Language barriers did not prevent her, however, from seeking the good life that the Hollywood skyscrapers and tall Palm Trees reminded her of. Maria's search started off a bit turbulently when her friend eventually evicted her. She nonetheless found a job as a sewing machine operator and continued her education as a nurse assistant. Her son's high school graduation prompted Maria to return to school and obtain her cosmetology license. After working for a salon for five years, she decided to venture out on her own and partner with Mark Wasson. Maria has incorporated her Bolivian-inspired culture to the Golden Scissors Family Salon through music, artwork and Spanish ambience to cater to the growing Latino population she serves.

505 - LIMOS AND STUDIOS

Seven years ago, Nilza Serrano (www.themediashop.tv) was a single mother who left her steady job as a consultant for a shot at the entertainment business. She owns THE MEDIA SHOP, a post-production facility that deals with broadcasting and satellite media tours. She invested all of her savings into the studio with the hopes of bringing more minorities into the media industry. Her drive to succeed and cultivate her business has led to the success of the studio. She maintains a small staff of eight to ten full-time employees because she enjoys the intimacy between her staff and her clients. She must keep abreast of new technology and face the high costs of hardware to succeed further. Nilza wants her clients to think of her company as Paramount Studios, but boutique style. She sees her company as an influential source of creativity and plans on producing more creative shows. She enjoys interacting with people and having the ability to voice her opinions. She claims that no idea is too outrageous and that anything and everything can be done. She hopes to double her business this year and to have the studio run twenty-four hours a day.

Antoine Royster (www.dreamonesedans.com), originally from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was working with an internet company where he fared quite well until 2001 when the company folded. While traveling, a friend in the chauffeured sedan business picked him up at the airport in a limousine. Antoine discovered that transportation service and interacting with people appealed to him, so in 2000, he developed a business plan to start a full service ground transportation service, DREAM ONE LIMOUSINE. He invested $80,000 to buy a limousine and sedan. He used word of mouth, advertising his business to local hotel bellhops, to market his business. In October 2004, he moved into an actual office, and since then, the company has grown 25-30%. He wants to start a more aggressive marketing campaign to increase business. His immediate goal is to increase his business with his current customers and to eventually expand to other cities.

In Secrets of Success, Jewel Diamond Taylor (www.dontgiveup.net) emphasizes the importance of networking to increase revenue.

Studio Guest Norma T. Hollis (310-671-7136), founder and CEO of Speakers Etcetera shares about the services of her speakers bureau, which provides training and marketing services to assist new and aspiring speakers to navigate their way through the speaking industry.

519 – INFRASTRUCTURE

Previous professions of aspiring entrepreneurs may sometimes lead them to their future destinies. For Maurice Ortega (A.M. Ortega Construction, Inc), his future business successes rested in his hands, literally. The former motorcycle mechanic's hands were meant to do a lot more than handling motorcycles. Maurice came to this realization and decided to go into construction. With only $12,000 of profits the first year, his wife, amongst others, couldn't fathom this sudden career move. Their love and thirst for success, however, did not yield to the driving forces of the business. Five years later, the business cruised to optimistic acceleration when it landed two big contracts. Shortly after, A.M Ortega Construction, Inc was born and took full flight with an estimated $1.5 million contract. With past clients such as The Edison Company and the Minority Business Enterprise under their belt, the originally home office business has effectively transitioned into corporate America.

Climbing the corporate ladder was a desire Allen Teng always had a determination for. His climb began when he earned a degree in Chemistry and a Master's in Computer Science. By the age of 29, Teng had already become the overseer in the systems application department for a bank. Due to language barriers, however, his climb to the top tumbled downhill and prompted him to resign. In 1989, Teng decided to open his own IT Staffing Firm (Ten Tec), and consulted his former employer from the previous job. Teng further reached out to former contacts to build up his clientele. Teng's second attempt up the corporate ladder reaped $1.1 million in profits the first year. In 2007, the Firm's profit projected $30 million. His prestigious clients from Sony, Universal, Honda, and beyond also exemplify that climbing the corporate ladder mandates tenacity, determination, and, in some cases, several attempts.

483 – LIGHTING THE WAY (EDISON DEDICATED)

Marissa, Maria, and Vincent DeRosa are the owner's of Picasso's Café Bakery and Deli (www.picassoscafe.com) The Picasso story began in 1989 with the dream of two people, owners and operators Vincent and Maria DeRosa. Their objective was to cater to corporate breakfast and lunch coterie while "creating food products that are a work of art"- hence, Picasso's . The DeRosa's have successfully designed café, bakery, and catering menus to present quality products with an emphasis on eye appeal, taste, and price. The couple met while attending USC. Daughter Marissa has made her career with Picasso's as Vice President, overseeing Picasso's Marketing and Special Events. The entire family believes in giving back to the community and Picasso's plays a generous and active role in many local community events and donates to several worthwhile charitable organizations. Picasso's employs a culinary team of five.

Tracy Stanhoff's company Ad Pro (714-898-6364) has tripled its profits since Making It! last profiled her in December of 2000. Ad Pro specializes in main areas, including advertising, public relations, graphic design, printing, and web design. Tracy has now been working with Southern California Edison for eight years. Tracy states that they have been instrumental in helping mentor members of the American Indian Chamber of Commerce by sponsoring events, retreats, and seminars that serve to educate vendors about Edison. Ad Pro is diligently working to help its clients which include Semptra and Southern California Edison move into the untapped market of American Indian reservations. As the gaming community continues to grow and thrive, the need for infrastructure arises and Tracy feels that she can service the demand with Ad Pro. Ad Pro's client base has increased all over the country, and conducts much of its business electronically – saving both money and time.

TOPIC: 2008 Economic Picture State and L.A. Region

GUESTS: JACK KYSER, Senior V.P. & Chief Economist, Los Angeles County Economic Development Corp.

HASAN IKHRATA, Executive Director, Southern California Association of Governments.

DICUSSION: According to Kyser, "We're on a recession watch" as Southern California's economy has changed for both the good and the bad. The housing sector has suffered a severe blow as foreclosures have reached a high point compared to previous years. The business sector is experiencing the minimum wage increase instituted the first of January. There is a possibility of layoffs in many of the service related businesses due to this action. City officials are under fire for the mandated "living-wage" ordinance. Hotels near the airport are the primary target of this ordinance.

Despite the many efforts set forth by the city to ease the traffic congestion, it remains an issue. Some possible solutions discussed to resolve the problem included to increase capacity on the freeways, move goods via railroad and roads or by sea. Until recently the only solution that has been acted upon is turning the ports green.

520 – MENTORING FOR ALL AGES

From the age of 10, Daniel Uribe (Lazer Ceramic Skate Bearings) always had a passion for skateboards. As he grew older, his passionate hobby enthralled him to investigate the ceramic bearings of skateboards. Although these bearings were among the most expensive, they provided better agility and navigation that he saw consumers could have a need for. With the business insight and mentorship of an entrepreneurial academy, Daniel mobilized his online business venture with a $2500 loan. The deeply rooted support gave Daniel the confidence to enter three bearing competitions where he received top rankings. The financial winnings further allowed him to invest in his business via E-bay where he began painting blank skateboards. Not only did the World Wide Web make his business more economically successful, it also helped launch him into the global market. With the success of his company, Daniel Uribe hopes to spread the same mentoring insight he received to future generations.

If distance makes the heart grow fonder, what effect does it have for the aspiring entrepreneur from abroad? Born in Nigeria, Diane Banks always dreamt of becoming an esthetician. At the early age of seven, Diane would even attempt to persuade people to let her do their nails, skin, or hair. This childhood ambition reached American soil as Diane she obtained her Bachelors Degree and later opened Lady Dee's Day Spa & Skin Care Studio of Beverly Hills in 1988. Not only did distance transform Diane's childhood dream to a boundless reality, but provide the passion that goals need to thrive.

475 - WIRED FOR BUSINESS

Legalzoom.com (323-962-8600) is the nation's first online provider of comprehensive legal documentation services. The basic goal of the business is to be of assistance and convenience to those who need to take care of routine, uncontested legal matters without the time or costs of hiring an attorney. The website offers simple questionnaires and help menus that guide customers to make their own legal decisions and also create their own customized legal documents. The company also offers live one-on-one assistance for final review of documents to ensure completeness and consistency by legal document assistants. Brian Lee (President) and Brian Liu (CEO), the co-founders of Legalzoom.com met at UCLA's School of Law. The business started out of Lee's apartment, with barely any money, and no staff to assist them. The duo took a chance and phoned high-power attorney Robert Shapiro who listened, liked their idea, and together, the three formed an alliance that has proven to be successful and unique. Shapiro's influence was getting the name out to the media and the legal world, while the two Brian's were the one's who found the money, the space, and created the plan to get the business organized. Today they are based in Hollywood and employ eighty people in a 30,000 square foot office space. They also have a satellite office in Las Vegas. The numbers of last year's gross revenues were in the multi-millions of dollars and the actual growth of the business was over 400 percent.

ANDIRI Inc. (323-819-3620) started through five friends: Shinny Anderson, Jasisri Hibler, Claudio Ramirez, David Meredith, and Rab Butler. They were all attending CSUN and studying in various marketing, graphics, and computer-related fields. Classmates would often ask them to put together proposals, graphics packages and such for various events and projects on campus. It didn't take them long to realize they could a profit from their expertise. Today, ANDIRI creates web and graphics design and assists in the creation of image and marketing for various companies, especially those in entertainment. They also make and design brochures, CD jackets, invitations and more. The company started five years ago out of Shinny's duplex. Their first year of earnings totaled $25,000, and this year they have made of $400,000. Their client list includes the Grammy's, Magic Johnson Enterprise, the NAACP Image Awards, and Edmonds Entertainment.

521 - MAXIMIZING YOUR BANKING RELATIONSHIP

When Kenny Yee of Wing Hing Noodles inherited his family-owned business, a part of him felt it was incomplete. Yee wanted to position the business where it could prosper on a more global scale. Brand name recognition and mainstream popularity were just a few of the delays before this new business flight reached its final destination. In addition, a $3 million bond investment was used to handle business innovations and meet proper health standards. However, the big ticket investment paid off as sales tripled and Wing Hing Noodles' relationship with giant food establishments and restaurants grew. Kenny Yee's food manufacturing company now not only has a strong family foundation, but a solid business backbone as well.

Many family-owned small businesses have difficulty passing down future family generations. JoJo'z Enterprises, which markets U.S. food products in Mexico, experienced this first-hand when its founding father, Joe Gomez passed away. During his time, however, Joe Gomez had secured the foundation necessary to assure the successful transition to his young family. Today co-founder Gloria Gomez enables Joe Gomez's spirit to live on through his good old-fashioned core philosophies. With such business ethics, JoJo'z Enterprises has reported product sales at over 250 major retail stores throughout Mexico.

514 – GROWING A BUSINESS

Shau Wai Lam of DCH USA (www.dchauto.com) owns 35 automobile franchises in California, New York, and New Jersey. He sells over 60,000 cars each year and grosses an annual revenue of $2 billion. He took over the company for his father, who founded the company in Hong Kong. Shau saw a market in the United States and consequently founded DCH USA. His first dealership was a Honda dealership. Shau credits the Honda franchise for helping the company get started. The franchise's Excel Program provides training for dealers to help develop their dealerships. Honda gets feedback from dealers like Shau to stay on the leading edge of automobiles. Honda also invites dealers to join committees to contribute ideas to the development of automobile models.

Abdi Ahmed moved to the United States from Africa as a teenager and took a class in computer programming. The class helped Abdi discover his passion. He worked for Apple Computers but decided he would rather start his own company that would provide a single source technical solution for small businesses. As a result, he founded NETSERVE SYSTEMS, INC., (www.netserveystems.net) which offers computer security, web design, technical support, and network monitoring services. Abdi saw the need for a company that compressed technological solutions and thus found his business niche. He counts Honda as one of his clients that take advantage of his company's security-related services. Honda was so pleased with the services that the company recommends Netserve Systems to its other suppliers and vendors. Honda holds seminars so small businesses, mostly Honda vendors, can take advantage of each other's services.

In Secrets of Success, John W. Murray, Jr. of the Southern California Minority Business Development Council (www.scmdbdc.org) stresses the importance of networking, which is building a relationship. When networking, try to find common ground, find out the needs of the customer, and what you can offer them

AMERICANS FEELING BETTER

A NEW REUTERS-ZOGBY POLLS SAYS AMERICANS ARE EXPERIENCING A MOOD SWING. THE REASONS FOR AMERICANS BEING IN A BETTER MOOD THIS MONTH: A GROWING CONFIDENCE IN THE FUTURE AND SLIGHTLY WARMER VIEWS OF PRESIDENT BUSH AND CONGRESS. 8 OF THE 10 MEASURES OF PUBLIC OPINION USED IN THE SURVEY WENT UP. POSITIVE MARKS WERE GIVEN TO JOB SECURITY, PERSONAL FINANCES, SAFETY AND THE DIRECTION OF THE COUNTRY. SOME OF THAT CAN BE ATTRIBUTED TO THE ECONOMIC SURPLUS PACKAGE AND THE DECLINING NUMBER OF U.S. TROOP DEATHS IN IRAQ. THERE WERE SOME DOWNERS THOUGH. FOR THE FIRST TIME, A MAJORITY OF AMERICANS, 54%, EXPECT A RECESSION IN THE NEXT YEAR THAT'S UP FROM 48% LAST MONTH.

514 – Maximizing Your Banking Relationship

Shau Wai Lam of DCH USA (www.dchauto.com) owns 35 automobile franchises in California, New York, and New Jersey. He sells over 60,000 cars each year and grosses an annual revenue of $2 billion. He took over the company for his father, who founded the company in Hong Kong. Shau saw a market in the United States and consequently founded DCH USA. His first dealership was a Honda dealership. Shau credits the Honda franchise for helping the company get started. The franchise's Excel Program provides training for dealers to help develop their dealerships. Honda gets feedback from dealers like Shau to stay on the leading edge of automobiles. Honda also invites dealers to join committees to contribute ideas to the development of automobile models.

Abdi Ahmed moved to the United States from Africa as a teenager and took a class in computer programming. The class helped Abdi discover his passion. He worked for Apple Computers but decided he would rather start his own company that would provide a single source technical solution for small businesses. As a result, he founded NETSERVE SYSTEMS, INC., (www.netserveystems.net) which offers computer security, web design, technical support, and network monitoring services. Abdi saw the need for a company that compressed technological solutions and thus found his business niche. He counts Honda as one of his clients that take advantage of his company's security-related services. Honda was so pleased with the services that the company recommends Netserve Systems to its other suppliers and vendors. Honda holds seminars so small businesses, mostly Honda vendors, can take advantage of each other's services.

522 – GOING GREEN

A successful career working for someone else was not the happy ending to the American Dream Dan Molluras imagined. Although he quickly excelled in many professions, Molluras's American dream involved working for himself. It finally took flight when one of his small heat-sealing jobs landed a contract with the government. This started his company on a growth pattern and laid the foundation for becoming a government contractor for his company Vinyl Technology, Inc. As a manufacturer of custom made plastic and industrial fabric products, Dan Molluras reports current revenue between $15 and $18 million. His extensive client range in the military, space program and medical industries allows Vinyl Technology, Inc. to be the American Dream Dan Molluras envisioned.

Many aspiring entrepreneurs cross a river of riddles when discovering their business venture. Baffled by which wave to sail, Kenneth Nguyen of The Woven Company answered his riddle in the form of an equation. It primarily involved expanding his knowledge of the import/export business to strengthen his parents' Bamboo Window Covering business. When Kenneth couldn't afford to pay his first few employees on time, his thirst for knowledge grew. He attended interior design trade shows and even integrated marketing techniques he learned from promoting clubs. With additional insight from Comerica, Kenneth's business reached its first million, allowing him to pursue corporate clients. The incorporated company's philosophy of hard work and knowledge expansion has kept success and the entrepreneurial spirit in the family.

500 – RIPE FOR SUCCESS

Iris Rideau (805-688-0717; www.rideauvineyard.com) was 12 years old when her grandmother first introduced her to table etiquette and fine wine appreciation. Her childhood passion would ignite her entrepreneurial spirit decades later, but not before she took a few turns personally and professionally. When Iris became a teenage mother, she had to work at a sewing factory to support herself and her child. However, she was determined to make more of her life. She began taking night courses in college and landed herself a job at an insurance company. She then started her own insurance policy and investment business with her husband Jimmy Rideau after they were married. That was when she first appeared on Making It! in 1989 as the head of IC Rideau Securities, Inc. She remained at her company and was planning for her eventual retirement. But as she approached that point, she realized she did not want to live the rest of her life unproductively. This inspired her to form RIDEAU VINEYARD in California.

However, this idea did not come to her immediately. She had originally considered opening an inn or restaurant. But when the county of Santa Barbara denied both ideas, she turned her attention to winemaking. She received a golden opportunity when she met a winemaker who had just left a renowned winery. He was in need of a new facility and Iris, who was seeking a winemaker for her business, agreed to build a winery for the both of them in exchange for his services. She enjoyed a great deal of success in her new venture but had to endure some difficult times. Her most devastating experience as an entrepreneur happened three years ago, when a careless winemaker cost her 50% of her wine inventory due to contamination. The catastrophe nearly drove her to exit her business, but Iris chose to persist and eventually replaced her losses in two years. She learned a valuable lesson from the incident and has since taken a more hands-on approach to ensure high quality of her products. Rideau Vineyard is projected to make $2.5 million at the end of 2005. Iris is most proud of the fact that she is able to use her resources to provide for her family. Recently, she has donated food, clothing and money to her family members in New Orleans in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina.

523 – BUILDING BIG THINGS WITH QUALITY PEOPLE (Honda Dedicated)

As a child, Lonnie Miles always had a passion for construction. This childhood passion followed him through college where he received his graduate degree in Civil Engineering and pursued a career in construction. When his second job a five years wanted to relocate him, Lonnie decided to start his own business, Miles-McCellan Construction and Development with business partner, Terry McClellan. Their dual business savvy paid off when Lonnie was introduced to Tony Piazza, Assistant Vice President of HR & Administration at American Honda Motor Co., Inc. Piazza and his associates suggested Lonnie bid on a contract to build a distribution facility in Columbus. This Request for Proposal drafted a $25 million project and led to Lonnie building a Honda Aircraft facility in the form of a $70 million contract. Lonnie Miles' ability to build facilities and solid business relationships also gives Miles-McCellan Construction and Development the fuel it needs to thrive.

As a Diversity Consultant to American Honda Motor, Dr. Tyrone Baines helps ensure the company has a broad range of skilled contract employees throughout the minority community. This business agenda will set sail as Honda builds its next headquarters in Greensborough, North Carolina. The venture is projected to provide 300+ jobs to the public. With that commitment, the City of Greensboro gave Honda a financial incentive of $600,000 which will be paid off over a three-year time span. American Honda feels that this project is a model for other large corporations as an example of providing maximum exposure and opportunities to minority entrepreneurs.

510 – BANKS AND SMALL BUSINESS (COMERICA DEDICATED)

After graduating from college, Tammy Vali Martin started working at her father's company, DEB CONSTRUCTION, which he started in 1976. She joined the company despite her father's wishes, who thought Tammy should avoid such a male-dominated business. Now, she runs the company with her brother. Tammy runs the office while her brother runs the field. She recently completed building a new branch for Comerica Bank, which was well-received. She looks forward to receiving more projects from them, especially as her company continues to grow. Already, the company has seen a lot of growth within the last two years. Tammy currently has a staff of approximately 50 employees in northern and southern California and struggles to find new superintendents and project managers for the company. This year, she expects $35 million in sales.

Dr. Rev. Clyde W. Oden Jr. is the senior pastor of BRYANT TEMPLE AME CHURCH in Los Angeles. He has a vision of a family life center in which his parishioners can more actively engage in their day-to-day activities. With funding provided by Comerica's faith-based lending program, Rev. Oden has been able to oversee a renovation of the existing and is looking to acquire the adjacent building to create the family life center. Rev. Oden praises Comerica Bank for understanding the church's needs and its desire to better serve the local community. The church also looks to city, state, and federal government sources for funding in addition to other revenue streams.

MARKETS DOWN

WALL STREET TUMBLED IN EARLY TRADING MONDAY AS WALL STREET AND OTHER GLOBAL MARKETS REELED FORM JPMORGAN CHASE AND CO'S GOVENMNETS BACKED BUYOUT OF THE INVALID INVESTMENT BANK BEAR STEARNS COS. THE DOW JONES INDUSTRIALS FELL ABOUT 150 POINTS IN THE FIRST FEW MINUTES OF TRADING ON TOP OF SUPPORTING THE BUYOUT, THE FEDERAL RESERVE TOOK THE EXTRAORDINARY STEP OF LOWERING THE RATE IT CHARGES TO LOAN DIRECTLY TO BANKS ON SUNDAY NIGHT-TWO DAYS BEFORE ITS SCHEDULED MEETING TUESDAY. THE CENTRAL BANK LOWERED THE DISCOUNT RATE BY A QUARTER POINT TO 3.25 PERCENT. A BUY OUT OF BEAR STEARNS WAS CERTAINLY MORE APPEALING THAN THE ALTERNATIVE: LETTING THE INVESTMENT BANK COLLAPSE AND CAUSING HUGE LOSSES FOR ANYONE LINKED TO IT. BUT BEAR STEARNS' IMPLOSION- AND THE FACT THAT JPMORGAN VALUED THE FIFTH-LARGEST WALL STREET INVESTMENT BANK AT A PALTRY TWO DOLLARS A SHARE, OR 236.2 MILLION. #### SARA JANE OLSEN REARREST

PAPERS CHALLENGING THE RETURN OF SARA JANE OLSON TO PRISON ARE BEING FILED IN A SACRAMENTO COURT TODAY. OLSON WAS RE-ARRESTED ON SATURDAY, LESS THAN A WEEK AFTER BEING RELEASED FROM PRISON. OFFICIALS SAY THERE WAS A MISCALCULATION OF THE FORMER S-L-A

MEMBER'S SENTENCE FOR SECOND-DEGREE MURDER, AND THAT SHE SHOULDN'T HAVE BEEN LET OUT FOR ANOTHER YEAR. OLSON'S ATTORNEYS ARGUE THEY WERE NEVER NOTIFIED OF THE PLAN TO RE-ARREST, NOR WERE THERE ANY COURT DOCUMENTS FILED.

GUESTS: JANE FOLEY Ph.D, Senior VP, Milken Educator Awards (The Milken Family Foundation), SAKHALIN FINNIE, Science Teacher and Recipient, Milken National Educator, AARON CHUNG, Math Teacher and Recipient, Milken National Educator Award.

DISCUSSION: In an age where celebrities and athletes are glorified as heroes, it's nice to know that some unsung heroes are getting their due respect. The Milken Family Foundation has surprised up to 80 teachers across the national with $25,000, which will be presented to them at a gala Awards ceremony held in their honor. The Milken Institute has recognized more than 2,300 educators with over $58 million in its 21 years of service. Unlike other teaching awards, there is no formal nomination or application process. The nominees are recommended for this award without their knowledge by a blue-ribbon panel appointed by each state's department of education. Each candidate is selected on following areas: Exceptional educational talent, Exemplary educational accomplishments, Strong long-range potential for professional and policy leadership and having an engaging and inspiring presence. Each of the guests have proven that they are deserving educators and will be honored accordingly.

CA BIG CUTS

SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN CALIFORNIA HAVE BEGUN TRIMMING SERVICES AND PREPARING TO LAY OFF TEACHERS IN RESPONSE TO GOVERNOR SCHWARZENEGGER'S PROPOSED BUDGET. IT COULD CUT ABOUT 4.8 BILLION DOLLARS IN EDUCATION FUNDING THIS YEAR AND NEXT YEAR. THE GOVERNOR'S PLAN INCLUDES 460 MILLION DOLLARS IN POTENTIAL REDUCTIONS FOR THE LOS ANGELES UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT. THE L.A.U.S.D. HAD ALREADY AGREED TO TRIM ALMOST 100 MILLION DOLLARS FROM NEXT YEAR'S BUDGET TO COMPLY WITH COUNTY GUIDELINES.

TOPIC: State Budge Crisis – cut in Educational Programs

GUESTS: Dr. MARIA OTT, Superintendent, Rowland Unified School District, PAM BRADY, President, California State PTA (by phone), ROGER RASMUSSEN, Deputy Chief, Financial Officer, Los Angeles Unified School District

DISCUSSION: There was common agreement among the guests that the Governor is making the wrong decision in cutting educational programs. The state is experiencing one of the largest budget deficits in years. At this writing the deficit is 14 billion dollars and change. The proposed budget presents horrific problems all through the state's school districts large and small. The guests proposed the thought that there was a nugget of irony in the budget cut decision. His office proclaimed this year as the Educational Year. The reduction in funding will eliminate many teaching and administration positions. In addition the cuts will include special education, cost-of-living increases, class size reduction, child development programs and many more. The guests believe Sacramento politicians have flunked the test in smarts. The guests believe that if a child received a good education that child will be a profitable contributor to the state's coffers.

They also talked about the negative factor of Proposition 13.

TOPIC: LAUSD School Construction, Green Projects.

GUESTS: Guy Mehula, Chief Facilities Executive, LAUSD, Veronica Soto, Manager, Small Business Program, Eric Martinez, Student (Senior) Miguel Contreras Learning Center.

DISCUSSION: Los Angeles Unified School District has long had a overcrowding issue among its schools. Over the past two decades many local and statewide measures have been passed to repair, modernize or build new schools to ease congestion. Since then new schools have appeared in many neighborhoods. In addition to the new schools the district has also implemented employment training program in which students are taught and trained in employment in the fields of Engineering and Architecture. Additional new schools have reduced the size and in some communities the need for bussing. Also, many schools have returned to the traditional calendar school year.
