1. Stuart N. Brotman, executive policy adviser, legal analyst, author of "Privacy's Perfect Storm: Digital Policy for Post-Pandemic Times"

The COVID-19 lockdowns have expanded the online world of work and school at home to unprecedented levels. Mr. Brotman outlined the rapid increase in digital privacy issues related to this new trend, and what is necessary to address the problem. He also talked about privacy issues related to terms of agreement that consumers typically ignore when installing apps or other software.

Issues covered:

Privacy
Government Regulation
Consumer Matters

Length: 8:43

2. Ajit Mathew George, founder of Second Chances Farms, LLC in Wilmington, DE

Mr. George founded an organization that employs only convicted felons, training them in entrepreneurship through mentorship programs and green collar jobs at hydroponic, indoor vertical farms in economically distressed communities. He explained how the farms replace recidivism with compassionate capitalism and turn entrepreneurs-in-residence into "Agripreneurs." He also explained how the farms were forced to rapidly adapt to serving consumers directly, when the coronavirus lockdowns closed restaurants.

Issues covered:

Criminal Reform

1. Carol L. Rickard, Tobacco Treatment Specialist, author of "The Benefits of Smoking: Why It's So Hard to Quit Smoking and What You Can Do about It"

70% of smokers would like to quit, but only 4 to 7% will be successful. Ms. Rickard explained what smokers perceive as the benefits and why it's so hard for people to kick the habit once they've started. She also discussed the potential risks associated with e-cigarettes and vaping. She suggested resources that smokers can use to quit for good.

Length: 8:44

2. Mathew Freeman, Co-Founder and Senior Executive Consultant at TMI Consulting, a diversity and inclusion management consulting firm, co-author of "Overcoming Bias: Building Authentic Relationships across Differences"

Mr. Freeman said every human is biased in one way or another, and it's a constant process to recognize and reduce it. He explained why bias has such an impact in every aspect of life, and how companies should address it in the workplace. He said the secret to dealing with bias is by intentionally cultivating meaningful relationships with those who are different.

Issues covered:

Workplace Matters

Length: 8:33

3. Gloria Lopez-Cordle, nationally-recognized patient advocate, creator of "the Personal Medical Journal", a patient organizational tool

A recent study found that American hospitals are making preventable medical errors that kill thousands of Americans each year. Ms. Lopez-Cordle believes that patients and their families need to take charge of their medical information to prevent mistakes by doctors. She offered advice on what kinds of medical data is important and how to organize it.

1. Dennis Culhane, PhD, Dana and Andrew Stone Professor of Social Policy at the University of Pennsylvania School of Social Policy and Practice, co-founder and Co-Director of the Actionable Intelligence for Social Policy initiative

Over the next decade, the number of elderly homeless Americans is projected to triple — and that was before COVID-19 hit. Prof. Culhane explained why younger members of the boomer generation have remained the dominant homeless population in the United States, and what can be done to address the problem. He noted that people who experience homelessness have a life expectancy of 64-65 years.

Issues covered:

Length: 7:38

2. Christopher Ali, PhD, Associate Professor, Department of Media Studies, University of Virginia

Nearly 40 million households lack a quality internet connection, cutting them off from work, schools and more. Prof. Ali said the same huge government efforts that brought electricity and telephone service to rural areas in the 1930s and 40s should be applied in a similar way to broadband service today. He said lower income and minority Americans are most likely to be affected by the digital divide.

1. Farrokh Alemi, PhD, Professor of Health Informatics, George Mason University College of Health and Human Services

Suicide among US veterans is on the rise. Prof. Alemi led a study that examined the reasons that vets take their own lives. He found that while social factors like family problems and homelessness can predict suicide, they are not the cause of it -- mental illness is. He said the results of the study were a surprise. He added that the social isolation that accompanies COVID-19 has been a major factor in increasing suicide rates overall.

1. Patricia Boyle, PhD, neuropsychologist, Professor of Behavioral Sciences at the Rush Alzheimer's Disease Center, part of Rush University in Chicago

Scammers are using the COVID-19 pandemic as a new weapon to target senior citizens. Dr. Boyle outlined the latest battery of financial scams, including telemarketer offers for contact tracing – for a fee – or to reserve a slot for a future vaccine. She said many older adults don't realize that they are more frequent targets of scams. She added that changes in financial decision-making may be an early warning sign of impending dementia or cognitive decline.

	Synopsis: According to the Environmental Protection Agency, greenhouse gases trap heat in the atmosphere leading to a warmer planet. The largest source of greenhouse gas emissions due to human activities is from burning fossil fuels like coal, oil and natural gas for electricity, heat and transportation. In recent years, the increasingly dry and warm climate in the U.S. has led to extreme fires, record drought and more severe hurricanes. So, what can be done to alter the path we're currently on and make renewable energy (that results in less emissions) widely accessible for everyone? Host: Gary Price. Guest: Dr. Jennie C. Food for Friends

Sponsored by Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Covington

Catholic Charities is happy to announce their first food pantry in Grant County on December 7, 2020 from 1-3pm! "Food for Friends" mobile food pantry will be available for Grant County low income residents on the 2nd Monday of every month.

"Food for Friends" is a program of Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Covington, where we aspire to mirror the love and actions of Jesus Christ. "Food for Friends" monthly mobile food pantry will provide residents from 20-40 food items at no cost. These food items are provided by The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP), and will vary from canned goods, rice, pasta, meat and fresh produce, depending on availability. Due to Covid-19, the pantry will begin as a drive-thru pantry so that social distancing guidelines can be met and our guests and volunteers remain safe.

The pantry will be hosted at the hall at St. William Catholic Church, located at 6 Church Street, Williamstown KY 41097. You will need to bring a photo ID. Contact John Hehman about how to pick up food for someone who is homebound. We ask that the vehicles line up in the rear of the church. While waiting in line, please do not get out of your vehicles and wander around. We are doing our part to keep you safe and we ask that you do the same for us.

"Food for Friends" has already opened a pantry in Bracken County and future plans are to open pantries in the following counties in the Diocese of Covington as well... Mason, Pendleton, Owen and Gallatin Counties. For more information or questions please contact Mobile Food Pantry Coordinator, John Hehman by phone at (859) 581-8974 ext. 124 or email at jhehman@covingtoncharities.org. NORTHERN KENTUCKY FOCUS PROGRAM

DURATION: 30 MINUTES, LOCALLY PRODUCED

Interviews with James Noll, Northern Kentucky Attorney and Legal Expert on the following dates: 10/4/20, 11/1/20, 12/6/20, 12/27/20 7:30AM

The discussions were targeted at how those who are currently without legal counsel can go about contacting and beginning the relationship with an attorney, as well as other topicals relating to the law.

An interview with Steven Heyho, owner of the local restaurant Beans in Dry Ridge and Hebron, was conducted on 12/20/20. The discussion focused on Heyho's decision to keep his restaurants open during the Governor mandated shutdown.
