| 5/04/06 | FOCUS on: Coalition for a Drug-Free Greater Cincinnati Ten years ago, the Coalition for a Drug-Free Greater Cincinnati was founded by Ohio Congressman Rob Portman and other community leaders. Responding to the rising adolescent drug use rates, its mission is to promote drug-free environments for youth and to provide advocacy, education and support to concerned adults and agencies who are also trying to stop this epidemic. On this episode of Focus, we are going to speak with two experts who will give us insight on how to deter underage drug consumption. Also, we will show you a pre-taped interview with Hope Taft conducted by Maryanne Zeleznik (News Director at WVXU) in which Mrs. Taft discusses her involvement in the "Let's Start Talking Before They Start Drinking" lecture series. | Holly James, President and Executive Director, Coalition for a Drug-Free Greater Cincinnati Dr. Kay Clifton, Member of the Steering Committee, Coalition for a Drug-Free Lower Price Hill Hope Taft, Ohio's First Lady |
| 5/11/06 | FOCUS on: Mediation Divorces, post-nuptial agreements, liability, general lawsuits and other disputes can be messy. One way to resolve your conflict is through mediation. The primary benefit of mediation is the parties' ability to fashion their own mutually satisfactory solution – in many cases, a solution that is more creative and suited to the parties' needs than a judge or jury could render. Locally, the Ohio Commission on Dispute Resolution and Conflict Management offers constructive, nonviolent forums, processes, and techniques to help resolve disputes. | Bea Larsen, Mediator for family law related cases as Senior Staff Attorney at the Center for Resolution of Disputes David Peck, Selected by his peers as one of "The Best Lawyers in America" and as an "Ohio Super Lawyer," Mr. Peck has also been recognized as one of the area's top mediators Marie Hill, Family mediator specializing in parenting plans and child-related issues. On this episode of Focus , we will talk with three professional mediators who will explain the benefits of mediation and conflict resolution and how you can get started. | Association of Collaborative Professionals, the Mediation Council, the National Association of Conflict Resolution and the Ohio Mediation Association. As a contractor, she performs basic mediation training for Beech Acres |
| 6/22/06 | FOCUS on: Cancer Survivorship Issues When someone survives cancer, there are many health questions that must be addressed. Questions and concerns range from the chances the cancer will reoccur, to fertility issues, to making healthy lifestyle choices. But, who can you turn to locally for answers? Survivor Alert is a nationwide campaign to inform young adult childhood cancer survivors what they can do to stay healthy. Inspired by the courage of all the children in A Lion in the House, Survivor Alert will help survivors learn the specific steps they can take to make the most of the life they've won. | Amy Steinkuhl, Survivor Outreach Project Coordinator, Kentucky Cancer Program & Survivor Alert Liz Annett, Cancer Survivor and Board Member of Cancerfree Kids, a non-profit organization that raises money for pediatric cancer research Jason Thomas, Childhood cancer survivor |

 Episode Title: THE GREAT SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE
 Version: SD-Base
 Length: 60
 Airdate: 4/17/2006 9:00:00 PM/502
 Service: PBS

In April 1906, San Francisco was destroyed by earthquake and fire. Thousands were killed, and tens of thousands were left homeless. But three years later the city had been rebuilt from the ashes. This film looks at the destruction and rebirth of San Francisco, and how it became part of American folklore.

 Version: SD-Base
 Length: 60
 Airdate: 4/24/2006 9:00:00 PM/502
 Service: PBS

American Experience presents The Alaska Pipeline, a one-hour documentary from producer Mark Davis. "The Trans-Alaska Pipeline changed just about everything and everyone it touched," says Davis, "from the people who opposed it to the people who supported it, the people who built it, and the state of Alaska." Workers battled Arctic weather to construct an 800-mile pipeline that traversed three mountain ranges, 34 rivers, and 800 streams, and that withstood earthquakes and extreme cold. The men, machines and money the pipeline brought to Alaska would forever transform the wilderness.

Airdate: 5/15/2006 9:00:00 PM/502
O.B. Date: 5/3/2004 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

On May 27, 1937, 200,000 people thronged to the newly-completed Golden Gate bridge and walked, climbed, skated or cycled across. After 18 years of struggles to complete the bridge, San Francisco's jubilation was unrestrained. Twenty years earlier, choked off at the tip of a peninsula, San Francisco had faced a future of increased congestion and economic strangulation. Though many in the city longed for a bridge connecting San Francisco to the counties to the north, the obstacles to construction were daunting. This program tells the story of a hustler and self-promoter, a man who had never designed or overseen the building of a suspension bridge, who took up the challenge. Joseph Strauss spent thirteen years wrangling with local politicians, arguing with the War Department over designs and fighting lawsuits from bridge opponents before he was able to break ground. By the time the bridge was complete, Strauss, his team of designers and his construction crews had built what has since been called one of the "Seven Wonders of the Modern World."

Segment Length: 00:56:46

In 1926, just a few months before her death, Will Rogers described Annie Oakley as "the greatest woman rifle shot the world has ever produced." As the star attraction of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, she thrilled audiences around the world with her daring shooting feats and her act helped fuel turn-of-the-century nostalgia for the vanished, mythical world of the American West. Over time she became an American legend—the loud, brassy, cocksure shooter celebrated in the musical "Annie Get Your Gun." But that legend had little to do with the real Annie Oakley. Although famous as a Western sharpshooter, Oakley lived her entire life east of the Mississippi. A champion in a man's sport, she forever changed ideas about the abilities of women, yet she opposed female suffrage. Her fame and fortune came from her skill with guns, yet she was a Quaker. This probing AMERICAN EXPERIENCE production examines the dramatic life of a uniquely American icon whose complex character manifested many of the paradoxes of the nation.

Episode Title: Wright Brothers' Flying Machine
Version: SD-Base
Length: 60
Airdate: 5/9/2006 8PM
Service: PBS

"Wright Brothers' Flying Machine"--December 17, 2003, marks the centennial of the world's first powered flight at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. To celebrate this milestone, NOVA presents the definitive documentary on the invention of the airplane. While many shows have retold the Wright brothers' personal story, no program has properly explored the astonishing inventiveness that they applied to the problem of powered flight. NOVA reveals that the popular image of the Wrights as amateur bicycle mechanics who tinkered their way into the sky is a total myth. The program features exhilarating footage of flights by exclusively commissioned replicas that use the same original materials and the only existing Wright engine for the frail craft that first propelled humans toward the clouds. The triumph of powered flight comes alive once more in NOVA's epic documentary.

"In Your Eyes": Musician and human rights activist Peter Gabriel is empowering people to document human rights abuses in their own backyards and bring them to the world's attention. His organization, Witness, is based in Brooklyn, but has electronic eyes all over the world, acting under the motto "see it, film it, change it." Gabriel opens up to David Brancaccio about his horror at abuses as far away as Burma and as close as California, and how his efforts have led to real change. "I think it appalls you at first when you start seeing what people actually do in the world. But I find some of the people you meet, that are fighting the abuses, extraordinary," says Gabriel.

ENDING AIDS... is the story of one of the greatest scientific and technological challenges ever -- the search for an AIDS vaccine, and of the people and organizations that are rising to meet it. While exploring some of the deepest mysteries facing science today, ENDING AIDS shows how the quest for a vaccine is also being shaped by social, political and economic forces, such as competing bureaucratic priorities and business incentives, the ability of governmental and non-governmental institutions to speed or slow development and testing of promising vaccines, and the heated ethical debates over where and how vaccine trials should be conducted.

In 1926, just a few months before her death, Will Rogers described Annie Oakley as "the greatest woman rifle shot the world has ever produced." As the star attraction of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, she thrilled audiences around the world with her daring shooting feats and her act helped fuel turn-of-the-century nostalgia for the vanished, mythical world of the American West. Over time she became an American legend-the loud, brassy, cocksure shooter celebrated in the musical "Annie Get Your Gun." But that legend had little to do with the real Annie Oakley. Although famous as a Western sharpshooter, Oakley lived her entire life east of the Mississippi. A champion in a man's sport, she forever changed ideas about the abilities of women, yet she opposed female suffrage. Her fame and fortune came from her skill with guns, yet she was a Quaker. This probing AMERICAN EXPERIENCE production examines the dramatic life of a uniquely American icon whose complex character manifested many of the paradoxes of the nation.

When Albert Einstein died in 1955, he left behind a remarkable scientific legacy - and an extraordinary secret. In 1986, newly discovered love letters revealed a marriage hidden in the shadows for more than 30 years. Before moving to America in 1933 with his second wife and first cousin, Elsa, Einstein had married his university sweetheart and scientific collaborator, Mileva Maric, a courageous young woman of exceptional intellect. This program reveals the truth of the life and work of the remarkable, forgotten woman who contributed substantially, as both wife and scientific equal, to Einstein's great scientific achievements.
