Re: Children's Television Act 1990

Dear Kim:

This letter is intended to assist you in satisfying your obligations under the Children's Television Act of 1990 and the FCC regulations relating thereto in connection with your carriage of Comcast SportsNet (which service is owned and operated by Philadelphia Sports Media, L.P.).

The Comcast SportsNet service does not currently contain any "children's programming" (as defined by the FCC), and we have no current intention of adding such programming. In the event, however, that the service does contain any "children's programming" after the date hereof, such programming will not contain "commercial matter" (as defined by the FCC) that, when added to the "commercial matter" you may insert under our affiliation agreement, exceeds applicable limits. In addition, in the event of any such programming, we will provide, by the tenth day following the end of the calendar quarter in which the programming appeared, a description of such programming specifying the dates and times of transmission and the duration of the "commercial matter" included therein.

Best regards,

Dear Ms. Sedwick:

In response to your recent request, this is to certify that QVC, Inc., a cable network, has no programs originally produced or broadcast primarily for an audience of children 12 years old and under. Accordingly, none of QVC's programming constitutes "children's programming" as defined by Section 73.660 of the FCC's rules, and, therefore, none is subject to the commercialization limits imposed on children's programming. (See 47 C.F.R., Section 73.660).

To the extent we should decide, in the future, to include any children's programming on our schedule, we would, of course, comply with all pertinent FCC requirements and would, at that time, notify you of the programming change. Because we have no current intention to produce or broadcast children's programming, you may rely on this certification until such time as you hear from us to the contrary.

If you have any questions about this matter, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely yours,

This letter is in response to your phone call earlier today regarding compliance with the Children's Television Act of 1990. Please let this letter serve as our official, standing response.

Please note that because the Pittsburgh Cable News Channel (PCNC) format is local-regional news, talk, and information geared primarily to adults, it has no children's programming and there is no commercial time to report.
