EDUCATION

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (4/10/16) (12:29 minutes)
Moderator: Gary Price
Guests: Ruta Sepetys, author of Salt to the Sea; Kristina McMorris, author of The Edge of Lost; Michelle Gable, author of I'll See You in Paris.
Subject: Historical fiction is very popular these days, but why? And how do authors weave a fictional story around actual people, places and events? We talk to three best-selling authors of the genre about how they write their books and why.

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (4/10/16) (9:12 minutes)
Moderator: Marty Peterson
Guests: Dr. Gail Gross, psychologist specializing in child development and families, author of How to Build Your Baby's Brain and The Only Way Out is Through; Dan DiSorbo, co-author and illustrator of the book Recess: From dodgeball to double-dutch: classic games for players of today.
Subject: Recess helps kids unwind during the school day, but it's much more than just a time to exercise. We talk to two recess "specialists" about the mental as well as the physical benefits of recess, and learn about some recess activities that help a child be more creative, more social as well as more physically active

(@Central Jersey with Maggie Glynn): Pre-recorded interview, (4/17/16) (30 minutes)
Moderator: Maggie Glynn
Guests: Christopher Kenniff, the Director of the Mason Gross Extension Division, Barbara Bashaw the Director of the Rutgers Summer Dance Conservatories, Grace Jackson the Assistant Director of the Drawing and Painting, Graphic Design, and Media Art

Intensives, and Neal Bennett the Director of the Summer Digital Film-making Camp and the Rutgers Digital Film-making Academy

Subject: Maggie Glynn talks with Christopher Kenniff, the Director of the Mason Gross Extension Division, Barbara Bashaw the Director of the Rutgers Summer Dance Conservatories, Grace Jackson the Assistant Director of the Drawing and Painting, Graphic Design, and Media Art Intensives, and Neal Bennett the Director of the Summer Digital Film-making Camp and the Rutgers Digital Film-making Academy. They discuss how the Mason Gross Extension Division brings the arts year-round to kids, teens, and adults in Central Jersey and the outstanding summer camps that attract students from around the country. Music, acting, dance, visual arts, and digital filmmaking are some of the classes taught by renowned artists at the Mason Gross Extension Division of Rutgers University.

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (5/8/16) (10:45 minutes)

Moderator: Marty Peterson

Guests: Bob Sun, inventor of The 24 Game and First in Math; Jason Wilkes, author of the book, Burn Math Class: And reinvent mathematics for yourself.

Subject: It's no secret: American students are way down the international list when it comes to math scores. Why is this? What makes math so hard for U.S. kids to learn, and how can we help make math easier? Our two guests have answers to both of those questions along with some innovative ideas on how to help kids – and adults – become better at math.

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (6/5/16) (10:52 minutes)

Moderator: Gary Price.

Guests: Andrew Solomon, journalist, author of Far & Away: Reporting from the brink of change – seven continents, twenty-five years.

Subject: When people head out on foreign vacations this summer, many of them take the tried and true path: visit the big monuments, tourist attractions and stay with their tour groups. Our guest has spent many years of his life traveling the world and he suggests that for a better and more memorable trip, you should rub shoulders with the locals in the country you're visiting. We'll hear his thoughts on why it's important to learn about the culture of the country you're visiting; how freedom is interpreted in other countries and how you can help the people you meet better understand America and you.

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (6/19/16) (10:25minutes)

Moderator: Marty Peterson
Guests: Dr. Monique Morris, President and Co-founder of the National Black Women's Justice Institute and author of the book, Pushout: The criminalization of Black girls in schools; Meira Levinson, Professor of Education at the Harvard Graduate School of Education and Co-editor with Jacob Fay of the book, Dilemmas of Educational Ethics: Cases and commentaries.
Subject: Many school-aged children in the U.S. end up in juvenile detention or expelled from school for offenses ranging from arriving late to breaking the dress code to fighting in the hallway. Once "pushed out" from school, these children are often headed down the road to a life of poverty and more serious crimes. A good portion of these kids are African-American girls who, our guest says, are unfairly targeted for discipline because of a misunderstanding of their behavior. We discuss this phenomenon and also talk to a professor who has studied the effect that extremely strict school rules have on the students and the teachers who are made to enforce them.

EMPLOYMENT, BUSINESS AND ECONOMY

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (4/24/16) (11:20 minutes)
Moderator: Gary Price
Guests: Steven J. Harper, retired partner, Kirkland & Ellis, adjunct prof. Northwestern University College of Arts & Sciences and School of Law, author of The Lawyer Bubble: A profession in crisis; Gregg Bertram, Pres. of Pacific ADR Consulting, a mediation and arbitration firm based in Seattle.
Subject: Students graduating from law school are having an increasingly difficult time finding work in their field these days. To make matters worse, many of them are burdened by six-figure student loan debt. For those who do find jobs at law firms, their rise to partner can be a very long and arduous one – if they get there at all. We talk to two legal specialists about what's causing these problems, and what law schools and law firms can do to help alleviate them.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (05/01/16) (11:54 minutes)
Moderator: Reed Pence
Guests: Rob Hosking, Executive Director, Office Team staffing service; Todd Whitthorne, President, ACAP Health; Michael Klachevsky, Practice Consultant for Absence Management, Standard Insurance Co.
Subject: Presenteeism is when people go to work at less than peak efficiency due to illness, injury or distraction. Experts discuss the huge cost to the economy, the chronic illnesses that exact the most cost, and the accommodations that could save businesses billions of dollars.

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (5/1/16) (11:06 minutes)
Moderator: Gary Price
Guests: Chris Walsh, editorial director for the online news source Marijuana Business Daily.

Subject: Marijuana is being legalized for medical use – and in fewer cases recreational use – in states across the country. This is creating new business opportunities for growers, processors, sellers and other entrepreneurs who want to get in on the action. It’s become a multi-billion dollar business and now investors, corporations and Wall Street are looking at how they can gain from the new “cannabusiness” models on the horizon. We talk to a journalist who is researching and watching the economic, regulatory and legal aspects of legalized marijuana to find out just how extensive the industry is now, and how it could grow in the future.

(Viewpoints): Pre-recorded interview, (05/08/16) (10:53 minutes)
Moderator: Gary Price
Guests: Steve Case, co-founder of America Online, investor & entrepreneur, author of The Third Wave: An entrepreneur’s vision of the future.

Subject: Technology has been moving at break-neck speed during the past 30 years, with the invention and adoption of the personal computer and the internet in the first wave, and more sophisticated hardware, software, cell phones and apps in the second wave. Our guest, an internet pioneer himself, discusses the third wave of technology that will take all of these innovations one step further – integrating them into our world in ways that will bring them more fully into our educational systems, healthcare, work and our everyday lives.

HEALTH AND PUBLIC SAFETY

(Jennifer Lewis Hall): Pre-recorded interview, (3/29/16) (30 minutes)
Moderator: Jennifer Lewis Hall
Guests: Janet A. Davis, CEO, Exec. Chef & On-Air Talent - JADE Jamaican Grill
Subject: On this edition of “Life Advice” get ready to spring into the season with fresh fruits and vegetables. It’s all about what’s in season, how you pick them and how you prepare them. Joining me, executive chef extraordinaire Janet Davis of JADE Jamaican Grill

(@Central Jersey with Maggie Glynn): Pre-recorded interview, (04/10/16) (minutes)
Moderator: Maggie Glynn
Guests: Joel Feldman, from the Casey Feldman Memorial Foundation
Subject: For many of us, our cars have become an extension of our homes and offices. We catch up with friends on the cell phone, tweet, and eat a meal, multi-task all while operating a vehicle weighing thousands of pounds. Maggie Glynn talks with Joel Feldman, from the Casey Feldman Memorial Foundation & EndDD.org (End Distracted Driving), about the importance of making driving the only task.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (04/10/16) (11:52 minutes)
Moderator: Reed Pence
Guests: Dr. Yoram Unguru, pediatric hematologist-oncologist, Children's Hospital at Sini, Baltimore, and faculty member, Berman Institute of Bioethics, Johns Hopkins Univ.; Bona Benjamin, Director of Medication Use Quality Improvement, American Society of Health System Pharmacists; Dr. Brian Fitzsimmons, cardiac anesthesiologist, Cleveland Clinic Foundation
Subject: For more than 10 years, hospitals have been plagued by shortages of important drugs, sometimes forcing doctors to decide who will receive them, and who will die. Experts explain why these shortages occur, the unfortunate outcomes, and what they do to try to minimize the damage.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (04/10/16) (8:14 minutes)
Moderator: Nancy Benson
Guests: James Raath, business consultant and author, Love Mondays; Dr. David Friedland, Prof. and Vice Chair, Otolaryngology and Communication Sciences, Medical College of Wisconsin
Subject: Experts discuss symptoms and treatments of Meniere's disease, an often misdiagnosed disorder producing loss of hearing and crippling vertigo.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (04/24/16) (12:38 minutes)
Moderator: Reed Pence
Guests: Guests: Dr. Cindy Otto, Exec. Director, Penn Vet Working Dog Center, Univ. of Pennsylvania; Dr. Gary Beauchamp, Emeritus Director and President, Monell Chemical Senses Center; Dr. Christiaan Mulder, Director, TB program, Apopo
Subject: Diseases apparently have distinctive odors that humans can't detect. Researchers are using dogs, mice, rats and other animals to literally sniff out cancer and other diseases in the laboratory. In the 3rd World, rats are used to diagnose TB. Experts discuss the use of animals to diagnose disease and their efforts to build machines that can do the same thing.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (01/03/16) (7:12 minutes)
Moderator: Nancy Benson
Guests: Dr. Lisa Liberatore, otolaryngologist specializing in sinus and sleep issues, Totum Health, New York.
Subject: Many people confuse allergies, colds, and sinus infections. A physician specializing in these maladies describes the differences, and the new ways sinusitis can be treated.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (05/08/16) (12:10 minutes)
Moderator: Reed Pence
Guests: Dr. Owen Davis, President, American Society for Reproductive Medicine and Prof. of Reproductive Medicine, Weill Medical College, Cornell Univ.; Rachel Lehmann-Haupt, author, In Her Own Sweet Time: Egg Freezing and the New Frontiers of Family; Dr. Marcy Darnovsky, Exec. Director, Center for Genetics and Society; Cali Williams-Yost, CEO & founder, Flex Strategy Group, Work-Life Fit Inc.
Subject: Freezing eggs in their 30's allows women to preserve fertility well into their 40's. The concept was originally meant for women whose fertility was threatened by disease or medical treatment, but today the majority of those having eggs frozen are doing so for social or career reasons. Now egg freezing is even offered as a corporate benefit in some places. Experts discuss the procedure and its uses.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (05/08/16) (7:37 minutes)
Moderator: Nancy Benson
Guests: Dr. Joanne Ruthsatz, Asst. Prof. of Psychology, The Ohio State Univ. and author, The Prodigy's Cousin: The Family Link Between Autism and Extraordinary Talent; Dr. Jennifer Gerdts, Asst. Prof. of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Univ. of Washington and attending psychologist, Seattle Children's Autism Center
Subject: Behavioral similarities between prodigies and some people with autism have long been noted. Now some researchers are beginning to find genetic links between the two phenomena. Experts discuss findings and their implications for autism treatment.

(Radio Health Journal): Pre-recorded interview, (05/15/16) (7:37 minutes)
Moderator: Reed Pence.
Guests: Dr. Jim Withers, Medical Director and Founder, Pittsburgh Mercy Health System Operation Safety Net and the Street Medicine Institute; Dr. Jim O'Connell, President, Boston Healthcare for the Daryl Weber, brand consultant, author of Brand Seduction: How neuroscience can help marketers build memorable brands.

What is it that makes you buy one brand of vodka or soup or ketchup over another? Do you like the way it tastes? Is it a brand that you remember your favorite movie star using? Or is it something else? We talk to a brand expert who has researched the psychology of why we buy what we buy and find out that it's not always a conscious decision, but one that is influenced by our brains, memories, and how we perceive ourselves using a product or service.

Angela Duckworth, Professor of Psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, Scientific Director of the Character Lab, author of the book, Grit: The power of passion and perseverance.

Why is it that some people succeed and others don't? There are many reasons why we follow through on the tasks we begin, but our guest thinks that those who do succeed in the big things in life have something called "grit." We discuss how passion, hope and perseverance all play into the ability for some individuals to keep on course --even when they face hurdles in their lives and their work -- and accomplish great things.

WMGQ (FM) QUARTERLY PROGRAM LIST
2nd Qtr.2016

Guests: Elizabeth Marshall Thomas, author of the book, Dreaming of Lions: My life in the wild places.

Subject: Learning to survive in uncertain times and learning how to treat everyone in our community with respect and equality are lessons we can all benefit from. However, we don't usually think that primitive peoples are the best teachers of these lessons. Our guest would take exception to that. As a young woman, she lived with the old Bushmen of southwestern Africa and discusses how she learned a lot about how to raise children, find food and water, and about how community cooperation and equality of the sexes enabled these people to survive and thrive in a formidable environment.
