46.1	Crime/Law Enforcement	4pm	7/5/2022	1:09	Queen City News at 4pm	South Carolina authorities say there's a scam going around Cherokee County, of people pretending to be with the sheriff's office. Deputies say they received at least five reports of the scam phone calls within the last week. Officials say the caller tells the person on the other line they missed jury duty or have a warrant out for their arrest - and they need to send money so they don't get arrested. The alleged scammer then tells the person to buy pre-loaded debit or gift cards, and give them the card information.
46.1	Elderly	4am	7/6/2022	1:03	Queen City News Now at 4am	The number of COVID outbreaks at North Carolina nursing homes is hitting its highest peak in 2.5 months. The Health Department says there's been 254 outbreaks. That's the most since March, when there were 261. The running total has climbed for three consecutive weeks. The number of outbreaks at residential care and correctional facilities have also hit their highest peaks since March.
46.1	Crime/Law Enforcement	12pm	7/8/2022	1:12	Queen City News at Noon	95% of arrests come from community tips. The Davidson Police Department is conducting watch training for dog owners interested in helping keep their communities safe. Davidson Police Officers say they aren't asking these dog walkers to do their jobs for them, in fact, they don't even want them to confront suspicious people. They just want

Maintenance crews will be doing repairs on the bridge taking Cabarrus Avenue over Irish Buffalo Creek. Construction is expected to last unto the first week of August. Detours will be posted for drivers.
46.1	Women's Issues	7am	7/12/2022	1:34	Queen City News Now at 7am	U.S. Justice Department officials are launching a task force to protect abortion rights. The Reproductive Rights Task Force will monitor and evaluate any state and local legislation seeking to prevent women from traveling to another state for an abortion. The team will also investigate legislations banning FDA approved abortion pills.
46.1	Government (Local)	12pm	7/15/2022	1:59	Queen City News at Noon	North Carolina state leaders are putting a new emphasis on mental health. State health officials are working to find a solution to mental health issues, focusing on why behavioral services are so important.
46.1	Immigration	12pm	7/15/2022	1:00	Queen City News at Noon	North Carolina Governor Roy Cooper is putting the brakes on a bill requiring sheriffs to cooperate with federal immigration and customs agents. The measure would have required sheriffs to learn the immigration status of jail inmates. They would also have faced a mandate to hold people with illegal status for federal immigration agents. GOP lawmakers are outraged Governor Cooper vetoed what they call a 'common sense' bill.

46.1	Health/ Healthcare	8am	7/18/2022	1:04	Queen City News Now at 8am	Officials in Blowing Rock are asking people to boil water before any use in drinking, cooking and personal washing. They say the town, covering parts of Watauga and Caldwell counties is experiencing water and pressure issues. Some people may experience low or 'no' water pressure. Public works crews are trying to repair the water main issue. The boil water advisory will be in place until further notice.
46.1	Government (Local)	7am	7/20/2022	1:41	Queen City News Now at 7am	Right now there are 230 parks and facilities on 21,000 acres of land throughout Mecklenburg County. What used to be buffers of land surrounding parks is now turning into neighborhoods and commercial developments. County Commissioner Laura Meier was one of the votes that led to the county giving the Parks and Recreation Department $50 million. The money is coming from the county's 20-23 budget and must strictly be used to acquire more land for parks, green space and nature preserves. Meier says there is no guideline in place for how much acreage the department buys. Instead, their goal is to add more green space to districts that lack it.
46.1	Crime/Law Enforcement	10pm	7/21/2022	2:13	Queen City News at 10pm	Bailey Parker with the South Carolina Department of Consumer Affairs warns consumers to do their research before investing in crypto currency to help prevent being scammed. South Carolina resident George Harrell lost more than $20,000 after investing in bit coin in what turned out to be a pyramid scheme after being befriended online.

46.1	Business & Industry	6am	7/25/2022	1:26	Queen City News Now at 6am	About 45% of small business owners in the United States are freezing the hiring of new workers because of high labor costs and skyrocketing inflation, according to the Alignable July hiring report. The survey found that 4% of small businesses were planning to lay off staff and that some employers noted that they're learned to live without the extra staff.
46.1	Transportation	12pm	7/28/2022	1:55	Queen City News at Noon	CATS CEO John Lewis told the Metropolitan Transit Committee that currently on average, the system has a daily deficit of 40-50 operators on the transit side. Until more operators are hired, CATS will be reducing service starting 8/15. That means decreasing the frequency buses run on 11 routes. Some other scheduled trips will be eliminated altogether. Lewis said the goal is to increase reliability for riders. CATS is also negotiating with Uber and Lyft to take up the slack when there are services outages. CATS is still working out how much money will be earmarked for that program. And Lewis says riders will be able to use the app to see where buses are located or if they need to get a ride through the CATS app.

46.1	Education	6am	8/4/2022	1:48	Queen City News Now at 6am	The Greenville County school district has a new weapon detections system. District leaders says it's a big step forward in school safety. The new machine, EVOLV, uses an array of cameras and algorithm technology to check for weapons based on weight, shape and density. District leaders say EVOLV is smarter than your average metal detector and it doesn't matter how many students walk through it at once. The district purchased this one for $550 and will have to pay $700k recurrently to operate it. But the district says that's a fair price to pay to keep weapons out. It will rotate around district schools multiple times each day, manned by a dedicated staff and a school resource officer.
46.1	Government (National)	10pm	8/7/2022	1:02	Queen City News at 10pm	The Inflation Reduction Act has been passed by the U.S. Senate and now will go to the House for passage. The Inflation Reduction Act, while less ambitious than President Biden's initial plans, still tackles climate change, lowers the cost of prescription drugs and increases taxes for big corporations. The proposal cleared the upper chamber by a vote of 51 to 50 along party lines. Vice President Harris cast the tie-breaking vote that pushed the bill across the finish line. Democratic leaders says it's a big win for the Biden administration.

46.1	Economy	8am	8/11/2022	1:02	Queen City News Now at 8am	U.S. Labor Department Analysts say the Producer Price Index for July was 9.8%. That's high, but it's down half of a percentage point from the June number. The PPI is a gauge of what manufacturers pay things they buy for goods and services they offer. Analysts say falling fuel and energy prices helped bring the PPI down last month. However, jobless claims are on the rise. The number of people filing for unemployment benefits nationwide was up by 14,000 last week. Weekly jobless claims have gone up for 5 of the last 6 weeks. Those claims are often seen as an early indicator of where the job market is headed.
46.1	Health/Healthcare	5am	8/12/2022	1:14	Queen City News at 5am	CDC leaders have officially ended the recommendations to social distance. They also say school officials do not need to test students and staff regularly, if they were still following that advice at the end of last year. People who come into close contact with COVID-positive people no longer have to quarantine. Health officials with the CDC say 95% of people older than 16 have some form of immunity from COVID, either by vaccination, catching the virus, or both. They say if you do test positive, you should isolate for at least 5 days.
46.1	Government (Local)	6pm	8/14/2022	1:01	Queen City News at 6pm	A South Carolina bill that would be a near ban on abortion is up for a pair of votes this week. 46.1	Housing	4am	8/18/2022	2:00	Queen City News Now at 4am	There are signs on Rodman Street in Chester County that there are plans to rezone the 180-acre land into 2-acre residential housing or at maximum, high density housing. It's one of several locations that are part of a massive development haul of upwards of 4,000 news home in the county. Nearby residents say they are fine with 2-acre home sites but are concerned that the are isn't prepared or suited for high density housing development. County officials held a meeting on Tuesday to hear citizen's concerns and note that Chester County Councilman Mike Vaughn says the council and other boards and groups have been meeting to discuss any worries about infrastructure and cost.

46.1	Minority Issues	8am	8/18/2022	2:46	Queen City News Now at 8am	North Carolina A&T has been on this land for 131 years but now it barely resembles the school it was just 50 years ago. Civil Rights challenges then led to money challenges, as HBCUs were underfunded by state university budgets. The Thurgood Marshall College Fund recently created the HBCU Transformation Fund, a more than $60 million initiative, to help schools fulfill their potential. And with recent recruitment of major employers like Boom Supersonic, Toyota Battery and Apple, all creating major projects here, it's bringing talent from around the country to A&T. A big part of the transformation project is to increase A&T's online programs so people can become Aggies from any corner of the earth.
46.1	Community	6am	8/22/2022	1:00	Queen City News Now at 6am	Dates have been announced for one of Charlotte's most popular festivals. The 58th annual Festival in the Park is set for September 16th through the 18th at Freedom Park. The free event usually brings in thousands of people every year. There will be food, entertainment and local vendors.

46.1	Government (National)	7am	8/26/2022	2:52	Queen City News at 7am	An analysis done by the National Tax Payers Union says taxes aren't going to immediately go up because of this policy, but someone is going to have to eventually foot this bill. And Andrew Lautz, NUT's Director of Federal Policy, believes it's going to be the taxpayers. President Biden's plan, which was issued by an Executive Order, will cancel up to $10,000 of federal student loans for borrowers earning less than $125k a year, and will cancel up to $20,000 for Pell Grant recipients. The Biden administration hasn't explicitly said where the money is coming from to pay for all of this, but some experts speculate it would eventually be paid for by the planned savings in the Inflation Reduction Act. But Lautz says the numbers just don't add up. Dr. Michael Walden, an economist from North Carolina State University, is more concerned about the short term impacts Biden's plan will have on the economy.
46.1	Transportation	4am	8/30/2022	1:01	Queen City News at 4am	Road work will close part of Interstate 85 starting tonight in Cleveland County. Crews are making improvements to the interchange at the Catawba Two Kings Casino. A section of I-85 North will close at 9pm tonight until 6am tomorrow morning. That work will happen every night through 9/1. Work on I-85 South will start on 9/6. Detours will be in place.

46.1	Consumer Issues	12pm	9/1/2022	2:05	Queen City News at Noon	Stella Grant, a former Lyft driver, is suing Lyft after being assaulted by a passenger. She is one of 17 drivers and passengers, survivors of physical and sexual assault, now suing the ride share giant and sharing their stories. Their attorneys say Lyft has failed to protect people who use the app. And they want the company to heighten security. Lyft says more than 99% of rides end without any safety report. Every driver goes through rigorous screening and background checks every year. And violence and harassment aren't tolerated on the platform.
46.1	Employment	5pm	9/8/2022	1:05	Queen City News at 5pm	UPS is preparing for a busy holiday season. The company is looking to hire 100,000 seasonal workers in the coming months. The shipping giant is using a new online process to hire. It doesn't interview and offers jobs for most roles in as little as 25 minutes. Full-time and part-time roles include delivery drivers, package handlers and delivery helper roles.

46.1	Education	5pm	9/15/2022	1:57	Queen City News at 5pm	1,000 desks are still empty in the Winston-Salem Forsyth County school district and leaders think the entire community should be involved to solve the problem. Teach Tech U is partnering with the district to help devote more time and effort to find the missing students using investigative tools, district rosters, and GIS mapping. They'll be going door to door, to neighborhoods and churches letting the community know who is missing and how they can help. Teach Tech U will also work with the district to get families connected with extra resources if they're worried about finances or mental health. Educators say a high school degree is the key to success and for younger students, even just a few day absent can make a big difference.
46.1	Consumer Issues	5pm	9/19/2022	1:00	Queen City News at 5pm	Nissan is recalling thousands of pickup trucks because they could roll away even if shifted into park. The recall covers the Nissan Titan and Frontier for the model years 2020-2023. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says a transmission parking device may not engage when the trucks are put in park. Owners of the recalled pickup trucks should use their parking brake whenever they park.
46.1	Economy	7am	9/22/2022	1:21	Queen City News Now at 7am	The Federal Reserve is raising interest rates sharply once again. The latest increase is three-quarters of a percentage point. Interest rates are now at the highest level in 14 years and it may not stop there. Chairman Jerome Powell says the Fed will do whatever it takes to bring down inflation.

46.1	Business & Industry	9am	9/23/2022	2:00	Queen City News Now at 9am	FedEx leaders say they will be raising rates nearly 7% on most services, starting in January. The hikes come as FedEx is experiencing global slowdowns in business. Overseas cargo shipping struggles contributed to business losses. Company executives say profits plunged about 20% during first quarter earnings reports. The company has already undertaken other business changes, such as suspending Sunday deliveries and closing some shops and corporate offices.
46.1	Consumer Issues	5am	9/26/2022	1:21	Queen City News Now at 5am	Advocates now want President Biden to forgive medical debt. Experts say America's medical debt problem has parallels to the student loan debt crisis. They say both are financially debilitating, putting people at risk of not being able to afford rent and food. The medical debt load in the U.S. currently totals around $159 billion, according to the Kaiser Family Foundation.
46.1	Environment	5pm	9/28/2022	1:00	Queen City News at 5pm	Many area residents remember just 3 years ago when Duke Energy had to release water and the homes on Riverside Drive flooded. Many of them since then have either been bought out by the county or raised above the 100-year flood level. Duke Energy says they've been moving water through their river basins to lower the lake levels now, before the remnants of Hurricane Ian hit the Charlotte area. Storm water services has crews checking on those named creeks, but they can't get to everything. They're asking people to call 3-1-1 if they need any help with storm debris.

46.1	Consumer Issues	9am	9/30/2022	1:23	Queen City News Now at 9am	Consumers are giving a warning to people who are preparing a generator for this storm. People planning to use a generator in case their power goes out need to be sure that the device is properly set up. They should only be used if they are approved by a licensed electrician or utility provider. People unable to get that approval should instead use a portable generator and make sure it's properly grounded.
