Dear WHAW -

Would you please let your listeners know about our contests? We'd like to have as many young WV pickers as possible - not only to compete but for the chance to jam with some top drawer musicians.

This set of contests - plus "World Class Jams" - is a part of the Pocahontas County Bicentennial celebration and takes place during the annual Pioneer Days. in Marlinton.

There'll be lots of old time and bluegrass music happening all day long, with a variety of jams complementing the contests, plus a free outdoor concert that evening.

I'm attaching some info. Contact Ryan Krofcheck Ryan@pocahontasoperahouse.org 304-552-3446 or me if you'd like more detail. The first page of the press release is a stand-alone; t

Dear Steve --

The Walking Miracles Family Foundation wishes to thank you for your kindness and hospitality in profiling our organization this week on WHAW / WOTR / WVRW.

The storytelling format of "Swap Shop," your stations' reach across central West Virginia, and your welcoming, inquisitive interviewing manner is ideal for helping spread the word about how Walking Miracles helps West Virginia families affected by childhood, teenage, and young adult cancer.

Again, thank you for your time and generosity. Hope we'll talk again soon, Steve.

Sincerely,

Brett Wilson, Founder and CEO

Dear WHAW --

Brett Wilson, the founder of West Virginia-based Walking Miracles and a two-time childhood cancer survivor, will be in the Weston area on Wednesday (5/25) as part of a statewide outreach effort promoting the non-profit's many no-cost benefits to childhood cancer victims and their families.

Question: Would the WHAW be able to speak briefly with Brett about how Walking Miracles helps local and state families experiencing childhood cancer? See details in the news release below and attached, as well in the video below.

Please know I can arrange an interview at your convenience. Much thanks.
