329th Reserve Unit Returns

70 members of the 329th Medical Unit return to Erie after a year in Kuwait. In this time of war around the world and the price of freedom, there's always great interest in troops that return home safely following deployment. We were there when the buses rolled home carrying the reservists back to their families and the celebration of their service to the US. We also covered a local billboard company that posted a welcome home billboard for the 329th.

The Saga of Ebert Beeman

Erie County Councilman Ebert Beeman is facing a variety of legal situations. Local authorities have charged him with driving repeatedly without a drivers license and sentenced him to prison. Federal officials have filed tax charges against him, claiming he owes the federal government over $2million dollars. And his fellow elected officials are calling for him to step aside and resign his office. But he refuses.

Toddler Drowns in Pond

20 month old Cooper Bess, wanders away from his home and the watchful eye of a baby sitter. The toddler finds his way to a nearby pond, slips beneath the water and drowns. His death came days later at a Pittsburgh hospital. The tragedy spawned an investigation into the death, and public interest in the case, since a similar tragedy involving a wandering toddler and a sleeping babysitter occurred several years earlier. Our coverage included the incident, the baby's death, funeral, and the investigation into whether any charges would result. There were none.

Penn State Sandusky/Paterno Scandal

Authorities indicted and arrested long time Penn State University assistant football coach Jerry Sandusky for allegedly abusing young boys many years ago while coaching. The arrest and resulting scandal led to the firing of PSU head coach Joe Paterno, the athletic director, and a university VP. It was a nationwide scandal that rocked the world of college football and legends like Paterno. Our coverage included the latest news out of PSU, the investigation, and local reaction on the Penn State Erie campus.

Lord Corporation Moves to Bush Industries

Lord is a major industry in Erie, employing thousands of people. It was considering a move out of Erie to accommodate it's need to grow. A major effort was made to entice the company to stay local. And it worked. Thousands of jobs saved and hundreds more may be on the way. Lord Corp announced it will purchase the nearly empty Bush Industries property to accommodate it's growth. And in a surprise development the Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine announced it would purchase the soon to empty Lord corporate property to accommodate its future growth.

Occupy Erie

In the wake of the Occupy Wall Street protestors in NYC, a contingent of protestors set up camp in Perry Square in downtown Erie. They were always peaceful, however, had a few run ins with city officials and police in regards to their camping in the park. Our coverage include efforts to explain who the protestors are, what they are protesting, what their plans are, what the city expects to do with them, and events as they happening including more vocal demonstrations, and their tents being dismantled and the people being moved from Perry Square.

Bus Stop Fatal Crash

13 year old Ashley Clark was killed as she crossed a highway to board a public school bus early in the morning on Rt 97 in Summit Twp. Another student was injured. Both were hit by a motorist who apparently failed to stop for the stopped school bus. Our coverage included the accident, reaction to it, a candle light vigil, fundraisers for the family, and the police investigation. To date, no charges have been filed in the fatal accident.
