QUARTERLY ISSUES AND PROGRAMS LIST

First Quarter 2022 (January, February, March)

Film School with Mike Kaspar

Duration: 60 minutes

Fridays from 9:00 am to 10:00 am

March 1, 2022: Iuli Gerbase's eerily prescient debut feature film, THE PINK CLOUD, drops us into a time where life changes for people all over the world when a toxic and mysterious pink cloud has appeared, forcing the world indoors immediately and indefinitely. Director and writer Iuli Gerbase joins us to talk about the inspiration for the film, creating a palpable sense of enveloping dread in the look of the film and creating a claustrophobic space for Giovanna and Yago to experience love, death, sex, boredom, parenting, contempt, indifference, and grudging respect.

February 25, 2022: TED K immerses us into the addled world of Ted Kaczynski, living a life of almost complete seclusion in a simple wooden cabin in the mountains of Montana. But then this former university professor, who despises modern society and its faith in technology, becomes radicalized. Director, writer, producer and editor Tony Stone joins us for a conversation on what attracted him to telling this story from the Unabomber's point-of-view, filming on the property where Kaczynski's infamous cabin once stood and the importance of Sharlto Copley brilliantly blending together Kaczynski's self deluding righteousness with the arbitrary ruthlessness he directed at his hapless victims.

February 18, 2022: HELP is the riveting story of a struggling young woman, Sarah, played by Jodie Comer (Killing Eve), who is smart, but has never fit in, not in education and not in work. Director Marc Munden stops by to talk about working with the HELP writer Jack Thorne on this and other projects, enlisting a superb cast of gifted actors, led by Jodie Comer, Stephen Graham, Ian Hart and Cathy Tyson, to tell a timely and timeless story of compassion and finding the courage to face down the deadly chaos of an unfathomable pandemic and institutional neglect.
