Quarter 2-2017

KTXN-FM

City of Victoria-The Victoria Report

Sunday 6:30am

April 2017 (30:00)

City of Victoria Director of Environmental Services Darryl Lesak was in to talk about the city's recycling program. He was responding to feedback the city has received about the requirements, restrictions and costs of the program. Slowly but surely more residents are using the service. (15:00)

Lt. John Turner of the Victoria Police Department was back to address the issue of pedestrian safety. In light of recent injuries and fatalities that have occurred on some city streets, Lt. Turner reminded people of their share of responsibility avoiding accidents. He also reminded drivers that they need to use extreme caution when traveling Victoria's streets, especially in higher pedestrian areas. (15:00)

May 2017 (30:00)

Diane Dohm of the Victoria Planning Commission was in to inform residents of projects planned for Navarro Street and Houston Highway to install sidewalks and crosswalks to improve pedestrian safety. Both of these streets are very high traffic areas and have had accidents that injured or killed pedestrians. (15:00)

Elizabeth Newcayer of the Museum of the Coastal Bend was in to inform listeners about new exhibits at the museum. The museum showcases the rich cultural heritage of the Texas mid-coast region, collecting and preserving and educating visitors about the area's history. (15:00)

June 2017 (30:00)

Diane Dohm of the Victoria Planning Commission was in to inform listeners about new signal and pedestrian crossings on Navarro Street, one of the most heavily-traveled streets, and one of the most dangerous for pedestrians. (15:00)

Joel Novosad of the Victoria Convention and Visitors Bureau talked about the Texas History Trail planned for the summer. This award-winning heritage tourism initiative encourages partnerships with communities to promote the state's historic and cultural resources. (15:00)
