Issues of Interest:

Political Scandals
Ethics Reform in Gov't
Economy
Education
Crime

Issue	Program/Title	Description	Date	Time	Duration
Ethics Reforms in Govt. Education	Capital Connections	Ken Lovett, Albany Bureau Chief for the New York Daily News , reviewed some of the proposed ethics reforms for state government. He pointed out that the biggest problem is the amount of money coming into Albany for lobbying, and another concern is how campaign money is spent. He also discussed the rocky relationship the governor has with the teachers unions over teacher evaluations and charter schools.	04/05/2015	7am	30 mins.
Ethics Reforms in Govt.	Capital Connections	Blair Horner, Legislative Director for the New York Public Interest Research Group (NYPIRG), discussed the new ethics reform proposals which would require more disclosure of outside income for state politicians, instead of limits on that income. He talked about the need to curb politicians from using their positions for their own gain.	04/12/2015	7am	30 mins.
Politics and Govt Political Scandals	Capital Connections	Casey Seiler, State Editor and Capital Bureau Chief for the Albany Times Union , reviewed the new biography of Gov. Andrew Cuomo and talked about whether it's a true reflection of the governor's career and accomplishments. Seiler also discussed the allegations surrounding various state legislative leaders and how the alleged scandals are affecting governance.	04/19/2015	7am	30 mins.
Political Scandals Economy	Capital Connections	E.J. MacMahon, president of the Empire Center for Public Policy, discussed how the state legislature can be made to be accountable and effective, and whether anything will improve in the light of recent political scandals. He also commented on the push to raise the minimum wage to $15 per hour, questioning whether it should be a statewide standard or a localized law (such as for New York City as opposed to upstate New York where the cost of living is different).	04/26/2015	7am	30 mins.
Education Railway Safety	Capital Connections	Karen Scharff, co-chair of the Working Families Party and executive director of Citizens Action, discussed how the state legislature is directing some education funding to private charter schools instead of public school districts. She criticized the state's education reform program, citing the number of people who opted out of state tests. She also advocated limiting the number of trains which carry petroleum into and through the state; she called them "bomb trains."	05/03/2015	7am	30 mins.

Education	iHeart Radio's Special Programming to Thank Teachers	In this special half-hour to recognize and thank teachers, iHeart Radio spotlighted those who went above and beyond their normal duties.	05/10/2015	7am	30 mins.
Political Scandals	Capital Connections	Ken Lovett, Albany Bureau Chief for the New York Daily News , talked about the new State Senate Majority Leader, John Flanagan of Long Island. Flanagan was selected to replace Dean Skelos, who quit because of corruption charges. The discussion centered around Flanagan's background, his relationship to the former majority leader and how all of that might impact his leadership.	5/17/2015	7am	30 mins.
Economy	Capital Connections	Ed Cox, chairperson of the New York State Republican Party, reacted to an audit of StartUp New York , which is an incentive in which new businesses housed in a facility linked to or owned by a college or university would be given tax breaks. Cox pointed out that, according to the audit, $250 million in ads only produced 86 jobs, which he regarded as a poor return on investment.	5/24/2015	7am	30 mins.
Political Scandals	Capital Connections	Robert Freeman, Executive Director of the New York State Committee on Open Government, described how the Open Meetings Law works, saying it pertains to meetings of public bodies when there's a quorum present. He also talked about how he has fought for the release of data and audio over the years via the Freedom of Information Law on behalf of the public, the media, and other state government agencies.	5/31/2015	7am	30 mins.
Political Scandals	Capital Connections	Ken Lovett, Albany Bureau Chief for the New York Daily News , discussed the scandal involving the head of the New York Racing Association, who allegedly contributed large sums to state government leaders in exchange for the position. Lovett also talked about the rocky relationship between the governor and the state attorney general over investigations into various allegations of corruption in Albany. Lovett further described the rent regulations (rent control) being debated in the state legislature.	06/07/2015	7am	30 mins.
Ethics Reforms in NYS Govt.	Capital Connections	New York State Assembly Minority Leader Brian Kolb of Canandaigua discussed a proposed bill which would forfeit the pensions of public employees and politicians convicted of crimes. He talked about the difficulty school districts have in preparing budgets when about 80% of the costs are for	06/14/2015	7am	30 mins.
Education

Crime		personnel, leaving the other 20% subject to cuts. He also pointed out the necessity to review the security and security procedures of the state's prisons in light of the two convicted murderers who escaped from a maximum security facility.
Crime	Capital Connections	Ken Lovett, Albany Bureau Chief for the New York Daily News , highlighted the contents of a proposed sexual assault bill in the state legislature which aims to combat sexual assaults on college campuses, creates a bill of rights for students, and includes an appeal process for those accused. He gave an update on the search for the two convicted murderers who had escaped from a maximum security prison in upstate New York, and he talked about the investigation into how the prisoners escaped.	06/21/2015	7am	30 mins.
Economy	Capital Connections	New York State Comptroller Tom Dinapoli described how his office conducts audits of government entities and then recommends changes in procedures and fiscal matters when necessary. He pointed out that his office is investigating various economic development programs around the state to determine whether the taxpayers are getting a good return on their investment.	06/28/2015	7am	30 mins.
