

OUT OF THE BLOCKS, JAMES' BLOCK, AN OUTLIER

JUN 8, 2020

This episode is about a virtual block that makes up the current world of one fascinating and unusual young man. His name is James Burrows. He's a musical genius, and he's autistic. This week, he's graduating from high school in the midst of a pandemic. What might James be able to teach us about living harmoniously in the social isolation of this moment?

OUT OF THE BLOCKS, LEXINGTON MARKET PART 3, ON A HUMBLE

MAY 8, 2020

Well, this long-overdue episode wasn't originally intended to be an audio time-capsule, but, you know... life. Here's a final look back at a venerable city market that's now temporarily closed to the public, and partly demolished.
