TOPIC OF THIS SHOW: Yuma Proving
Grounds 75th Anniversary

ISSUE: #12 - Military, #1 - Recreation

Guest: Mark Bassett

YPG is planning an open house in honor of the proving ground's 75th anniversary on February 3rd, 2018, between 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The event will feature static displays, food, live music, a car show, and fireworks. YPG expects a large attendance from the general public, possibly numbering between 15 and 20 thousand. Bus service will be available through YCAT. The Army has been a vital part of Yuma history since 1850, when the Army built a fort overlooking the Colorado River. YPG's beginnings began in the World War II period and the proving ground has proven more and more valuable since that time. Today, YPG makes up 20 percent of Yuma County. YPG is Yuma County's number one single employer of civilians.

TOPIC: AZ Children Association.

ISSUE: #7 Community Service Organizations

Guest: Cori Rico

Cori Rico joined Cody Beeson in studio to discuss the need for more foster homes for teenagers in Yuma. Arizona's Children Association started as an orphanage over 100 years ago and today still work in that area. The need for more foster homes is a real need in Yuma AZ as ACA is trying to keep the teenagers in Yuma County so they can grow up and maintain the life they know today. It can be counterproductive to remove a teenager from the life they know only to place them in a new environment and force the teen to start a new life over in a new place. The local office for Arizona's Children Association is currently accepting applications for foster parents. Please call 928-217-1035 for more information.

Show # 2018-01

Date aired: 1/6/18 Time Aired: 6:30AM

John Huber, PhD, Clinical Forensic Psychologist, Chairman of Mainstream Mental Health, a non-profit organization that treats mental health issues

Dr. Huber discussed research that has found that nearly half of teens who log at least five hours of screen time a day have thought about or attempted suicide. He discussed that concern and other mental health risks that result from too much time online. He offered advice for parents who would like to monitor and limit their teens' social media and screen time.

Issues covered:

Length: 8:24

Suicide
Parenting
Mental Health

Alex Michael, personal finance expert, co-founder of the blog TheThriftyCouple.com, co-author of "The 2% Rule to Get Debt Free Fast"

Mr. Michael explained how he and his wife managed to eliminate more than $100,000 in consumer debt with a few years. He offered suggestions on how to make cuts in family budgets and how find opportunities to increase monthly income.

Issues covered:

Length: 8:33

Personal Finance
Entrepreneurship

Erin McCauley, doctoral candidate in policy analysis and management, Cornell University

Ms. McCauley was the lead author of a study that found that people with disabilities are more likely to be arrested. She said people with disabilities in the study – including emotional, physical, cognitive or sensory disabilities – were nearly 44 percent more likely to be arrested by age 28. She also noted that there was a clear racial component: black men with disabilities in the study were at a particularly high risk of arrest. She believes the problem should be addressed by community members and local institutions, such as police.

Issues covered:

Length: 5:02

Disabilities
Crime
Minority Concerns

Show # 2018-02

Date aired: 1/13/18 Time Aired: 6:30AM

Annie Grace, author of "This Naked Mind: Control Alcohol, Find Freedom, Discover Happiness & Change Your Life"

Many people question whether drinking has become too big a part of their lives, and worry that it may even be affecting their health. Ms. Grace shared her personal struggles with alcohol addiction and how she quit. She debunked myths connected to social drinking. She also discussed societal pressures, psychological factors, and other reasons people drink.

Issues covered:
Substance Abuse
Mental Health

Length: 8:25

John Brown Miller, PhD, global expert on public infrastructure, former Professor of Construction Management and Civil And Environmental Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Dr. Brown discussed why government costs so much and why public infrastructure projects are frequently delayed or over budget. He offered examples to illustrate how other countries' public works projects are often completed in more cost-effective and efficient ways than in the U.S.

Issues covered:
Public Infrastructure
Government Spending

Length: 8:50

Jodie Plumert, PhD, Professor and Starch Faculty Fellow at the University of Iowa

For adults, crossing the street by foot seems easy. Dr. Plumert led a study that found that most kids' perceptual judgment and motor skills aren't developed enough to safely cross a street until age 14. She discussed the precautions that parents should take for younger children.

Issues covered:
Traffic Safety
Child Safety

Length: 4:54

Show # 2018-03

Date aired: 1/20/18 Time Aired: 6:30AM

Susan Robinson, Senior Public Affairs Director of Waste Management

Ms. Robinson outlined the biggest myths surrounding recycling. She talked about the most common items that consumers place in recycling bins that don't belong there, and what items should be recycled that often are not. She also discussed whether communities lose money on recycling programs.

Issues covered:
Recycling
Environment
Government Programs

Length: 9:29

Cheryl Richardson, motivational speaker and life coach, author of "Waking Up in Winter: In Search of What Really Matters at Midlife"

Ms. Richardson discussed thought-provoking questions about what matters at mid-life. She shared her personal story of being dissatisfied with a successful career once she reached her fifties. She talked about the value of journaling and how it helped her reexamine everything – her marriage, her work, her friendships, and her priorities.

Issues covered:
Aging
Mental Health

Length: 7:37

Maria Fitzpatrick, PhD, Associate Professor in the Department of Policy and Management at Cornell University, Research Associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research

About a third of all Americans retire and start claiming Social Security when they turn 62. Dr. Fitzpatrick co-authored a study that found that men who retire at 62 experience a 20 percent higher likelihood of early death, compared to those who delay retirement. She talked about the possible factors behind this phenomenon and what retirees can do to stay physically and mentally healthy.

Show # 2018-04

Date aired: 1/27/18 Time Aired: 6:30AM

Deirdre Maloney, author of "Bogus Balance: Your Journey to Real Work/Life Bliss"

These days, nearly everyone struggles to balance their work and home lives. Ms. Maloney said that no one can achieve a perfect balance. She said it is possible to find real balance and satisfaction by setting priorities and accepting that you can't have it all. She explained why it is important to analyze your own values and priorities on a regular basis.

Issues covered:
Career
Parenting
Mental Health

Length: 9:28

Doug Whiteman, Insurance Analyst at Bankrate.com

37% of Americans with children under age 18 do not have any life insurance, according to a new Bankrate.com study. And about one-third of the parents who do have life insurance have no more than $100,000 of protection. Mr. Whiteman explained why this is such a great concern. He also offered suggestions on how to shop for life insurance and how to determine how much coverage is necessary.

Issues covered:
Personal Finance
Parenting

Length: 7:46

Richard Johnson, PhD, Senior Fellow at the Urban Institute, an independent non-partisan organization that evaluates social and economic issues

Dr. Johnson studied Americans who change careers after age 50. He found that most take pay cuts and accept lesser health benefits, but are still happier in their new jobs. He explained why these workers decide to switch careers, and offered advice for older job hunters.

Joanne Lipman, former Chief Content Officer of Gannett and Editor-in-Chief of USA Today, author of "That's What She Said: What Men Need to Know (and Women Need to Tell Them) About Working Together"

Ms. Lipman discussed the current state of the gender gap in today's workplaces. She said that traditional corporate "diversity training" has actually made the problem worse—in part because it makes men feel demonized. She believes that the solution to workplace inequality and sexual harassment lies in reaching across the gender divide so that men become allies, rather than adversaries.
