Issues

KAKQ-FM provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- 2014 Arctic Winter Games: Karen Lane talked about the games being held in Fairbanks in March and about who can participate and the need for volunteers, where the competitors will be staying, plus the history of the games.
- Child Welfare: Susan Kessler talked about building healthy relationships between children and adults, child welfare programs regarding foster care, and general needs of children at risk.
- Child Welfare/Education: Mike Kolasa, Literacy Council, discussed the Spring Book Drive for the Literacy Council of Alaska and also detailed programs for children and adults.
- Economy: Roxie Rogers Dinstel, Cooperative Extension, talked about New Year's resolutions regarding household finances, nutrition issues and household budgeting.
- Education: Tiffany Deruyter, Program Manager for A.S.R.A., Sarah Elbert with Violent Volcanoes, and Don Larson with Critterology. They discussed A.S.R.A. (Alaska Summer Research Academy) and its programs, specifically two: Violent Volcanoes and Critterology and what happens in them, who it's for and the deadline for enrollment.
- Public Safety/Health: Art Nash, Cooperative Extension Service energy specialist, gave three radon presentations in January, which is National Radon Action Month. Radon, a colorless, odorless gas, is the second-leading cause of lung cancer in the U.S. It has been detected in a number of Fairbanks homes at levels the Environmental Protection Agency considers unsafe. He talked about where radon comes from, how to detect it and how to take care of it, if found.
- Rescue Mission Services: Rodney Gaskins, Exec. Director of Fairbanks Rescue Mission, talked about the services available for the poor, veterans and inebriates. He also talked about the Pick, Click, Give program for non-profits.
