

Issues-Program List, July - September, 2016

Clean Power Plan and its effect on North Dakota -- 7/6/16, Amy Sisk reporting. Time: 2:30

Education Standards under "Every Student Succeeds Act" -- 7/22/16 Dave Thompson reporting Time:1:40 and 7/28/16 Dave Thompson reporting Time: 1:50

Housing needs for Native Americans and Refugees -- 8/2/16 Amy Sisk reporting Time: 1:50 and 8/4/16 John Corley reporting Time: 6:40

Dakota Access Pipeline protests -- ongoing coverage, reported by Amy Sisk, John Corley and Dave Thompson

Laid off oil workers slowly going back to work -- 7/22/16 Amy Sisk reporting Time 4:15

July 13 3:06 pm Entire show (except DD)-- A discussion of the FM Flood Diversion project with Darrell Vanyo, diversion authority chair; and Nathan Berseth, Richland County commissioner and spokesperson for the Richland-Wilkin Joint Powers Authority, which is opposed to the diversion.

July 16 3:06 pm 18:30 -- UND is launching a North Dakota chapter of the Veterans Entrepreneurship Program. It offers experiential training in entrepreneurship and small business management for the nation's veterans. It's compared to a military boot camp – intense, rigorous and challenging. Here to tell us more is Tyler Okerlund at UND's Center for Innovation.

August 24 3:06 pm 14:00 -- A judge is expected to rule soon on a court hearing blocking construction of the Dakota Access Pipeline hearing. Linda Black Elk is an ethnobotanist, restoration ecologist, and instructor at Sitting Bull College in Fort Yates, North Dakota. She's been fighting the pipeline, which protestors say threatens the water supply of the Standing Rock Reservation. ~~~