CONSUMER AWARENESS

Great Day, Jun 16, 2023, 7:06 a.m., 01:14, Local: A recent survey on the historic Tulare Lake is offering surrounding communities' new insight into the future of water infrastructure in Kings County. The sheriff's office reports the water will eventually dry up again, but the water is being used now to refill water aquifers used for farming and irrigation. The county recently issued an emergency health order urging people to stay out of the lake because it could be contaminated with chemicals.

Ten O'clock News, Jun 27, 2023, 10:06 p.m., 00:33, Local: Yosemite Nation Park is opening Glacier Point road July first. The road has been closed since 2021. The road gives access to one of the most beloved and visited sections of the park. Its closure has left many disappointed and could have possibly cost surrounding communities tourism money. Now that the road is reopening, more visitors are expected to make their way to the park, potentially bringing in money to towns close to the park. Our coverage lets people know the road is reopening.

Great Day, May 31, 2023, 7:17 a.m., 00:18, Local: The deadline to apply for federal assistance for flood recovery is quickly approaching. The last day to sign up is on June 5th. Aid is available for people in Madera, Mariposa, Tulare and Kern counties. Families and business owners are encouraged to visit disasterassistance.gov, download the FEMA app or reach out to FEMA's help line to apply.

This program. is designed to help health centers that are either struggling or have already gone under. this story applies to our market because a town in our viewing area went under last year. Officials with that hospital can apply to receive money that would potentially revive its services. If this hospital returns, many people will no longer have to travel great distances just to receive basic medical care.

Great Day, May 16, 2023, 7:08 a.m., 01:05, Local: A man is now voicing concerns about the Four Seasons Chinese restaurant in Clovis after spotting a rat on a chandelier. He reported the restaurant to the health department because he's concerned for other customers. A representative with Fresno County says the restaurant is up to date on its operating permit and fees. They add there are no plans to inspect the restaurant currently.

Ten O'clock News, Jun 26, 2023, 10:11 p.m., 00:24, Local: A rat was caught on camera scurrying around a local mall. The mall's ownership tells us the rat did not get into any of the restaurants and was confined to the seating area. This video did well on our social platforms, and calls into the question the health and safety of the mall's food court. Many of our viewers will care about this story because a disease-ridden rodent was spotted in a popular dining area.

POLOTICS

Ten O'clock News, Jun 9, 2023, 10:14 p.m., 02:51, Local: The story is an update on Former President Trump's charges, and what this means for his presidential campaign. This is follow-up to previous coverage on Trump. The former president has many followers here in the central valley. Our coverage lets viewers know about his latest legal troubles, and whether these recent issues will disqualify him from running for president in 2024.

Ten O'clock News, May 10, 2023, 10:12 p.m., 02:27, Local: Title 42 is set to expire tomorrow, and the Biden administration makes last minute border moves. This comes as the president faces criticism from both Republicans and Democrats with a potential massive surge of migrants trying to cross the southern border. This is important to our viewers as California is a state that is home to the southern border, and a state that has seen border changes since Former President Trump to office. It's also a follow up to what's been happening over the past couple of years and what is happening now and what we could expect to see in the future.

Ten O'clock News, Apr 8, 2023, 10:13 p.m., 02:08, Local: Parents continue to push back against school districts for talking to students about gender identity without parents' permission. It's a continuation of our crisis in the classroom coverage, as it's not only happening in Fresno but nationwide too. It's relevant to our market because it's a hot topic and some states are changing their education standards because of this so it's good to see what's happening nationwide cause California let alone the central valley may as well be the next school to make a major change.

Ten O'clock News, Apr 11, 2023, 10:06 p.m., 02:22, Local: The city of Fresno voted to change the name of Kings Canyon Boulevard, which is a major road, to Cesar Chavez Boulevard. Chavez is a beloved civil rights leader who is known for his activism in the region. Many thought changing the road would be an appropriate way to honor his contributions. Others we spoke to say this naming will cost them money. This change drew a lot of controversy. Our coverage lets people know a major road's name is being changed, and that if they live on the road, their address is being altered.

Ten O'clock News, Apr 22, 2023, 10:02 p.m., 02:43, Local: Abortion The widely used abortion drug, Mifepristone, remains available to women in the U.S., following a ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court but the drug could ultimately be taken away again. This is important to our viewers as we have females in our audience that this could potentially impact, given whether women are pro-life or pro-choice. This is relevant to our market because certain states allow abortion while others don't. California is one that does allow it but if they take the pill away what does that mean for the state, so the topic is still hot.

Great Day, Apr 28, 2023, 7:06 a.m., 01:43, Local: The California assembly's public safety committee is now rejecting two fentanyl bills aimed at beefing up punishment for fentanyl dealers. Democrats on the committee argue the bills go beyond those who sell the drug and could punish people who struggle with substance abuse or those who give the pill to a friend without knowing it contains fentanyl. Republican assemblymember Jim Patterson argues it will lead to a lack of real consequences for drug dealers.

Ten O'clock News, May 11, 2023, 10:05 p.m., 00:24, Local: The U.S. House of Representatives voted on a border bill on the same day Title 42 is set to expire. We reported how local representatives voted on the legislation. The one Democrat voted 'no'. Two of the three Republicans voted 'yes'. One Republican from our area voted against the bill. He was only of only two Republicans not to support the legislation. This story localized a national story. Our coverage lets people know how their representatives are voting on their behalf.
