CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	7/11/2016	6 a.m.	:30	A recent study suggests pregnant women who receive flu shots pass that protection along to their babies. But only for a few weeks after birth. The study was funded by the gates foundation and conducted in South Africa. It found the flu vaccine to be about 86-percent effective for eight weeks. But the vaccine's effect dropped sharply between eight and 24 weeks of age. The study's lead author said it's important to find a vaccine that works in babies. Currently no flu vaccine is approved for infants under six months.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	7/14/2016	6 a.m.	:30	For the parents of young children, it often feels like an uphill battle at the end of each day - bedtime. And while your youngsters may want to drag out the ritual, delaying their retreat to sleep for as long as possible, a new study may have handed parents a new weapon. For, new research suggests that preschoolers who are regularly tucked up in bed before 8pm are far less likely to become obese as teenagers. Such is the gravity of the evidence, that delaying the ascent upstairs by just an hour to after 9pm, could double a child's chances of becoming obese.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	7/26/2016	6 a.m.	:30	A popular brand of video baby monitors is being recalled to a burn risk. The recall involves lorex care-and-share video baby monitors. Lorex says the video monitor's blue lithium polymer batteries can overheat, swell and expand, causing the battery cover to pop off. There have been nearly 500 reports of the batteries overheating and expanding. No injuries have been reported, but the batteries can be a burn hazard. The recall targets about 26-thousand baby monitors sold in the u-s. Anyone who has a recalled monitor should stop using it and contact lorex for a full refund.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	8/12/2016	6 a.m.	:25	Study finds kids and teens have poor heart health. Staying active and eating a well-balanced diet are ways to prevent the risk of heart disease. However, a new study found that children and teens are doing their part. An American Heart Association report found far too few children and teens are taking certain healthy habits or steps to keep their ticker healthy. In fact, the study found that the behaviors about food and physical activeness are even worse than previously reported. More than half of children fail to get 60 minutes of recommended physical activity. In teens, the numbers are worse, with only five in 10 percent getting in that minimum activity time. When it comes to eating, the statistics can be alarming. Nine in 10 children and teens are not eating well-balanced diets.

CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	8/15/2016	6 a.m.	:27	A study involving videos of slumbering infants found the vast majority of parents placed babies in unsafe sleep environments associated with an increased risk of death despite guidance from health care providers and public education campaigns. The American Academy of Pediatrics report released Monday is the first to look at video recordings of parental behavior rather than relying on self-reported surveys or police reports after an infant's death. Researchers recorded infants for one night at ages 1, 3 and 6 months in family homes. The videos revealed most parents placed children at risk by positioning infants on their sides or stomachs, using soft sleep surfaces or loose bedding or sharing a bed with a parent. Sleep-related infant deaths are the most common cause of death for babies between one month and one year of age, according to the United States Department of Health and Human Services. Such deaths include sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) and accidental suffocation and strangulation in bed.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	8/16/2016	6 a.m.	:26	Pregnant women who take acetaminophen are more likely to have a hyperactive child that's according to a new study. Its authors say expectant mothers exposed to the drug run a higher risk of having children with emotional or behavioral symptoms. The study published in 'jama pediatrics' shows more than half of all pregnant women in the u-s and europe, use acetaminophen. T's the active ingredient in tylenol and other popular over-the-counter and prescription medications. Users take acetaminophen for everything from allergies, colds, the flu, and to sleep better. The study's lead author does say acetaminophen is safe for pregnant women to use, but should be taken only when necessary to minimize risks. The FDA's reviewed previous studies on prenatal use of the medication, finding "limitations" in the design of those studies.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	9/6/2016	6 a.m.	:30	Children in Latino communities have far less access to green and play spaces than children in white neighborhoods, and higher obesity rates than their white and black counterparts. But there are simple solutions that communities can take, according to Salud America!, an organization that advocates for childhood obesity prevention. Dr. Amelie Ramirez, a Mexican-American health researcher at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio, has tracked these trends and says there are ways to tackle the rising rates, especially among Hispanic children. A report by Salud America! found 81 percent of Latino neighborhoods do not have access to green spaces such as parks and hiking trails, blue spaces like community pools and municipal recreation facilities like school playgrounds.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND ISSUES	Despierta America	9/19/2016	6 a.m.	:30	The American Academy of Pediatrics has strengthened its warnings about prescribing codeine for children because of reports of deaths and risks for dangerous side effects including breathing problems. The academy's advice, published in a report Monday in its medical journal, Pediatrics, mirrors warnings from the Food and Drug Administration about using codeine for kids' coughs or pain.

CONSUMER ALERT	Despierta America	7/1/2016	6 a.m.	:27	Raw cookie dough linked to General Mills flour recall and E.coli outbreak. According to new findings published Tuesday by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and U.S. Food and Drug Administration following their investigation into an E. coli outbreak linked to flour made by General Mills. So far 38 people, including three in the Twin Cities, across 20 states have been sickened by a less common strain of bacteria, Shiga toxin-producing E. coli O121, that can cause diarrhea, cramping and dehydration. Ten people have been hospitalized and no deaths have been reported.
CONSUMER ALERT	Despierta America	7/7/2016	6 a.m.	:30	Ten companies are recalling about 501,000 hoverboards after numerous reports of the self-balancing scooters' batteries catching fire, the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission said on Wednesday. There have been at least 99 incidents of the two-wheeled devices' lithium-ion battery packs overheating, sparking, smoking, catching fire or exploding, the commission said in a statement. The incidents include an unspecified number of burns and property damage.
CONSUMER ALERT	Despierta America	7/18/2016	6 a.m.	:30	The Clorox Company is recalling 5.4 million bottles of Liquid Plumr, the Consumer Product Safety Commission said Thursday. Three types of the clog remover fall under the recall including: Liquid Plumr Pro-Strength Foaming Clog Fighter, Liquid Plumr Industrial Strength Urgent Clear and Liquid Plumr Pro-Strength Urgent Clear. The caps on these bottles, which are required to be child-resistant, are not working correctly and children are able to open them. This is dangerous because Liquid Plumr contains sodium hydroxide, which can irritate the skin and eyes and can cause burns. Which is why the Poison Prevention Packaging Act requires products with this ingredient to be sealed with child-resistant packaging or containers, including lids. According to the CPSC, Clorox has received eight reports of these caps not working properly. They have also received 221 reports of these bottles leaking. There are no known injuries.
CONSUMER ALERT	Despierta America	7/21/2016	6 a.m.	:27	The US Consumer product safety commission is recalling a children's water bottle sold exclusively at I-I bean - over concerns of lead contamination. Five styles of the insulated water bottles are being recalled: Dino bones, flower power, orange grid camo, purple tie dye butterfly and robo shark. They were sold for about 20 dollars from July 2015 through May 2016. The commission says the bottles were manufactured in China and distributed by a company based in Spokane, Washington. The bottles contain high levels of lead in the metal solder used on the outside base of the bottle. The recall notice says lead is toxic if ingested by young children and can cause adverse health issues. No injuries or incidents have been reported. I-I bean is offering a full refund on all 67-hundred bottles that were sold.

ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	7/20/2016	5:30 p.m.	10:09	The 2016 Republican National Convention is now officially Donald Trump's convention. To Trump's dismay, the first two days saw a rowdy racket on the floor over efforts to quash an anti-Trump rebellion, plus a hubbub over wife Melania Trump's speech that borrowed passages from Michelle Obama. Yet as the convention reached its halfway point, delegates casting votes in the roll call officially made Trump their presidential nominee. That clears the way for the GOP to try to focus on showcasing the-mogul-turned-showman-turned-politician during speeches and other events on Wednesday — including an address by Trump's running mate, Indiana Gov. Mike Pence. Another high-profile speech will be by Trump's former primary rival, Texas Sen. Ted Cruz.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	7/21/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:03	Donald Trump formally accepted the Republican Party's presidential nomination at the Republican National Convention in Cleveland. He spoke about restoring order to US cities, Trump also said he is "certain" what President Obama thinks now about his appointment of now-presumptive Democratic nominee Hillary Clinton as secretary of State. He went on to tick off problems at home and abroad, from poverty to "war and destruction," and said they will continue as long as the country relies on the same politicians "who created them."
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	7/23/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:12	Hillary Clinton made her first appearance with vice presidential pick, Virginia senator Tim Kaine . hailing him for being extremely qualified for the job and offering a stark contrast to Donald Trump and his VP choice. A beaming Kaine took the stage with Clinton in Miami and sat behind the presumptive Democratic nominee after she introduced him on stage at the rally in Miami Saturday. Kaine spoke in Spanish during his opening remarks. as he made reference to millions of spanish speaking immigrants who he thanked for choosing to become United States citizens.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	7/24/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:25	The disarray threatened to upend Hillary Clinton's plan to paint the Democrats as the party best repaired to lead a divided and anxious country and herself as the leader who can offer an optimistic alternative to Republican Donald Trump. Debbie Wasserman Schultz was forced aside by the release of thousands of embarrassing emails among party officials that appeared to show coordinated efforts to help Clinton at the expense of her rival in the Democratic primaries. That contradicted claims by the party and the Clinton campaign that the process was open and fair for her leading challenger, Sen. Bernie Sanders of Vermont.

ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/10/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:00	Donald Trump touched off another firestorm with an off-the-cuff remark that many have interpreted as inciting violence against rival Hillary Clinton. During a speech in North Carolina, Trump suggested there is "nothing" that can be done to stop Clinton's Supreme Court picks, except "maybe" the "Second Amendment people." Democrats pounced, accusing him of openly encouraging violence against his opponent. ABC News reached out to the Secret Service for response to Trump's comment, and the agency said it was aware of the remarks. In an interview with Fox News Tuesday night, Trump insisted his words referred to the power of "Second Amendment people" to unify... even though his comments referred to the post election and if she could pick judges US Secret Svce has spoken to #Trump campaign re: 2nd Amendment comment.,
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/11/2016	5:30 p.m.		Hillary Clinton branded her self-styled populist rival a fraud whose plans will do nothing to boost the fortunes of struggling workers, delivering an address Thursday in which she laid out her economic plans. The Democratic presidential nominee's speech in Warren, Mich., came days after Republican nominee Donald Trump had visited Detroit to offer his own economic proposals.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/15/2016	5:30 p.m.	1:57	Hillary Clinton's campaign announced a program to recruit undocumented "Dreamers" into a voter registration army even though they are not allowed to vote. Clinton launched "Mi Sueno, Tu Voto" (My Dream, Your Vote), to rally and "secure commitments" from immigrants who can vote.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/17/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:04	A former Treasury Department secretary under President George W. Bush has become the latest high-profile Republican to break from her party and openly support Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton's bid for the White House. The Clinton campaign announced early Wednesday morning that Rosario Marin, the head of the Treasury Department from 2001 to 2003, has endorsed the former secretary of state. Marin, who has been a vociferous critic of Clinton, said that the nomination of Donald Trump as Republican candidate for president left her little choice but to back the Democratic nominee.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/24/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:04	The Republican presidential candidate's hard-line stance and policy proposals surrounding illegal immigration have been a centerpiece to his campaign. But over the past week, he's shown signs of rolling back the more extreme measures, most notably his support for the mass deportation of the estimated 11 million undocumented immigrants in the U.S. In a Tuesday conversation with Fox News' Sean Hannity, Trump said he would consider changing aspects of immigration law as it relates to people who immigrated to the U.S. illegally but have not otherwise broken the law.

ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/31/2016	5:30 p.m.	3:13	The Republican presidential candidate made a last-minute trip Wednesday to Mexico in his first visit after becoming the nominee to meet with a world leader -- one who has publicly insulted him and criticized his immigration and border policies. Peña Nieto began his remarks in Mexico City alongside Trump by saying the two held a constructive exchange of views even though "we might not agree on everything." He then launched into a detailed explication of US-Mexican trade.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/3/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:07	The Donald Trump presidential campaign is becoming more complicated with a furious party head after trump criticized the family of soldier killed in combat and his refusal to support the reelection of President of the House of Representatives Paul Ryan. Trump lashed out Tuesday against critics of the Republican leadership for his public dispute with the parents of an American captain Muslim who died in Iraq. Also, in a revolt against the party, he denied his support for the re-election campaigns of Ryan and Senator John McCain. The chairman of the Republican National Committee, Reince Priebus, criticized Trump for refusing to support Ryan, the most important elected Republican, and his handling of the controversy with the Khan family.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/6/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:35	Chicago officers are seen firing at least 15 shots at a black Jaguar as it races down a tree-lined street. The car crashes. The driver bolts. Officers chase him down a driveway between brick houses and over wooden fences. Then multiple shots are heard. Moments later, officers curse at 18-year-old Paul O'Neal as they put him in handcuffs as he lies face down. Hands behind his back, his arms appear limp. The back of his shirt is covered in blood. An officer holds his foot on O'Neal's leg. Another holds down the mortally wounded man's head. The actual shooting, which occurred on July 28, isn't seen in the footage because the officer's body camera didn't record the moment he opened fire. However, police say the officer who shot O'Neal in the back violated policy. The teen, police learned, was not armed.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/7/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:15	Hillary Clinton has emerged from the two major party conventions and their aftermath with an eight-point lead over Donald Trump, aided by a consolidation of support among Democrats and a failure so far by Republicans to rally equally behind their nominee, according to a new Washington Post-ABC News poll. Clinton and her running mate, Sen. Tim Kaine (Va.), now lead Trump and his running mate, Gov. Mike Pence (Ind.), by 50 percent to 42 percent among registered voters, double the four-point advantage the Democrats held on the eve of the Republican convention in mid-July. Among likely voters, the Democratic nominee leads by 51 percent to 44 percent.

ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/17/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:26	The Libertarian Party has a historic opportunity in this year's presidential election. The two major political parties appear to be settled on candidates who are each disliked by a larger share of the electorate than any other nominee in recent American history. With no significant independent candidacy on the horizon, Libertarians are the best organized alternative available to voters, including having ballot access in all 50 states. Merely as a result of these conditions, the Libertarian Party will far surpass the record 1.3 million presidential votes it garnered in 2012. On top of that, by nominating Gary Johnson and Bill Weld, two former Republican Governors with good track records governing in blue states, Libertarians seem to be embracing their chance at relevance. There is a non-trivial chance that they could be included in this fall's nationally televised debates.
ELECTIONS 2016	Noticiero Univision	8/23/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:06	Donald Trump used a pair of events in Texas to stress the need for tougher border security. Trump focused on the need to fortify the southern border. Trump has highlighted crimes committed by immigrants living in the U.S. illegally. Government figures, though, do not indicate that these immigrants commit violent crimes more frequently than legal residents do. Trump had been expected to unveil his full immigration policy this week, but that was postponed, likely until next week.
ELECTIONS 2016	Al Punto	9/11/2016	11 a.m.	9:00	As the U.S. presidential election approaches on November 8, Martínez-De-Castro, Cabrera and Sharry discuss Democratic Presidential Nominee Hillary Clinton's "comprehensive immigration reform with a path to full and equal citizenship," a goal she has set for her first 100 days in office, considering inaction by Congress to overhaul U.S. immigration laws. Martínez-De-Castro, Cabrera and Sharry also discuss Republican Presidential Nominee Donald Trump's pledge to build a wall across the U.S. southern border, his demand to have Mexico pick up the cost, and the nominee's immigration proposal, which is expected to negatively affect 11 million immigrants living in the United States.

Now a new study suggests it could also lead to higher risk of a deadly type of uterine cancer. The study, published in jama oncology, involved more than one-thousand women in the u-s and britain who were followed for five years. All carried the gene mutations. Researchers found the rate of serous endometrial cancer was twenty-two times higher than expected. It affects the lining of the uterus and has a 50-percent mortality rate .
HEALTH	Despierta America	7/6/2016	6 a.m.	:30	A new study breaks down one way that you can cut your risk of death and it all has to do with bad fats vs good fats. Across the board, researchers say too many calories from saturated or trans fat, does increase your chance of dying. But doctors at harvard say swapping-out a portion of a "bad fat" diet with healthy unsaturated fats, can have a significant positive effect. Their research followed eating habits of more than 126-thousand men and women, over a 32-year period. The doctors found a diet replacement of just five-percent polyunsaturated fats can cut mortality risk by 27-percent. Some of the best sources of polyunsaturated fats are nuts, seeds, fatty fish, algae and leafy greens. And replacing that five percent with mono-unsaturated fats, like olive oil and avocados, can lower your death risk by 13-percent.

DESCRIPTION OF ISSUES	PROGRAM SEGMENT	DATE	TIME	DURATION	NARRATION OF TYPE/DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM SEGMENT
HEALTH	Noticias Univision 32	7/11/2016	5 & 10 p.m.	2:00	New report shows suicide is the #1 leading cause of death among teenagers between age of 12 to 17 in Utah. Executive director of the Hope4Utah organization, Dr .Greg Hudnall, says this report is alarming because since 2007 to today, the number of deaths have tripled. As a former school principal, Greg had a student commit suicide, since then he retired and has created a program The Hope Squad, in witch students help other students fight the suicidal thoughts. His program is now in 18 schools in Utah and has help to keep the rate to zero for some consecutive years.
HEALTH	Noticias Univision 32	7/19/2016	5 & 10 p.m.	2:00	Another person is infected with the Zika Virus in Utah. Despite officials saying such person has not travel outside the country to places where Zika virus, the Center for Disease Control and Prevention website says even though Zika is not being spread in the US, mosquitos that can carry Zika are found in some areas of the country. DESCRIPTION OF ISSUES	PROGRAM SEGMENT	DATE	TIME	DURATION	NARRATION OF TYPE/DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM SEGMENT
IMMIGRATION	Despierta America	7/6/2016	6 a.m.	:30	Thousands of immigrants with criminal convictions, including for assault and attempted murder, have been released from detention because their native countries refused to take them back, according to statistics recently released by the Department of Homeland Security. The inability to deport the criminals has prompted outrage among lawmakers and advocates of tighter immigration laws, who say that the Obama administration could be doing much more to pressure uncooperative countries. But the department faces a number of obstacles. It is legally barred from indefinitely detaining immigrants who cannot be repatriated. And poorer nations are often reluctant to take back violent offenders because they have limited resources to deal with them.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	7/6/2016	5:30 p.m.	1:59	An undocumented activist who for years has been at the forefront of battles for immigrant rights fears she may have to put her dream of practicing law on hold after federal officials tentatively denied her bid to legally stay and work in the U.S. Lizbeth Mateo applied for the Obama administration's deferred deportation program last fall, but U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) tentatively denied her application because she visited Mexico for 13 days in 2013. In order to be considered under the program, applicants can't have traveled outside of the U.S. on or after Aug. 15, 2012.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	7/28/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:25	Nearly 1 of every 4 consultant fraud complaints in the country comes from California, according to data from the Federal Trade Commission. How law enforcement tracks these complaints varies greatly. In a statewide survey of how county district attorney offices track immigration complaints, The Desert Sun found that many don't have the technical capabilities to search their databases for immigration consultant complaints. Some counties reported no complaints even though the FTC shows allegations of fraud in their jurisdiction.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	7/1/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:00	The Justice Department boosted the penalty for hiring illegal immigrants and engaging in immigration-related unfair employment practices. The minimum penalty imposed by the DOJ for the unlawful employment of immigrants would rise from $375 to $539, while the maximum fine would go from $3,200 to $4,313. The changes stemmed from amendments in a 2015 budget bill that overhauled the formula for increasing such civil penalties. Violators facing multiple charges also would be subject to a new maximum penalty of $21,563 for hiring illegal immigrants.

DESCRIPTION OF ISSUES	PROGRAM SEGMENT	DATE	TIME	DURATION	NARRATION OF TYPE/DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM SEGMENT
IMMIGRATION	Despierta America	8/15/2016	6 a.m.	:24	Illegal immigration in 2016 has already surpassed 2015 with two months still to go in the fiscal year, driven by a renewed surge of illegal immigrant children and families from Central America attempting to sneak into the U.S. Nearly 34,000 people were caught at the southwest border in July, up 5,000 compared to a year ago. And that brings the total for the first 10 months of the fiscal year to more than 332,000, which puts it ahead of all 12 months of 2015, according to Border Patrol statistics released late last week. The surge has been powered chiefly by a new increase in the number of children and families from Central America attempting to sneak into the U.S., pushed by violence at home and lured by the hope of amnesty from the Obama administration here. More than 7,500 people traveling as families were nabbed along the border, and another 5,068 children traveling alone were also caught.
IMMIGRATION	Despierta America	8/18/2016	6 a.m.	:30	ICE program failing to rid US of dangerous illegal immigrants, analysts say. A federal program to work with local law enforcement to remove dangerous illegal immigrant criminals, implemented just weeks after Kate Steinle's murder put the issue in the national spotlight, has resulted in fewer deportations, according to analysts. The Priority Enforcement Program (PEP) was introduced last summer as something of a compromise to get sanctuary cities to work with the federal government on deportations by only requesting that local authorities hand over the most dangerous criminals. Statistics show that fewer local law enforcement agencies are refusing to work with Immigration and Customs Enforcement, yet far fewer illegal immigrant criminals are being deported under the current scheme.
IMMIGRATION	Despierta America	8/26/2016	6 a.m.	2:20	Trump is now either caught up in, or trying to exploit, that contradiction as he considers "softening" his controversial immigration stance. He won the GOP primaries on the strength of an aggressive immigration policy, calling for the immediate deportation of the estimated 11 million people in the U.S. illegally and construction of a Mexican border wall. But as he trails in the polls and struggles to overcome record lows with minority voters, he has sounded a softer tone.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	8/2/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:13	What do the Department of Homeland Security policies require for enforcement actions to be carried out at sensitive locations? The policies provide that enforcement actions at or focused on sensitive locations such as schools, places of worship, and hospitals should generally be avoided, and that such actions may only take place when (a) prior approval is obtained from an appropriate supervisory official, or (b) there are exigent circumstances necessitating immediate action without supervisor approval. The policies are meant to ensure that ICE and CBP officers and agents exercise sound judgment when enforcing federal law at or focused on sensitive locations, to enhance the public understanding and trust, and to ensure that people seeking to participate in activities or utilize services provided at any sensitive location are free to do so, without fear or hesitation.

IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	8/20/2016	5:30 p.m.	1:59	Immigration judges around the country are denying the Department of Homeland Security's attempts to deport illegal immigrants in record numbers, according to a new report. Over the last 10 months, immigration judges opted against the department's efforts to remove some 96,223 illegal immigrants, including criminals, according to the Transactional Records Access Clearinghouse, a Syracuse University-based nonprofit. At this rate, TRAC estimates the number of illegal immigrants allowed to remain in the U.S. despite DHS attempts to remove them will surpass last year's breaking number of 106,676.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	8/2/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:02	Between the 32 thousand arrested awaiting deportation there are millions with mental health needs. In a new report released this morning, ICE accepts having difficulty in establishing psychiatric help for them. The effects of not having staffed mental health experts are considered to be a serious setback.
IMMIGRATION	Despierta America	9/2/2016	6 a.m.	1:59	In a provocative 75-minute speech Wednesday evening in Phoenix-one that quickly drew praise from David Duke and other prominent white nationalists-Donald Trump put to rest any notion that he is "softening" his stance on immigration. The GOP nominee reiterated many of his most extreme proposals, outlining a 10-step policy that included building his much-discussed wall (which Mexico will pay for, he still insists), immediately deporting "criminal aliens," and adding an "ideological certification" to ensure that US visa applicants-at least from certain countries-share American values.
IMMIGRATION	Despierta America	9/21/2016	6 a.m.	:45	The number of immigrants unlawfully in the U.S. has been steady at 11 million since the end of the Great Recession, while the undocumented Mexican population continues to shrink, according to a study released Tuesday. The trend marks a reversal of the migratory tide that for decades provided workers for key sectors of the U.S. economy.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	9/15/2016	5:30 p.m.	2:00	Arizona has announced an end to its practice of requiring police officers to demand the papers of people suspected of being in the country illegally - a move that pulls the last set of teeth from what was once the nation's most fearsome immigration law. The announcement on Thursday came as part of a settlement with the National Immigration Law Center and other immigrants' rights groups that sued six years ago just after passage of the measure, referred to by its legislative shorthand, SB 1070
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	9/15/2016	10:30 p.m.	2:00	Hillary Clinton blasted Donald Trump for "bigotry" because he refused to say President Barack Obama was born in Hawaii and she called on a roomful of Latinos and online viewers Thursday night to stop him conclusively in November. The two Democrats contrasted their support for the contributions of immigrants and young immigrants known as DREAMers; drawing a distinction with Trump's calling for a wall.
IMMIGRATION	Noticiero Univision	9/15/2016	10:30 p.m.	1:27	Some requests for DACA renewals submitted between February 14 and June 22 were delayed due to technical problems, which are being resolved. USCIS is dedicated to restoring normal processing times as quickly as possible and impacted customers should receive a decision on their case within the coming weeks.

ZIKA VIRUS	Despierta America	7/19/2016	6 a.m.	:30	Health authorities in Utah are investigating a unique case of Zika found in a person who had been caring for a relative who had an unusually high level of the virus in his blood. Exactly how the disease was transmitted is still a mystery, though the person has since recovered. The elderly relative who died after contracting Zika abroad had amounts of the virus in his blood more than 100,000 times higher than other samples of infected people, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Though the tropical mosquito that mainly spreads Zika isn't typically found in Utah, officials haven't ruled out the possibility that the man brought a mosquito back with him from an area where he caught the virus, perhaps in a suitcase, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

ZIKA VIRUS	Despierta America	7/21/2016	6 a.m.	1:52	ICE deportations continue to decline this year and are on pace to be the lowest since 2006, according to the latest ICE statistics. Deportations of criminals also keep declining, despite a nationwide litany of high-profile fatalities caused by criminal aliens, and despite the Obama administration's claimed focus on removing deportable criminals. ICE internal metrics, including arrests, detainees and charging documents issued, show that enforcement in the interior has reached the lowest level of this administration. Most of ICE's workload (72%) is still made up of cases referred from the Border Patrol rather than aliens arrested in the interior of the country, a trend that started in 2012. The number of aliens being detained is running slightly higher than it was at this time last year, but still well below the level mandated by Congress.
