

2022 Quarter 4 lssues and Programs List

WRKF Baton Rouge

October 1, 2022 through December 30, 2022

The licensee of station WRKF has determined the issues listed below were of importance to the community during the past three months and has aired the following programming to address those issues.

- 1. Statewide politics and primary/runoff elections
- 2. Public health concerns
- 3. Reproductive rights
- 4. Criminal and immigration justice issues
- 5. Environment, ecosystem, and climate change

Issue	Segment/Story/Program Title	Series/Program Name	Air Date	Air Time	Duration	Host	Guest(s)	Description	URL
1	Breakdown of constitutional amendments on November ballot	Louisiana Considered	2022-10-28	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Stephanie Grace	Early voting is officially underway, voters are considering constitutional amendments. We breakdown the ballot with Times Picayune/New Orleans Advocate editorial page director and columnist, Stephanie Grace.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-10-28/the-world-series-starts-tonight-here-are-the-former-lsu-tigers-taking-the-field
1	Early voting statistics	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-02	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Paul Braun	John Couvillon	Early voting is already underway across the country and in Louisiana. WRKF’s Capital Access reporter Paul Braun speaks with John Couvillon of JMC Analytics to learn more about early voting statistics and what races to keep an eye on.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-02/louisiana-program-that-revitalizes-abandoned-properties-gets-5m-in-federal-funds-to-create-jobs
1	Political information ahead of next week's election	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-04	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Stephanie Grace, Paul Braun	Midterm elections are less than a week away! Columnist Stephanie Grace and WRKF Capital Access reporter Paul Braun tell us what to look out for – and give us crucial information on when and how to vote in Louisiana.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-04/in-new-documentary-hollow-tree-teens-come-of-age-amid-rising-sea-levels-in-louisiana
1	Last-minute voting information and elections to watch	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-08	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Diane Mack	Paul Braun	Today is election day in Louisiana and across the country. WRKF’s Paul Braun joins us for last-minute voting information and the elections to watch out for.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-08/this-podcast-looks-at-recovery-and-rebuilding-in-lake-charles-after-4-major-natural-disasters

1	Election results, Public Service Commissioner runoff insights, and vigilante poll monitors cause no incidents	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-09	12:07, 19:34	16:00	Patrick Madden	Jim Engster, Sam Karlin, Miles Parks	Most of the results from yesterday’s elections are in, and it's time to break down the key results. Jim Engster, joins us for more on the biggest takeaways from last night. And while the polls have closed, they’ll soon reopen as the race for Public Service Commissioner has gone to a runoff. Sam Karlin joins us for more on what the race will look like between incumbent Lambert C. Boissiere III and challenger Davante Lewis. And, in an election that had experts worried about vigilante poll monitors and the potential for danger for election workers, voting seems to have gone off without any major incidents. Miles Parks reports on the issue.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-09/breaking-down-the-2022-midterm-results-in-louisiana-and-across-the-country
1	Considering Kennedy in 2023 governor's race	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-15	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Diane Mack	Paul Braun	Louisiana Republican John Kennedy just won a second term in the US Senate, and already he’s saying he will seriously consider a run for Governor in 2023. Today, Capital Access reporter Paul Braun tells us what a Kennedy campaign might look like.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-15/with-temperatures-dropping-coats-for-kids-event-returns-to-new-orleans-with-a-concert-for-a-cause
1	More constitutional amendments on the ballot	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-30	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Adam Vos	Paul Braun	Voters in the upcoming runoff election will be faced with even more ballot amendments. WRKF’s Capital Access Reporter, Paul Braun tells us more about these three amendments and why some view them as controversial.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-30/more-than-100-electric-school-buses-are-coming-to-louisiana-heres-how-they-will-be-distributed
1	Public Service Commissioner candidates speak	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-01	12:07, 19:34	12:00	Karl Lengel	Lambert Boissiere III, Davante Lewis	The race for Public Service Commissioner in Louisiana’s third district is heading to a runoff, pinning 18-year incumbent Lambert Boissiere III against Baton Rouge environmental activist, Davante Lewis. Both candidates join us independently to discuss the race and what they hope to accomplish in the position.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-eats/2022-12-01/hear-from-the-candidates-facing-off-in-the-3rd-district-public-service-commissioner-runoff
1	Preview of next year's gubernatorial election	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-02	12:07, 19:34	03:00	Patrick Madden	Stephanie Grace	Stephanie Grace, joins us to discuss the 2023 Louisiana governor’s race and the increasingly tense relationship between New Orleans Mayor Cantrell and the city council.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-02/in-its-49th-year-the-bayou-classic-celebrated-hbcu-pride-in-new-orleans
1	Public Service Commissioner runoff election overview	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-09	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Stephanie Grace, Paul Braun	The runoff election for the District Three Public Service Commissioner will take place tomorrow, where voters will choose between 18-year incumbent Lambert Boissiere III and environmental activist Davante Lewis.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-09/the-district-3-psc-runoff-election-is-saturday-heres-what-you-need-to-know-before-you-vote

1	Public Service Commissioner election brings Black LGBTQ winner	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-23	12:07, 19:34	03:00	Karen Henderson	Paul Braun	But first, on Saturday, Baton Rouge environmental activist Davante Lewis soundly defeated three-term incumbent Lambert Boissiere III to become the Public Service Commissioner for Louisiana’s 3rd district. WRKF’s Capital Access reporter Paul Braun tells us about the state’s first openly LGBTQ Black elected official.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-12/u-s-rep-troy-carter-discusses-new-position-of-leadership-in-congressional-black-caucus
2	Kitchen injury prevention as we approach Thanksgiving cooking	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-16	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Adam Vos	Alana Schreiber	Thanksgiving is just around the corner, and because many families across the country will soon have their kitchens full of turkeys in the oven and cranberry sauce on the stove, we thought it might be a good timefor a conversation on injury prevention in the kitchen – a problem that is far more common than many realize. Louisiana Children’s Hospital hosted an event to promote cooking safety and burn accident prevention. Louisiana Considered’s Alana Schreiber, who was in attendance, brings us the story.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-16/re-imagining-drug-court-a-new-baton-rouge-program-prioritizes-recovery-over-jail-time
2	Effectiveness of new mental health hotline in Louisiana	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-23	12:07, 19:34	05:00	Adam Vos	Emily Woodruff	Last July saw the launch of a new national mental health hotline number, 988. In Louisiana, this new hotline replaces a ten-digit one, and already calls have risen dramatically both nationally and statewide. Staff writer for The Times Picayune, Emily Woodruff, tells us more about the effectiveness of this new number.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-23/celebration-gator-brings-a-taste-of-louisiana-to-macys-thanksgiving-day-parade
2	Addressing trauma and grief for youth in detention	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-28	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karen Henderson	Julie Kaplow	Many youth in the juvenile justice system experience two or more violent deaths of loved ones before the age of 5. Julie Kaplow, Executive Director of the Trauma and Grief (TAG) Center at Louisiana Children's Hospital, tells us about a new partnership that will expand trauma and grief-informed care for youth in detention.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-28/how-louisiana-childrens-hospital-is-addressing-grief-and-trauma-among-youth-in-detention
2	Louisiana ranks low in maternal and infant health	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-29	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Diane Mack	Rosemary Westwood	According to the latest report from the March of Dimes, a nonprofit that advocates for healthy mothers and children, Louisiana ranks as one of the worst states in the nation for maternal and infant health, especially for Black and Native American women. WWNO’s Public Health reporter Rosemary Westwood joins us to dig into the report.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-29/garden-district-homes-are-all-dressed-up-for-preservation-resource-centers-47th-holiday-tour

2	Medical marijuana challenges: securing doctor recommendations	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-08	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karl Lengel	Joe Marino	Louisiana’s Medical Marijuana Commission continues to face challenges, especially when it comes to securing recommendations from doctors. Representative Joe Marino, who chairs the commission, tells us more about steering the program’s focus towards patients’ needs.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-08/with-antisemitism-on-the-rise-tulane-professor-discusses-why-its-happening-and-how-to-combat-it
2	Holiday COVID safety	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-12	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karen Henderson	Dr. Catherine O'Neal	The holidays are just around the corner – and so is the potential for another COVID-19 surge. Dr. Catherine O'Neal, Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine and Infectious Disease at LSU Health Sciences Center in Baton Rouge, joins us for more on the latest tools for COVID safety.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-12/u-s-rep-troy-carter-discusses-new-position-of-leadership-in-congressional-black-caucus
2	Nursing partnerships addressing healthcare workforce challenges	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-15	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karl Lengel	Christina McKnight, Sylvia Hartmann,	Challenges in the healthcare workforce have grown in recent years. Now, Ochsner Health is working to address that with new and expanded partnerships with university nursing programs. Christina McKnight, Manager of Talent Management & Workforce Development at Ochsner, and Sylvia Hartmann, Director of Nursing Academic Relations, tell us more about workforce development in Louisiana’s healthcare industry.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-15/in-honor-of-national-violin-day-we-learn-how-to-craft-care-and-repair-a-centuries-old-instrument
3	How pro-choice supporters are fighting back	Louisiana Considered	2022-10-28	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Rosemary Westwood	And while abortion rights are set to be a driving issue in the midterm elections, in Louisiana, there’s nothing on the ballot that would change the near-total abortion ban now in effect. Public Health reporter, Rosemary Westwood, tells us how pro-choice supporters in the state are looking for new ways to fight back.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-10-28/the-world-series-starts-tonight-here-are-the-former-lsu-tigers-taking-the-field

3	Ejaculate Responsibly: male accountability in preventing unwanted pregnancies	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-03	12:07, 19:34	24:00	Karl Lengel	Gabrielle Blair, Rosemary Westwood	The midterm elections are coming up, and across the county, abortion feels like a central voting issue. But while many of the most visible pro-choice voices come from women, some are beginning to offer ideas for the role of men in reproductive health. Gabrielle Blair, award-winning creator of the Design Mom blog, tells us about her new book, Ejaculate Responsibly. We learn how this provocatively-titled series of arguments offers some ideas for male accountability in preventing unwanted pregnancies. Then, WWNO’s Public health reporter Rosemary Westwood joins us for more on the state of abortion access in Louisiana.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-03/whats-the-role-of-men-post-roe-this-provocatively-titled-book-has-some-suggestions
3	Supporters continue to show after Roe V. Wade	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-04	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Stephanie Grace, Paul Braun	It’s been more than 100 Days since the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, and Jackson Women’s Health Organization, the clinic at the center of the case, has been closed for months. Still supporters continue to show up. The Gulf States Newsroom’s Maya Miller talks with the local activists about what keeps them coming back to the “Pink House.”	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-04/in-new-documentary-hollow-tree-teens-come-of-age-amid-rising-sea-levels-in-louisiana
3	Louisiana Right to Life not done fighting	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-17	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Karl Lengel	Rosemary Westwood	It’s been more than four months since the U.S. Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, and Louisiana’s most powerful anti-abortion organization has been shoring up support for the state’s near-total abortion ban. Louisiana Right to Life helped write the ban, and, as public health reporter Rosemary Westwood found, the organization isn’t done fighting.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-17/from-songs-about-the-bywater-to-the-bayou-rising-appalachias-new-album-is-an-ode-to-new-orleans
3	Maternal outcomes in the South after Roe v. Wade	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-23	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Maya Miller	Before Roe v. Wade was overturned earlier this year, organizers and lawmakers raised concerns about what abortion restrictions would mean for states where maternal outcomes were already bad. The Gulf States Newsroom’s Maya Miller digs into a new report on the reality of reproductive care in abortion-restrictive states.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-23/remembering-p-b-s-pinchback-louisianas-and-the-nations-first-black-governor

4	Riders advocate for incarcerated	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-01	12:07, 19:34	05:00	Diane Mack	Bobbi-Jeanne Misick	Once a year, an advocacy group rides bikes from New Orleans toward Angola Prison to highlight the 170 mile journey that families take to visit loved ones incarcerated in the country’s largest maximum security prison. The Gulf States Newsroom’s Bobbi-Jeanne Misick pedaled along, talking to cyclists and learning more about the ride and who it supports.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-01/the-33rd-new-orleans-film-festival-kicks-off-this-weekend-listen-to-learn-whats-on-deck
4	Ruling on conditions at David Wade Correctional Facility	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-11	12:07, 19:34	08:00	Adam Vos	Nick Chrastil, Melanie Bray	Earlier this month, a federal judge ruled that the conditions at David Wade Correctional Facility in Homer, Louisiana violate the constitutional rights of prisoners. In her ruling, the judge found that prisoners were housed in inhumane conditions and that the prison failed to provide adequate mental health care. Nick Chrastil, criminal justice reporter for The Lens NOLA, and Melanie Bray, Assistant Legal Director at Disability Rights Louisiana, tell us more about this case and what happens next.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-11/conditions-at-a-louisiana-prison-violate-inmates-constitutional-rights-judge-rules
4	Drug recovery court program in Baton Rouge's 19th JDC	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-16	12:07, 19:34	07:00	Adam Vos	Donald R. Johnson, Cheryl Wyatt	The 19th Judicial District Court in Baton Rouge is launching a new drug recovery program as part of an effort to provide supervised treatment for offenders grappling with substance abuse issues. Chief judge of the 19th Judicial District Court Donald R. Johnson and program coordinator Cheryl Wyatt tells us more about this new recovery-focused initiative is re-imagining traditional “drug court.”	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-16/re-imagining-drug-court-a-new-baton-rouge-program-prioritizes-recovery-over-jail-time
4	Local non-profit response to gun violence	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-28	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karen Henderson	Michael Adams, Dadrius Lanus	How one Baton Rouge nonprofit is responding to gun violence. A conversation with Michael Adams and Dadrius Lanus, president and executive director of the 100 Black Men Baton Rouge Chapter.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-28/how-louisiana-childrens-hospital-is-addressing-grief-and-trauma-among-youth-in-detention
4	Baton Rouge homicide spike	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-05	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karen Henderson	James Finn	Homicides spiked across the nation during the COVID-19 pandemic, and Baton Rouge was no exception. But now, it seems like this deadly trend is finally on the decline. Criminal Justice reporter for the Advocate, James Finn, tells us more about covering these crimes.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-05/how-a-new-docuseries-and-a-publishing-company-are-celebrating-the-character-of-louisiana

4	Investigation into Cameroonian asylum-seekers	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-19	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Karen Henderson	Bobbi-Jeanne Misick	Thousands of Cameroonians have flocked to the US in recent years to seek asylum. And many have wound up in Deep South detention centers. The Gulf States Newsroom’s Bobbi-Jeanne Misick has spent a year investigating the experience of these asylum seekers with Type Investigations. She discusses what she’s learned with Cody Short of WBHM in Birmingham	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-19/from-kwanzaa-bike-rides-to-chanukah-parades-heres-how-to-celebrate-the-holidays-in-louisiana
4	Story of a Cameroonian asylum-seeker	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-20	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Diane Mack	Bobbi-Jeanne Misick	Thousands of Cameroonians have come to the U-S. to seek asylum since 2017. At least 200 were sent to Mississippi and Louisiana, where immigration judges were much less likely to side with asylum seekers than in other parts of the country. The Gulf States Newsroom’s Bobbi-Jeanne Misick has been digging into the region’s thorny immigration system with Type Investigations. Today, she brings us one man’s story.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-20/what-the-play-the-family-line-reveals-about-interracial-labor-organizing-in-1800s-new-orleans
4	Cameroonian asylum-seekers: detention conditions	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-21	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Adam Vos	Bobbi-Jeanne Misick	We’ve been bringing you the story of Cameroonian asylum-seekers who found themselves in Louisiana, where judges were less likely to grant asylum. As they languished in detention, many say they were treated poorly and even tortured. Today, we bring you the final story from Type Investigations and the Gulf States Newsroom, as Bobbi-Jeanne Misick tells the stories of two men and their years-long search for protection.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-21/from-new-orleans-to-amsterdam-and-back-heres-the-story-of-the-oldest-known-footage-of-mardi-gras
4	Grand jury brings charges in Ronald Greene police death case	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-21	12:07, 19:34	02:00	Adam Vos	Paul Braun	Last week, a Louisiana grand jury brought criminal charges against five officers in a case involving Ronald Greene, a Black man who died in police custody in 2019. Paul Braun, Capitol Access reporter for WRKF, has the story.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-21/from-new-orleans-to-amsterdam-and-back-heres-the-story-of-the-oldest-known-footage-of-mardi-gras
5	Federal funding to plug abandoned wells	Louisiana Considered	2022-10-24	12:07, 19:34	05:00	Kezia Setyawan	Jim Guthrie	After decades of exploration – or exploitation – Louisiana is covered with thousands of orphaned wells. Now, there are new efforts to plug up these sites, like a $12.7 million grant in federal funding from the Bipartisan Jobs Act to the US Fish and Wildlife Service. Coastal reporter Kezia Setyawan spoke with Senior Advisor for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Jim Guthrie, for more.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-10-24/how-docu-series-making-black-america-is-sharing-often-overlooked-black-narratives

5	Marine scientists concerned about the Gulf of Mexico Whale	Louisiana Considered	2022-10-26	12:07, 19:34	08:00	Adam Vos	Christian Wagley	Earlier this month, more than 100 marine scientists sent a letter to the Biden administration urging government officials to protect the endangered Gulf of Mexico Whale. They claim that if the whale goes extinct, it will be the first recorded time in world history that humans cause the extinction of an entire whale species. Christian Wagley coastal organizer for Healthy Gulf, tells us what makes this species unique and what needs to be done to save it.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-10-26/the-gulf-of-mexico-whale-is-going-extinct-hear-from-a-scientist-working-to-save-it
5	Reducing, reusing, and recycling your Halloween costume; and Rougarou Fest's environmental mission	Louisiana Considered	2022-10-31	12:07, 19:34	16:00	Halle Parker	Liz Freeman Kelly, Christina Solis, Kezia Setyawan	Louisiana nonprofit RicRack is finding creative solutions for clothing scraps of all kinds, as we face the challenge of what to do with that leftover Halloween costume. Halle Parker spoke with RicRack's Executive Director Liz Freeman Kelly and Resale Store Manager Christina Solis to learn how to reduce, reuse, and recycle your costume. Also, Houma's Rougarou Fest, a Cajun Halloween celebration that explores scary Southern folklore and is named for a mythical bayou creature, has an environmental mission as well.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-10-31/from-our-coastal-desk-how-to-have-a-fun-and-sustainable-halloween-in-louisiana
5	Brownfields program gets grants to clean up Louisiana sites	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-02	12:07, 19:34	08:00	Adam Vos	Rebecca Otte	The Brownfields program is a part of the Louisiana Department of Environmental Quality that focuses on cleaning up and revitalizing abandoned properties. The program was recently awarded a $5 million grant— funding made possible by the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act —to address projects across Louisiana. Coordinator of the Brownfields Program, Rebecca Otte, tells us more about how this federal funding aims to create more job opportunities for Louisianans.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-02/louisiana-program-that-revitalizes-abandoned-properties-gets-5m-in-federal-funds-to-create-jobs
5	Advice by kids for navigating climate change	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-18	12:07, 19:34	04:00	Patrick Madden	Lauren Sommer	Kids are increasingly facing the impacts of climate change, from losing their homes in disasters to having recess canceled due to extreme heat waves. As a result, increasing numbers of young people are experiencing climate anxiety. Lauren Sommer brings us advice by kids, for kids on how to navigate a changing climate.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-18/from-cracked-sea-ice-to-eroding-coasts-one-photographer-captures-link-between-nola-and-antarctica

5	Electric school buses coming to Louisiana	Louisiana Considered	2022-11-30	12:07, 19:34	06:00	Adam Vos	Jeffrey Robinson	Back in October, the Environmental Protection Agency awarded more than $43-million-dollars in funding for electric school buses in Louisiana. The EPA’s Jeffrey Robinson tells us more about how the more than 100 buses will be distributed across the parishes.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-11-30/more-than-100-electric-school-buses-are-coming-to-louisiana-heres-how-they-will-be-distributed
5	Public education on sediment diversions	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-07	12:07, 19:34	08:00	Adam Vos	Rachel Rhode	With so much conversation about coastal erosion in Louisiana, sediment diversions have come to the forefront as one of the tools to preserve and build up land. But the science behind it is often murky and confusing to the public. Rachel Rhode of the Environmental Defense Fund tells us more about breaking down the science of sediment diversion into something a little more approachable.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-07/from-cancer-survivor-to-commercial-astronaut-hayley-arceneaux-recounts-epic-journey-in-new-memoir
5	Hollow Tree: navigating climate change	Louisiana Considered	2022-12-23	12:07, 19:34	08:00	Patrick Madden, Halle Parker	Kira Ackerman	November saw the debut of the new documentary Hollow Tree, which follows three Louisiana teenagers trying to navigate a changing climate affecting their homelands. The Coastal Desk’s Halle Parker spoke with the documentary’s young stars as well as the film’s director Kira Ackerman.	https://www.wrkf.org/show/louisiana-considered/2022-12-23/remembering-p-b-s-pinchback-louisianas-and-the-nations-first-black-governor