NOVEMBER IS LUNG CANCER AWARENESS MONTH
JANUARY IS RADON ACTION MONTH

Dear Public Service Director:

Radon is the leading cause of lung cancer among non-smokers, responsible for more than 20,000 deaths annually in the United States. Radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas released in rock, soil and water and can accumulate to dangerous levels inside homes, schools and other buildings. The only way to know if there is a radon problem is to test for it. Radon problems can be fixed and lives saved.

The USEPA has produced and is making available to any station a host of Public Service Announcement (PSA) materials to get the word out to the general public about the danger of radon.

These PSAs will educate your audience about the serious risk of lung cancer due to breathing radon gas in homes. Since radon gas is an invisible, colorless and odorless gas, the only way of knowing if your home is affected by radon is by testing it with the radon detector.

These radio PSAs are available in various lengths in both English and Spanish. In addition, you can order banners and banner ads as well as a variety of stickers.

You may view the PSAs on our website at www.EPAPSA.com.

You may download MP3's from tvaccessspotsource.com/epa.

You may direct any questions to Ken at 630-917-4870 or via e-mail at Ken@tvaccess.com. If you have any technical questions, please contact Ken.

We do appreciate your consideration to use the materials being offered and for sharing this important information with your audience. It's a commendable community service!

Sincerely,

Ken Hempel

PSA: Prematurity Awareness Month

Dear PSA Director:

Every parent wants a healthy baby. But it doesn't always happen that way. Babies come early or small or with health problems. Over the years, the March of Dimes has made medical and technological advances that have saved millions of babies' lives and health.

But our ultimate goal is to prevent problems, so that one day, all babies will be born strong and healthy. We fund Nobel Prize winning research to find ways to prevent threats like premature birth and birth defects. At the same time the March of Dimes reaches out to moms and future moms to make sure they know all the things they can do to have healthy pregnancies and strong healthy babies.

This year March of Dimes is celebrating our 75th Anniversary so it is more important than ever to raise awareness of Prematurity Awareness Month- November and Prematurity Awareness Day- 11/17/13.

Thank you for helping us build recognition of the March of Dimes as a vital resource for moms, dads and future parents by placing these spots into your active rotation.

Dear PSA Director,

Now that more Americans are switching to heart-healthier cooking oils, what are they to do with their old tubs of lard?

Allow us to present, "Practical Polly's Lessons in Lard," two new humorous Public Service Announcements from the American Heart Association's Face the Fats campaign.

Practical Polly's prime message uses humor to help consumers learn more about how to trade up to the best fats for heart health. However, that will leave millions of Americans with leftover tubs of lard. Take heart, dear listeners. You don't have to throw them away. Polly will tell you that lard has many practical uses - so even if it isn't going to your waist, it won't go to waste.

The non-commercial 30- and 60-second spots feature voice-over artist Jean Valderrama as Polly and are provided by the American Heart Association which wants Americans to use healthier cooking oils that can actually lower your chances for heart disease.

The American Heart Association's national education campaign, Face the Fats, is aimed at helping consumers understand the different types of dietary fats and make heart-healthy choices. Among the campaign's top priorities is to encourage replacement of trans and saturated fat with fats that are better for you — monounsaturated and polyunsaturated.

Many of your listeners are among the hundreds of millions of Americans who are at risk for heart disease, the number one killer of both men and women in the United States. We ask you to join us in airing these PSA spots whenever you have time available. And we ask you to help us continue to deliver good public service content by filling out and returning the enclosed postage paid reply card.

For more information, visit www.heart.org/facethefats.

Thank you for your consideration.

It's Practical Polly Radio. I've switched to cooking with healthier oils so now what do I do with all these tubs of lard?

Skinny jeans feeling too tight?

A bit of lard on your hips & thighs and those pant slide on like a dream!

So there's no need for that lard to go to waste, but get you best heart-healthy trade up with healthier oils – like Canola, olive, or other vegetable oils – which can actually lower your chances for heart disease.

Generously apply lard to your hips & thighs and those fancy pants will slide on like a dream!

Or here's a family-friendly idea. How about making you yard into a lard-fun-park? Frost your driveway with a nice thick coating and give those kiddos a downhill thrill no matter what time of year!

Having a bad hair day? Yep, a little lump-o-lard can tame your fly-aways in a jiffy.

Your interview is with:

Kathleen Jaeger, Senior Vice President of the National Association of Chain Drug Stores in pharmacy care, patient advocacy, and also a pharmacist; and Dr. Mary Ann Bauman of the American Heart Association, who is also a primary care physician and author.

We will call into your station a few minutes before the interview is scheduled to begin. Thanks.

MEDIA ADVISORY

ARE AMERICANS RISKING THEIR HEALTH BY NOT ADHERING TO THEIR PRESCRIBED MEDICATIONS?

The National Association of Chain Drug Stores (NACDS) and the American Heart Association (AHA) have launched a campaign to raise awareness about medication adherence - the importance of patients taking their medications as prescribed.

Health policy research group, the New England Healthcare Institute cites that only 50 percent of patients take their medications as prescribed by their doctor, which costs the nation more than $290 billion in needless spending each year.

Studies show that medication adherence can help manage chronic conditions, such as hypertension, improve health outcomes and provide cost savings to the overall healthcare system.

Together, NACDS and AHA experts can discuss the important role of patients taking medications as prescribed for conditions such as hypertension in an effort to better manage their health.

Background: We know that many patients with chronic conditions fail to adhere to their medications, resulting in further complications and added costs to the healthcare system. For example, one in three, or 78 million adults in the U.S. have high blood pressure, but only about 46 percent have the condition adequately controlled. High blood pressure is projected to cost $162 billion in 2013 and increase to an estimated $347 billion by 2030 — making high blood pressure the most expensive form of cardiovascular disease. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has characterized high blood pressure as “public health enemy No. 2.”

Community pharmacy plays an important role in helping patients adhere to their medications by counseling patients on the benefits of taking medications properly, helping to prevent potential adverse reactions with other medications, as well as offering health screenings and other disease state testing. In addition, the incorporation medication therapy management (MTM) services can go a long way in helping patients improve their health and contribute to cost savings. MTM is program in which a pharmacist or other qualified health professional reviews a patient's medication regimen and helps to optimize outcomes through improved medication use.

With increasing focus on patient-centered pharmacy education and growing recognition for pharmacists' for their medication expertise, MTM has advanced substantially. In fact, the National Association of Chain Drug Stores (NACDS) and the American Heart Association (AHA) are working together to advance legislation (H.R. 1024 and S. 557) that would enable patients with one or more chronic conditions to receive pharmacist-administered MTM services.

ORTHOPAEDIC SURGEONS: TRAMPOLINES ARE DANGEROUS! AAOS AIMS TO REDUCE THE MORE THAN 100,000 YEARLY TRAMPOLINE-RELATED INJURIES

Phone interviews are available with Dr. William Richardson, a Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery & Associate Chief Medical Officer at Duke University Hospital, and a member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons (AAOS).

Trampolining can be an exciting activity, but it also can create hazardous conditions. Orthopaedic surgeons and ER staff treat more than a 100,000 trampoline-related injuries each year. The costs of medical, legal, insurance and disability expenses exceed $4 billion each year.

The most common injuries are sprains and fractures, which result from falls on the trampoline mat, frame or springs, collisions with another jumper, stunts gone wrong and falls off the trampoline.

"Trampolines can be fun for kids and adults, but they also pose a high risk for injuries, especially when two or more people jump at one time," said orthopaedic surgeon William Richardson, MD. "Orthopaedic surgeons recommend that families avoid trampoline recreation centers and that parents urge their children to avoid trampolines at friends and neighbors' homes or in outdoor playgrounds because of the high risk of injuries."

Orthopaedic surgeons urge kids, teens and adults to avoid trampolines. If you decide to use them despite the risks, here are a few tips to help reduce the number and severity of injuries:

- Trampolines should not be used for unsupervised recreational activity. Competent adult supervision and instruction are needed for children at all times
- Use of trampolines for physical education, competitive gymnastics, diving training and similar activities requires careful adult supervision and proper safety measures.
- Allow only one participant at a time.

- Spotters should be present when participants are jumping. Somersaults or high-risk maneuvers should be avoided unless there is proper instruction and protective equipment, such as a harness.
- The trampoline-jumping surface should be at ground level.
- Supporting bars, strings and landing surfaces should have adequate protective padding.
- Check equipment regularly.
- Trampolines are not for children under age 6.
- Remove trampoline ladders after use to prevent unsupervised access.

Possible interview questions:

1. Why are trampolines such an important issue? What are the risks of using them?
2. Have you seen any trampoline injuries in your practice?
3. Is it just kids who are being injured?
4. What about the popularity of jumping facilities and back yard trampolines?
5. What would you recommend for your own children? Or, to other parents on this issue?
6. What kinds of injuries have you seen kids and adults sustain?
7. What is the most common injury for kids who end up needing an orthopaedic surgeon?
8. Where can parents learn more about trampoline safety and injury prevention for their kids?

William Richardson, MD:

Dr. Richardson is Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery and Associate Chief Medical Officer at Duke University Hospital. His clinical interests include adult spinal surgery, deformity, trauma, tumors and reconstructive surgery. In addition to his clinical practice, he is involved in several research projects, such as investigating the biomechanical aspects of cervical injury with head impact. He has published several articles in peer-review journals throughout his career. Dr. Richardson earned his medical degree at Eastern Virginia Medical School and completed his residency in orthopedics at Duke University Medical Center. His additional training includes a fellowship in spine surgery at Toronto General and Mount Sinai Hospitals in Canada. He currently is a member of the Patient Safety Committee of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons.

November is National Bone Marrow Awareness Month
DO SOMETHING GOOD -- BECOME A BONE MARROW DONOR AND SAVE A LIFE!

Blood Cancer is a Killer

- Blood cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths in the U.S.
- Blood cancer kills more children in the U.S. than any other disease.
- Approximately 150,000 Americans are expected to be diagnosed with a blood cancer this year.

Bone Marrow Transplants Can Be Life Saving

- Many patients fighting blood cancer and other blood diseases like sickle cell anemia can be saved with a bone marrow or stem cell transplant.
- Only thirty percent of all patients in need of a transplant can find a compatible donor within their family, but 70 percent must turn to the national registry to find a match.
- Every year, more than 10,000 patients need transplants using cells donated from a perfect stranger. Only half will get them.

About John Murry's 4 grandchildren:

Murry's 4 grandchildren, Sean (21), Patrick (17), Danny (10) and Timmy (8) were diagnosed with Diamond Blackfan Anemia, a fatal blood disease which means the only hope for them to live long, healthy lives is for the boys to have bone marrow transplants.

About Delete Blood Cancer

Delete Blood Cancer | DKMS was founded in 2004 in the U.S. and is part of DKMS, the world's largest bone marrow donor center with 3.7 million donors and counting. In the U.S., we have registered more than 390,000 potential donors and facilitated nearly 1,300 life-saving transplants. But we're not stopping there. Every day we lead the fight against blood cancer by working with families, communities and organizations to recruit more donors and provide more patients with second chances at life.

Delete Blood Cancer | DKMS is dedicated, creative and tireless when it comes to supporting patients and spearheading the donor drives that provide patients and families with hope and benefit everyone by growing the donor pool. We organize events across the U.S. that help inspire people to take the first step toward saving a life by registering as bone marrow donors.

The donors we register are added to the Be The Match® Registry, the national registry of the United States operated by the federal National Marrow Donor Program®. This registry currently includes nearly 11 million donors, of which more than 35 percent have been recruited by Delete Blood Cancer | DKMS and DKMS combined.

About Registration

- There are two ways to register: at a donor registration drive or online at DeleteBloodCancer.org
- Delete Blood Cancer | DKMS does not charge anyone to register.
- Registration includes eligibility and health screening, filling out a form and swabbing each cheek for 30 seconds to collect cells for use in matching with a patient.

To be eligible to register, a person must be:

1. Between the ages of 18 and 55
2. In general good health

3. Willing to donate to ANY patient
4. Not already registered
5. Living permanently in the U.S.
6. At least 4'10" and 110 lbs

About Donation

There are two ways to donate. The patient's doctor selects the method that's best for the patient.

Peripheral Blood Stem Cell Collection (PBSC) -- Used in more than 75 percent of cases, cells are drawn via the bloodstream. Prior to collection, donors receive injections of a synthetic protein to increase their number of available blood stem cells.

Bone Marrow Collection

Used in less than 25 percent of cases, marrow is collected from the back of the hip bone through an outpatient surgical procedure performed under anesthesia.
