Child assistance	Community Connection: Stepping Stone	2/25/22-4/25/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 16 times	60 seconds	Stepping Stone is a nonprofit located just a few blocks off of the Downtown Mall in Charlottesville. Stepping Stone provides children age newborn to three from under-resourced families in the Charlottesville/Albemarle region with the items they need to ensure a healthy, safe start to life. The items they provide include diapers/wipes, new and gently used baby clothes, strollers, car seats, and pack 'n' plays. And, of course, books! Community partners let them know what their families need, and they rely on the donation of new and nearly new items to fill their orders. They build inventory of these essentials through individual giving and grassroots community drives. Teams of volunteers help them to achieve their mission. While some individuals sort, clean, and bundle items according to the orders received from local partners, another team of volunteers delivers them to parents, caregivers, and children. Families struggling to pay rent, utilities, and grocery bills often can't afford the basics their children need every day. By focusing on an underserved demographic and age range, Stepping Stone aims to make sure the most vulnerable members of the community start life on the right foot.

LGBTQ+ support	Community Connection: Friendly City Safe Space	4/21/22-6/21/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 52 times	60 seconds	The Friendly City Safe Space is a nonprofit in Harrisonburg that offers community, education, and resources for LGBTQ+ people and aspiring allies of all ages, and racial and ethnic identities in Harrisonburg and surrounding counties in an effort to build a community where LGBTQ+ people thrive. Their drop-in hours are Wednesday to Friday from 4-8 and Saturday from 11-7 in their downtown Harrisonburg space. You can stop by and meet their volunteers, get a tour of the space, or simply enjoy free tea, coffee, and snacks. The space includes a queer library, mindfulness room, and plenty of space for studying and spending time both alone and in the community.
Homelessness	Community Connection: Valley Open Doors	4/22/22-6/22/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 52 times	60 seconds	Valley Open Doors' mission is to engage the community of Harrisonburg and Rockingham County in partnership to provide shelter, compassionate support, and access to services for people experiencing homelessness. In 2007, members of the Interfaith Association recognized a need for a homeless shelter in the Harrisonburg and Rockingham area that would be low-barrier and available to those who are not eligible to stay at other shelters. This low-barrier philosophy means that all who are homeless and over the age of 18 are welcome in our shelter when they have nowhere else to go. They want to open doors for their clients to provide them with resources that will help to end the cycle of chronic homelessness. They provide overnight shelter to individuals 18 years and older on a first come first serve basis. Open Doors also partners with other local community stakeholders to help provide guests with access to case management, social and health services, and referral programs for permanent housing.

Foster care	Hear Together: UMFS Foster Care	6/8/22-present	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 17 times	90 seconds	For 120 years, UMFS Foster Care has worked relentlessly to help children, teens, and families thrive in their communities. Their trained staff collaborates with foster parents and families to overcome the challenges of traumatic childhoods to create homes that are safe and welcoming. There are about 4,800 youth in foster care across Virginia, with 1,800 of them open for adoption. Over the past year, they've noticed a 54 percent drop in foster parent approval, and UMFS is working to empower flexible, caring adults who want to serve children but might be unsure of how foster care can work. We spoke with foster parent recruiter Katie Solvig for this Hear Together profile. You can listen at the audio link below and learn more about their services and becoming a foster parent at UMFS.org.
	Community Connection: VSDB	6/8/22-8/8/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 14 times	60 seconds	The Virginia School for the Deaf and the Blind (VSDB) in Staunton provides a superior education for students who are deaf/hard of hearing/blind/vision impaired/ deafblind, and deaf or blind with other disabilities. VSDB is now accepting applications for the 2022-2023 school year. Their comprehensive, state-aligned education programs serve students on their campus from ages 2 through 21 with residential and day options. At VSDB, students are "one of many" instead of being the only one, allowing students to grow, do, and become capable adults who succeed in post- secondary education, in the workforce, and as citizens in their communities. They invite you to explore their website at vsdb.k12.va.us to learn more about their unique educational programs, extra-curricular activities, Admissions process, and how to begin the referral process with your local school district.

Cancer	Community Connection: Swim Across America	6/8/22-8/26/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 14 times	60 seconds	Swim Across America funds cancer research, clinical trials and patient programs by hosting swim events across the country. On Saturday, August 27th, they are proud to partner with the VCU Massey Cancer Center to host the fourth annual, family friendly, swim - OR float - event along the James River. This year's swim has special meaning to event director Jay Peluso, as his sister Michele was recently diagnosed with Stage 3 Ovarian Cancer. Instead of shaving heads in solidarity, Michelle issued a challenge: to find and wear a crazy wig. She wants to laugh, she said. She is going to need to laugh. The idea was born to host a Crazy Wig Night at the Richmond Flying Squirrels, where her son, Chris, plays -- to help raise awareness -- and hopefully, the spirits of those fighting cancer. To learn more about Swim Across America and the Squirrels Crazy Wig event, you can visit The Richmond event page or simply Google Swim Across America Richmond. Massey is committed to making a future without cancer possible - one event. And one crazy wig and one laugh at a time - if that's what it takes.

Black history	Hear Together: Jefferson School African American Heritage Center	6/15/22-present	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 12 times	90 seconds	The Jefferson School is one of two remaining buildings from what was once Vinegar Hill—a 20-acre predominantly Black neighborhood in the heart of Charlottesville that was bulldozed in the '60s after being seized through eminent domain. It started as the only Black school in Charlottesville, only to be decommissioned when schools were desegregated. The alumni of the original school wanted a place that would celebrate the building's history, and by extension the Black history of Charlottesville, and the Jefferson School African American Heritage Center (JSAAHC) opened in 2013. Along with a permanent picture gallery that tells the story of Vinegar Hill, the JSAAHC offers rotating contemporary art exhibitions featuring artists of the diaspora, lectures, a film and theater program, as well as six annual public celebrations. It is also home to the Isabella Gibbons Local History and Digital Humanities Center, which researches the history of Albemarle County and the surrounding region from enslavement through the present. "There is a Vinegar Hill in every single city in America." We spoke with Leslie M. Scott Jones, assistant curator of education and public programs at JSAAHC, for this Hear Together profile. You can listen to the full segment at the audio link below and learn more about the Jefferson School at their website.

Aired approximately 10 times	60 seconds	Africa Community Exchange, or ACE Liberia, is a nonprofit in Richmond that trains and develops teachers in Liberia, a country recovering from a 14-year civil war. On July 1st, they're hosting their 9th annual Projekt for Progress at the Broadberry in Richmond, featuring funk guitar legend DJ Williams and his band the DJ Williams Projekt. Their work is meant to normalize the lives of youth in Liberia and most importantly, give them hope for brighter futures. Like 8th grader Karinia, who plans to be a teacher and 10th grader Jamesetta, who hopes to be a doctor. To learn more about this year's Projekt for Progress and more about their work, you can visit aceliberia.org .
Historical preservation	Community Connection: Rockfish Valley Foundation	6/14/22-7/2/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 10 times	60 seconds	The Rockfish Valley Foundation is presenting the fifth annual Old Wintergreen Days Outdoor festival on Sunday, July 3rd from 11 AM to 4 PM. They invite you to bring your entire family to Old Wintergreen at the Rockfish Valley Foundation Park on Route 151 in Nelson County. You can visit their Natural History Center, watch old-time crafts and music, and hear about Old Wintergreen's history. Donations will go to the Rockfish Valley Foundation for the upkeep of its trails and park. For more information, you can email peter@rockfishvalley.com . Charlottesville's annual independence day fireworks have always been funded by individuals and businesses in the community, and any additional money raised this year goes to support the work of CARS. For more information, you can go to the Events tab on their website at rescue1.org .
Volunteer EMS	Community Connection: Charlottesville-Albemarle Rescue Squad	6/14/22-7/2/22	Throughout the day. Aired approximately 11 times	60 seconds	The Charlottesville-Albemarle Rescue Squad (CARS) is a nonprofit in Charlottesville that has been providing volunteer rescue EMT service to our community since 1960. At any given time, CARS has over 110 active volunteers, who collectively donate over 60,000 hours of service. They are partnering with the Charlottesville Fireworks Group to bring the July 4th fireworks to Charlottesville this year. The fireworks will be shot off from Carter's Mountain so that anyone in the community who can see the antennas on the mountain can create their own viewing party.
