

Program Issues KUOW AM/FM, KQOW FM

September 2019

Issue	Specific Issue	Date	Duration	Air Time	Story	Content	Reporter
Health	medical care	9/3/2019	0:04:27	5-9am	Families, advocates sound alarm over patients stuck in the hospital without a medical need	Christopher Davis was lying on the floor watching cartoons one night last December while his mother, Beverly, decorated her Spokane home for Christmas. From time to time, she showed him a decoration. But Christopher, a 46-year-old developmentally disabled man, just pushed them away.	Austin Jenkins
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/3/2019	0:51:50	noon	Is a CBD bar legal?	Are CBD-infused food and drinks legal in Washington state? Why are America's working poor being sold a lie? And you can now get Narcan from a Washington pharmacy without a prescription, but should you?	Bill Radke

Program Issues KUOW AM/FM, KQOW FM

September 2019

Education	Public Schools	9/3/2019	0:04:48	noon	As Seattle kids head back to school, here are 4 big things to know	Kim Malcolm talks with Ann Dornfeld about what's in store for Seattle students and parents, as the school year begins on Wednesday.	Kim Malcolm, Ann Dornfeld
Arts & Life	books	9/3/2019	1:13:06	7pm & 11pm	It's a potentially sinister day in the neighborhood	Ann Leckie lets her imagination run wild, again	John O'Brien
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/4/2019	0:52:09	noon	Rick Steves wants you to reconsider the politics of travel	Should you travel as a political act? How a blood test can tell you about the health of your gut. The history of Seattle's Medic One paramedics. And what kind of bad movie makes for the best heckling.	Bill Radke

						The hacking of Twitter CEO Jack Dorsey last week put SIM swapping in the headlines. But it's not just high-profile people who are being SIM swapped. We continue our conversation with one woman who recently had her social media account hacked, and we check in with the security expert who helped unravel the mystery.
Technology	crime	9/4/2019	0:17:38	Podcast	More SIM swapping stories, and news from the Instagram whisperer		Deborah Wang
Arts & Life	sports	9/4/2019	0:08:41	3-6:30pm	Former Seahawk Doug Baldwin on depression, life after football, and his new mission in life	Kim Malcolm talks with former Seattle Seahawks wide receiver Doug Baldwin.	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst

Environment	animals	9/5/2019	0:04:14	5-9am	Swinomish tribe builds more homes — for clams	Native clams are harder to find these days along the Washington coast. To bring them back, the Swinomish Tribe of northwest Washington is reviving an ancient tradition: clam gardens. They're rock walls designed to make good habitat for clams, and they might also help protect the tribe from climate change.	Ellis O'Neill
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/5/2019	0:52:15	noon	How firearms retailers talk about suicide	A conversation between a firearms retailer and a firing range renter about looking for customers who may be suicidal. A debate over a proposal to create a regional governing board to respond to homelessness in King County. And a movie theater that needs a hug.	Bill Radke

Program Issues KUOW AM/FM, KQOW FM

September 2019

Arts & Life	food	9/5/2019	0:04:45	3-6:30pm	Try these hacks to up your lunch game	Uou might have everything ready for school, but what about your lunch game?	Kim Malcolm, Ruby de Luna
Politics	education, books	9/5/2019	1:34:16	7pm & 11pm	Good for you. Good for us. Common Good.	Robert Reich and Pramila Jayapal mark Labor Day at Town Hall Seattle	John O'Brien
Arts & Life	fall arts	9/6/2019	0:04:49	3-6:30pm	It's September! Time for the fall arts season to begin	September ushers in the Seattle area fall arts. This week, KUOW's Arts and Culture reporter Marcie Sillman highlights a few of the notable offerings this month from large organizations. Next week she'll turn her eye to smaller arts groups.	Marcie Sillman
Politics	elections	9/6/2019	0:05:25	5-9am	Friday politics	Angela King talks with Q13's C.R. Douglas and KIRO 7's Essex Porter about how the governor's race is shaping up.	Angela King

Arts & Life	Week in Review	9/6/2019	0:52:51	noon	We're rethinking next-day shipping this week	Bill Radke reviews the week's news with Jonathan Martin, investigations editor at the Seattle Times, Karen Weise, technology correspondent for the New York Times, and Melissa Santos, political reporter at Crosscut.	Bill Radke
Arts & Life	food	9/9/2019	0:04:28	3-6:30pm	Radical bake off: The one night SAM showcased edible pieces of art	You don't often see a baking competition in a museum. But that's what happened recently at the Seattle Art Museum. Two dozen professional and home bakers brought their sweet creations--inspired by artworks from the museum's exhibit called Victorian Radicals.	Ruby de Luna

Arts & Life	history	9/9/2019	0:04:12	3-6:30pm	Jumpers get their due nearly 75 years after wartime missions over Northwest	It's a story that seemingly has it all: a classified mission, dashing young men in uniform, leaps out of flying airplanes, stray bombs, plus some wildfires and a side of racial prejudice. The little-known slice of Pacific Northwest history featuring an all-black Army battalion is less likely to be overlooked now that the state of Oregon and people in Pendleton have put up a historical marker.	Tom Banse
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/9/2019	0:52:09	noon	Nerd humor with xkcd	Quick – can you scratch your head and laugh at the same time? A religious crusade to end the death penalty. And: why can't we have public options for everything?	Bill Radke
Business	books	9/9/2019	1:19:23	7pm & 11pm	Can we work toward a sustainable, equitable, democratic economy?	Marjorie Kelly says yes, we can. And explains how	John O'Brien

Health	mental health	9/10/2019	0:04:21	5-9am	Contempt orders, fines as developmentally disabled patients languish in local hospitals	In recent months, court commissioners on both sides of the Cascades have found the state of Washington in contempt, and even imposed fines, over access to state psychiatric care for people with severe developmental disabilities. The cases involve people who've been found to pose an imminent risk to themselves or others, but are languishing in local hospitals.	Austin Jenkins
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/10/2019	0:52:01	noon	The 2020 Census is upon us	How to make sure we're all counted. What's the best guidance on opioid prescribing? Turnaround time for a Bainbridge poet. And how dangerous are flavored e-cigarettes?	Bill Radke

Arts & Life	education	9/11/2019	0:07:12	5-9am	Clarence Acox, giant of Northwest jazz, leaves the stage	Angela King talks with longtime Garfield High School Jazz Band director Clarence Acox.	Angela King
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/11/2019	0:51:18	noon	After 9/11, a reminder that America has always been his home	The birth of a Sikh Captain America. A look inside the Northwest Detention Center (which has had a recent makeover, at least on the surface). All your maps are wrong. And if you have a Tesla Roadster in the Seattle area, you're in luck! One of the only mechanics left is here to help.	Bill Radke
Race	books, politics	9/11/2019	1:34:34	7pm & 11pm	Why Black Lives Matter still matters, and what to do about it	Keeanga-Yamahtta Taylor on the fight for black liberation and the root causes of racism and oppression	John O'Brien
Arts & Life	culture	9/12/2019	0:17:11	Podcast	Why do Seattleites complain so much?	Over the summer, the SoundQs team has gotten some questions that double as complaints about the Seattle region. It got us thinking	Deborah Wang, Caroline Chamberlain Gomez, Caroline Chamberlain Gomez

Arts & Life	Art of Our City, arts & life	9/12/2019	0:03:45	3-6:30pm	An arts reporter does the Puyallup	People have been “doin’ the Puyallup”—the Washington State Fair—for more than a century. What started as a showcase for livestock and agricultural products is now a three-week festival featuring live entertainment, carnival rides, and deep fried fast foods.	Marcie Sillman
Law	crime	9/12/2019	0:04:19	3-6:30pm	New shelter in jail building could serve low-level offenders in King County	Seattle and King County leaders announced a slate of proposals Thursday to address the problems of repeat criminal offenders who have been arrested repeatedly for low-level offenses.	Amy Radil
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/12/2019	0:52:32	noon	Race, gender, tennis, and Serena	The legacy of slavery in sport. AM radio yellers and late night liberal satire. And, after years of training children not to get in cars with strangers: are you willing to do it yourself?	Bill Radke

immigration	detention	9/12/2019	0:09:53	noon	What's inside the Northwest's immigration detention center	The Northwest Detention Center is now the Northwest ICE Processing Center. In over 15 years of existence, it's been the site of hunger strikes, allegations of misconduct, a lawsuit over detainee wages, and most recently an attack that turned deadly.	Esmey Jimenez
Arts & Life	museum	9/13/2019	0:06:36	3-6:30pm	Burke	The Burke Natural History museum turns the museum inside out.	Ross Reynolds
Arts & Life	Art of Our City, arts & life	9/13/2019	0:04:46	3-6:30pm	Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks: September small arts groups	September ushers in the Seattle area fall arts. KUOW's Arts and Culture reporter Marcie Sillman highlights some of the most promising offerings from smaller organizations.	Marcie Sillman

Politics	homeless	9/13/2019	0:04:11	5-9am	Friday politics:	KUOW's Angela King talks with Seattle Channel's Joni Balter and Q13's C.R. Douglas about new proposals to help ease the homelessness crisis in the Seattle metro area.	Angela King
Arts & Life	Week in Review	9/13/2019	0:51:38	noon	Another Democratic presidential debate and vaping fears this week	Bill Radke reviews the week's news with former Washington state Attorney General Rob McKenna, former state legislator Jessyn Farrell, and KIRO-TV reporter Essex Porter.	Bill Radke
Health	education	9/13/2019	1:24:11	7pm & 11pm	'One Doctor, Two Million Patients: Mental Health Care in Sub-Saharan Africa'	The U.S. and Mozambique might not be as different as you might think.	John O'Brien
Arts & Life	food	9/14/2019	0:03:28	3-6:30pm	Scones still a favorite	When you walk into the Washington State Fair, there are rows and rows of food booths to tempt you. But the fair wouldn't be complete without Fisher scones. The warm, buttery scones, slathered in raspberry jam have been a tradition for decades.	Ruby de Luna

Health	mental health	9/16/2019	0:04:38	5-9am	Developmentally disabled patients stuck in WA psychiatric hospitals with nowhere to go	This January, Carolyn Guinotte took her son Alan to the emergency room because he was unable to go to the bathroom. Alan is 30 years old, autistic and mostly non-verbal. But when it was time for Alan to get out of the hospital, Guinotte and her husband said they couldn't take him back. "It feels really horrible to say you can't take your own son back home," Guinotte said. "But if you can't provide the care he needs, what's the point?"	Austin Jenkins
Environment	climate change	9/16/2019	0:04:20	5-9am	Look to Alaska to see the future of climate change in the lower 48	Alaska, heating up twice as fast as the rest of the world, is the next best/worst thing to a climate-change time machine.	John Ryan

Arts & Life	Full Record	9/16/2019	0:52:31	noon	Educating an idealist on a messy world	How an idealist got caught up in the pragmatic slog of international policy. What teachers are paying to build supportive classrooms for your kids. And how Israel has made its way into American politics.	Bill Radke
Environment	mental health	9/16/2019	0:06:30	3-6:30pm	How the increasing threat of climate change can affect your mental health	Kim Malcolm talks with Dr. Lise Van Susteren about the emotional toll of climate change.	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst
Environment	climate change	9/17/2019	0:04:15	5-9am	Dead tree after dead tree': The case of the dying hemlocks (and cedars and maples)	When Jim and Judy Davis moved to their property in Granite Falls two and a half years ago, the trees in their 25-acre forest were healthy. Then the hemlocks started to turn brown.	Eilis O'Neill
Religion	law and courts, politics, books	9/17/2019	1:05:07	7pm & 11pm	'Some people think I'm a saint... 'til they know me.' -Sister Helen Prejean	'No religious leaders protested the killing that night. But I was there. I saw it with my own eyes. And what I saw set my soul on fire.'	John O'Brien

Arts & Life	Full Record	9/17/2019	0:52:11	noon	Should you be worried about your cat eating your face when you die?	We've got good news and bad news. A chat with the superintendent of Seattle schools, and a look at your home (which might be looking back at you).	Bill Radke
Environment	climate change	9/17/2019	0:04:25	3-6:30pm	3 things you can do right now to combat climate change	Kim Malcolm talks with the Nature Conservancy's James Schroeder about how small changes in our everyday lives can make a big difference in fighting climate change.	Kim Malcolm, Andy Hurst
Environment	climate change	9/18/2019	0:07:21	5-9am	Fear and action: Inslee says we need healthy doses of both on climate change	Washington Governor Jay Inslee talks about why his climate change message didn't break through in the presidential race, whether he'll endorse a candidate, and why the world's youth hold the key to stopping a climate catastrophe.	Angela King, Jason Pagano

Arts & Life	Full Record	9/18/2019	0:48:28	noon	Clyde Ford wants you to look at tech and Think Black	How to think differently in (and about) STEM. Did the college admissions scandal have any impact on the UW? And what it means to be an ungrateful refugee.	Bill Radke
Environment	climate change	9/19/2019	0:16:35	Podcast	How will global warming impact the Puget Sound Region, and what can we do about it?	SoundQs and RadioActive teamed up to answer two listener questions: How will climate change impact the Puget Sound Region, and what's the most effective way to take action against it?	Anna Boiko-Weyrauch, Hong Ta
Environment	climate change	9/19/2019	0:04:33	3-6:30pm	Local shellfish	Oysters are one of the iconic foods of the Pacific Northwest. But their survival is under serious threat thanks to ocean acidification, sometimes called the "evil twin" of climate change. Local shellfish growers are seeing firsthand the devastating impacts on oysters and other shellfish.	Ruby de Luna

Program Issues KUOW AM/FM, KQOW FM

September 2019

Arts & Life	Full Record	9/19/2019	0:52:14	noon	A check-in with a regional favorite	Orcas, arts, school failings, and inside Bill's brain.	Marcie Sillman
Environment	climate change	9/19/2019	0:03:39	5-9am	Amazon reveals dirty secret, promises quick action for climate	How dirty is Amazon's business?	John Ryan
Politics	books	9/20/2019	1:29:51		Samantha Power on 'the right kind of U.S. leadership'	'It's no secret that the cause of internationalism... has been a bit bruised'	John O'Brien
Arts & Life	Art of Our City, arts & life	9/20/2019	0:04:08	3-6:30pm	Museums, beerfests, and the autumn equinox: Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks September 20-22	Autumn arrives on Sunday evening, but the Seattle-area fall arts season is already in full swing. KUOW's Arts and Culture reporter Marcie Sillman offers these weekend highlights.	Marcie Sillman
Environment	climate change	9/20/2019	0:06:14	5-9am	Who will inherit the earth? And what kind of earth will that be?	As part of #CoveringClimateNow, the global media project to bring attention to the story of climate change, Seattle high school senior Jamie Margolin talked with KUOW about fear and effective action.	Angela King

Program Issues KUOW AM/FM, KQOW FM

September 2019

Arts & Life	Week in Review	9/20/2019	0:51:20	noon	Live from Edmonds, it's Week in Review!	Bill Radke reviews the week's news with Zaki Barak Hamid, KUOW's director of community engagement, Brandi Kruse, correspondent for Q13 News, and Charles Mudede, staff writer for The Stranger.	Bill Radke, Sarah Leibovitz
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/23/2019	0:52:30	noon	A chat with the internet's gynecologist	The line no one will cross with the internet's gynecologist. A look at the District 5 and 6 city council races. An ode to the wild. And the uneven profits of college athletic programs.	Ross Reynolds
Arts & Life	science, books, environment	9/23/2019	1:27:21	7pm & 11pm	Earnest storytelling from Cascadia Magazine	An evening of words and ideas on our relationship to nature and each other	John O'Brien

Arts & Life	Full Record	9/24/2019	0:52:13	noon	Bartell departs from downtown... sort of	What does it mean when you close one store due to crime, but leave two others in a four block radius? Mayor Durkan's new budget is out. And a Seattle woman struggles with whether or not she could have saved her son.	Bill Radke
Arts & Life	youth produced, RadioActive	9/24/2019	0:12:05	Podcast	Welcome to the void	The year is 1958. A string of disappearances leads intrepid junior reporter Mary Price out to investigate a mysterious tip. When her tape recorder is discovered years later, the story revealed shocks the world.	Simone St. Pierre Nelson, Marian Mohamed, Ayesha Mohammed

Arts & Life	Art of Our City, arts & life	9/25/2019	0:04:33	3-6:30pm	Artists are being squeezed out of Seattle; can the City figure out a way to keep them here?	Tracking down Archie's Capitol Hill home is a little bit like locating platform 9 ¾ to find the Hogwarts Express. The shabby space is behind a locked gate, down a brick alley. It's home to Archie, a musician in her twenties, and five other musicians and artists.	Marcie Sillman
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/25/2019	0:52:13	noon	How an Unbelievable story became a true crime drama	A new Netflix documentary. What are the grounds for impeachment? City cameras won't be watching you – anymore. And a new book from Malcolm Gladwell.	Bill Radke
Arts & Life	technology	9/26/2019	0:20:51	Podcast	Finding love is hard. But finding it in Seattle might be even harder.	What makes Seattle an especially challenging place to date?	Deborah Wang, Kyle Norris
Arts & Life	books	9/26/2019	1:29:06	7pm & 11pm	Rock star poet sings 'The Tiny Journalist' blues	Naomi Shihab Nye from Neve Shalom/Wāḥat as-Salām to Al-ki, Bye and Bye	John O'Brien

Health	medical care	9/26/2019	0:04:23	5-9am	13,000+ Washingtonians qualify for developmental disabilities services, but don't get them	Three years ago, Lindsey Topping-Schuetz became a first-time mother when her son Owen was born. He was six weeks early and went immediately to the neonatal intensive care unit, where he spent the next 103 days.	Austin Jenkins
Arts & Life	gentrification, arts & life, business	9/26/2019	0:03:22	3-6:30pm	The familiar beat of Seattle: reflections on a Seattle Jazz club' closing	Tula's Jazz club has been serving tunes and drinks in Seattle's Belltown neighborhood, six nights a week, for the past 26 years. But this Sunday, Tula's closes its doors for good.	Sonya Harris
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/26/2019	0:51:31	noon	Is a UFO by any other name still as alarming?	How a member of Blink-182 cracked the unidentified case. How could we keep kids in school? Seattle gets a new NHL team, and an immigrant writer confronts the violence of masculinity while imagining a better way.	Deborah Wang

Politics	elections	9/27/2019	0:03:54	5-9am	Boos and hisses at the Sawant-Orion debate at Saettle's Town Hall	Organizers urged the crowd to be quiet at last night's District 3 debate between Seattle City Councilmember Kshama Sawant and challenger Egan Orion. But the crowd wasn't having it.	David Hyde, Kate Walters
Arts & Life	Art of Our City, arts & life	9/27/2019	0:04:43	3-6:30pm	Fall art season is in full swing: Marcie Sillman's weekend culture picks September 27-29	The last weekend of September is actually the first weekend of the 2019-2020 arts season for many of the region's cultural organizations. KUOW's Arts and Culture reporter Marcie Sillman has these picks for your weekend entertainment.	Marcie Sillman
Health	vaping	9/27/2019	0:04:04	3-6:30pm	Washington state bans vaping	After a statewide outbreak of vaping related lung disease, Washington state will ban flavored vapor products by mid October.	Paige Browning

Arts & Life	Week in Review	9/27/2019	0:51:40	noon	Impeachment inquiry begins and a new tax proposal this week	Bill Radke reviews the week's news with Knute Berger, editor-at-large for Crosscut, Joni Balter, host of Seattle Channel's Civic Cocktail, and Nathalie Graham, staff writer at The Stranger.	Bill Radke
Arts & Life	food	9/30/2019	0:04:07	3-6:30pm	Meet the chef behind That Brown Girl Cooks!	You may not know Kristi Brown, but you might have had her black eyed pea hummus that's sold in many local supermarkets. Meet the chef behind That Brown Girl Cooks! and the inspiration behind her food.	Ruby de Luna
Arts & Life	Full Record	9/30/2019	0:51:06	noon	Through success and secrets, learning that you are Enough	A local cookbook author turns to essays. The increasingly fragmented internet. Tech in the ancient world. And you wanted to know: why is Seattle dating so terrible?	Bill Radke, Marcie Sillman