Establishment of an internship program designed to assist members of the community to acquire skills needed for broadcast employment:

FOX 2 College Internship Program

Since its inception in the late 1970s, diversity has been the foundation of the FOX College Internship Program, which was developed to attract and assist minority and female students, making the station a leader in the Detroit television broadcast market in this regard. WJBK FOX 2 continues to offer the most comprehensive program. Now, we accept the best of the best, which means a fewer number of students, but this allows each student to get the most out of this internship opportunity. Plus, this makes the program more exclusive, ultimately attracting the most qualified and ambitious juniors, seniors, and graduate students who are enrolled in journalism, broadcast journalism, and business curriculums. The students work a minimum of 15 hours per week and receive college credit at the successful conclusion of their internship. WJBK-FOX 2 has developed additional educational aspects to the program as a way to give the students the skills they need to acquire a position in the broadcast industry. WJBK-FOX 2 offers, broadcast writing seminars to help the students learn the correct way to write for television news. Qualified students also have the opportunity to work in all aspects of the station's operations, excluding technical positions under union mandate. Students are evaluated at the end of the internship and the evaluations are submitted to their respective college or university. As many former interns are hired by FOX 2, the College Internship Program remains an integral component of our recruitment arm.

Detroit Public Schools “Volunteer Reading Corp” Program

The Volunteer Reading Corps Program was a call to action on the heels of the unfortunate low test scores of Detroit Public School Students. The program focuses on helping the youngest learners with reading. The goal is to have all pre-kindergarten students and those thereafter read at or above grade level by the end of the third grade. WJBK-FOX 2 answered the call by providing support for students in their weekly reading assignments. Also, volunteering time to help students with homework and keeping in contact with the students to make sure they are on the learning track. To date, the program has 5,702 volunteers with a total of 685,712 hours volunteered.

Anqunette Jamison, Anchor

06/05/2013 – 08/04/2013 Participant, Detroit Public Schools “Volunteer Reading Corp” Program

Participation in job banks, Internet programs and other programs designed to promote outreach generally (i.e., that are not primarily directed to providing notification of specific job vacancies):

FOX 2 Job Shop

An unstable economy and high unemployment were the inspiration for the FOX 2 Job Shop, helmed by FOX 2 Anchor/Business Reporter Murray Feldman, which began in 1998 and quickly became a key component of all FOX 2 newscasts and myfoxdetroit.com. Metropolitan Detroit, in particular, was hit hard by the crumbling economy -- much of which was tied to turbulence in the auto industry; FOX 2 anticipated the community's need for such information first by airing “Job Shop” specials, that ultimately evolved into major franchise, with the “Job-A-Day” feature, plus thousands of other job postings, career advice, networking opportunities and job fairs designed to help put southeastern Michigan back to work. Job Shop's steady growth and popularity have made it the first stop for those seeking broadcast television jobs at FOX 2, as well, and is now an important feature at all FOX O & O stations.

Participation in scholarship program designed to assist students interested in pursuing a career in broadcasting:

Emma L. Bowen Foundation for Minority Interests in Media, Inc.

Established in 1989, the Emma L. Bowen Foundation for Minority Interests in Media is a non-profit organization whose mission is to create career opportunities in the media industry for minority youth through a program that focuses on scholastic achievement, direct work experience and professional development. Students in the program work in media companies each summer and during school breaks, from high school through college. The students earn both salaries and match scholarship funds to be used for college tuition and related expenses. Over a period of up to five years, the students experience numerous aspects of corporate operation and develop professional and practical skills that will help prepare them for their careers, many of which begin at the companies where the students interned. Fox Television Stations has been a corporate partner in this program since its inception and two of the Company's executives are on the Foundation's board.

Courageous Persuaders Video Scholarship Competition

Inspired by the numerous incidents of teen drunk and drugged driving in Metropolitan Detroit, FOX 2 joined forces with the Detroit Auto Dealers Association and local advertising agencies in its support of the Courageous Persuaders video scholarship competition. Courageous Persuaders harnesses peer pressure and youthful exuberance by inviting high school students to join in a creative and entertaining competition to make a TV commercial about the dangers of alcohol/substance abuse. Courageous Persuaders is about replacing negative, dangerous images from movies, commercials and television, which portrays drinking as "cool" with positive images that emphasize the dangers of underage and binge drinking. Not only does the Courageous Persuaders initiative provide high school students an opportunity to win scholarship money, but they are also viewed as role models by their peers and the younger middle school students who are the target audience for their message. The grand prize-winning commercial airs on TV as a public service announcement, and budding journalists get their first taste of broadcast TV.

Establishment of training programs designed to enable station personnel to acquire skills that could qualify them for higher level positions:

Fox Station Sales, an in-house national sales organization, maintains a program to train new sales account executives, which is actively supported by WJBK FOX 2's Sales Department. This program consists of both coursework and hands-on training.
