Floyd Galloway, Jr. ordered to stand trial for murder of Danielle Stislicki, after a two-day preliminary exam. Today, judge heard forensic evidence in the case, including DNA linking the victim to Galloway, Jr.'s home. Oakland County medical examiner testified there is sufficient evidence to show Stislicki died of violent assault. FBI agent also testified that on the day Stislicki disappeared, her phone and Galloways were in the area of his home before hers went off and his turned back on. Judge said there was overwhelming cause to bind Galloway over for trial. He's currently serving 18-35 years in prison for kidnapping, assault with intent to commit CSC and strangulation of a Livonia jogger in Sept. 2016. (2:00)

“20/20” reports on the controversial 2012 murder of Jaime Melgar who was stabbed inside his bedroom during what initially appeared to be a home invasion. His wife, Sandra, claims she blacked out during the incident and did not see or hear her husband being brutally attacked. But just last year, Sandra was convicted of killing Jaime, shocking her and her family. ABC News senior national correspondent Matt Gutman. (OAD: 11/30/18)

WXYZ FCC 3RD QUARTER 2019

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Friday, August 9, 2019 (Season Premiere)

- A deaf person is discriminated against while trying to order food in a restaurant. Will other diners stand up to the bully? DiMarco joins behind-the-scenes to watch the action. He reflects on the scenario which resembles his own experiences living as a deaf man.
- A woman is at a restaurant by the Mexico-United States border in El Paso, Texas with a young immigrant child, whom she is sponsoring in an effort to keep the child out of a detention facility. Another diner implies that the woman's efforts should be focused on American children who need help. How will bystanders react?
- A mother is at lunch with her hungry children near the border of Louisiana and Mississippi, the two states with the highest percentage of people living below the poverty line, where the level of food insecurity is staggering. The mother can only afford to split one meal between the three of them. Will other diners come to her aid?
- A supermarket bagger lacks basic grocery packing skills. How will shoppers react when their bread is squished, chips are sampled and eggs are stacked below canned goods?

Friday, August 16, 2019

- A woman is complaining about back pain while at a café with her husband and son. When she pours out far more prescription pills than a regular dose, her family tries to confront her about whether she's abusing the drug. As the situation grows increasingly tense and the woman becomes defensive, how will those who overhear the conversation respond?
- A handyman, played by a professional stunt actor, is standing on a ladder in a Las Cruces, New Mexico, mall when he suddenly falls and injures himself. A shopper who is obsessed with selfies takes photos and livestreams the accident instead of helping the man. Will other shoppers step in and help?
- A retired Army veteran is asked to leave a restaurant because his official service dog is with him. How will diners react?
- A cashier shames an elderly man for trying to pay for his groceries in coins. Will fellow shoppers in Picayune, Mississippi, stand up for the man?
- A man and woman are out on a first date. When the woman passes on a second meeting, her date insists they split the check. Will diners who overhear step in and take a side?

Friday, August 23, 2019

- A transgender woman is heading into the women's restroom when a mother, there with her daughter, protests and insists the woman uses the men's restroom. Will others step in and say something? Jazz watches with Quiñones behind the scenes and reflects on her own experience and struggles regarding bathroom choice.
- A white wrestling coach walks into a barbershop with a black teen from his team. The coach instructs the barber to cut off most of the young man's braids to avoid issues during competitions. The teen tries to protest but the coach insists. Will those in the shop defend the teenager's right to wear his hair as he prefers?
- A worker makes fun of a customer struggling to read from a café menu in Jasper, Alabama. How will others react to this scenario on adult illiteracy, an issue that effects 32 million adults in America?
- A shopper in a Kentucky supermarket checkout line keeps running back to grab one more item, consistently holding up other shoppers. How will the delayed customers respond?

WXYZ FCC 3RD QUARTER 2019

Friday, August 30, 2019

- A young woman outside a bar is trying to locate her hired rideshare car when she is approached by a man with a different name and vehicle than what is listed on her app. Will others let the woman get in the car?
- A mother is taking photos of her daughter on a gym rowing machine so she can pretend on college applications that her daughter is on her high school's rowing team. The mother even admits that she got the idea by reading about "Operation Varsity Blues." How will others at the gym react?
- Three teenagers are having lunch at a restaurant. When one with a severe peanut allergy leaves for the bathroom, his friends decide to prank him by adding grinded nuts to his milkshake. Will other customers step in?
- A child at an alligator farm in Gibson, Louisiana, tells his father that he is too afraid to hold a baby alligator. The father is disappointed in his son and tells the boy he should act like a man. How will others visiting the farm react?
- A man at a Las Cruces, New Mexico, mall trips while holding several wads of cash, sending the money into the air. As he quickly tries to collect the bills a woman steps in to help but also pockets some of the money for herself, without the man noticing. Will shoppers call the woman out for her behavior?

Friday, September 6, 2019

- Two white teens are bullying a black teenage girl and her white male friend, telling her she doesn't fit in with her white friend. How will others in the Decatur, Alabama, restaurant react to the racial bullying?
- As the viral Facebook event dubbed "Storm Area 51: They Can't Stop All of Us" approaches, a person who believes in life outside Earth and a nonbeliever go head-to-head in the New Mexico Space Museum. Will others at the museum take a side?
- A young woman excitedly tells her parents about a DNA test she received as a gift. As she begins to read them the results, she's surprised to learn that her roots do not match those of her parents. She questions her parents, who eventually reveal she was conceived with the help of a sperm donor. How will others react?
- A young child takes cash out of her mother's wallet when she steps away from the table. The child draws on the money and then rips it up, calling it confetti. Will fellow diners stop the child?
