KENTUCKY NEWSMAKERS (local public affairs program)

Host – Bill Bryant. 30-minute programs with various community leaders and politicians discussing issues facing our city and state, during October, November, and December 2006.

GUEST: Jon Akers, Kentucky Center for School Safety
DATE: Saturday, October 7, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: An attack on a school in a peaceful Amish Community leaves five students dead and another school shooting in Colorado bring urgent attention to the safety of our schools. Seldom a day goes by without some incident at an American school. Guns and other weapons are often brought to campus and as we've seen lately sometimes the results are horrible. School busses are often unruly as well as drivers struggling between safety on the road and discipline on the bus. Kentucky operates the center for School Safety headquartered at ECU in Richmond – former High School Principal Jon Akers heads up the Center.

GUEST: Billy Harper, (R) Candidate for Governor
DATE: Saturday, October 14, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: He's the first candidate for Governor already on the air with spots for the 2007 race. Western Kentucky businessman Billy Harper is running for the Republican nomination challenging incumbent Governor Ernie Fletcher. Harper served as Chairman of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce during the time the 1990 Kentucky Education Reform Act was being designed and passed by the legislature and he pushed for it. In fact, Harper says it's education that's driving him into the race for Governor. He's hired consultants who worked for Arnold Schwarzenegger and has started traveling the state. Who is Billy Harper and what does he stand for?

GUESTS: Senator Alice Forgy Kerry, (R) Candidate for Re-Election
Judge James Keller, (D) State Senate Candidate
DATE: Saturday, October 21, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: It's one of the biggest battles in Campaign 2006, Lexington Republican State Senator Alice Forgy Kerr trying to hold off a challenge from Democrat and Former Judge James Keller.

GUESTS: Nick Rowe, Kentucky American Water Company
Bill Lear, Attorney for Kentucky American Water Company
Foster Ockerman, Jr., For Local control of Water
Foster Pettit, For local control of Water
DATE: Saturday, October 28, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: It's been a major and divisive issue in Lexington for more than four years. Now voters get their chance to weigh in on who should control the water works in Lexington. Every community has its tough issues during this fall campaign season, but few have been as contentious as Lexington's water battle. It's really over who should have the right to draw water from the river, purify it and deliver it to your tap or garden hose. For 100 years in Lexington that's been done by a private business – Kentucky American Water says it provides quality service, makes a profit and serves the community well. Many in the community believe the water pumps and pipes should be controlled by the local government, some say water is a natural resource like air and shouldn't be left to the business world.

GUESTS: Mayor Teresa Isaac, Candidate for Re-Election
Jim Newberry, Candidate for Lexington Mayor
DATE: Saturday, November 4, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: After months of running and campaigning, the Lexington Mayor's race ends with a joint appearance featuring the two candidates for the city's top office. Three days until election day and voters will finally decide who'll lead Lexington over the next four years. The guests are well acquainted with many issues confronting Lexington and the Bluegrass region including growth and traffic, the water ownership question, immigration, public safety and economic development. The city is getting ready for the 2010 World Equestrian Games and the opportunities and challenges that represents.

GUESTS: Jim Newberry, Lexington Mayor-Elect
Jim Gray, Lexington Vice-Mayor-Elect
DATE: Saturday, November 11, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: The city elects a new Mayor and Vice-Mayor. Jim Newberry defeated incumbent Mayor Teresa Isaac by a margin of 63 to 67 percent. He won precincts in all parts of town and assumes the office with a clear mandate from the voters. Jim Gray becomes Vice Mayor after outdistancing all others for the Urban County Council at Large. His victory was convincing and came after a campaign that included television spots that looked more like ads for a Presidential candidate than somebody running for council. In the months ahead they'll face Lexington's growth, traffic and public safety issues and they'll work to get the region ready for the World Equestrian games.

GUEST: Tracy Campbell, "Deliver the Vote"
DATE: Saturday, November 18, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: We've just gone through an election cycle and once again there are questions about whether the votes counted are the votes cast. There have been numerous complaints about alleged irregularities. Tracy Campbell, Author of "Deliver the Vote" says that's nothing new and that American elections have always been followed by questions. In many cases there is clear evidence that fraud has been decisive in who leads us.

GUEST: Craig Williams, Nerve Gas Watchdog
DATE: Saturday, November 25, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:15 am
TOPIC: The Pentagon proposes pushing back the destruction of nerve agent stored at the Blue Grass Army Depot. Craig Williams has long fought to rid Central Kentucky of nerve agents. Nearly 80,000 people live in Madison County with daily concerns about more than 500 tons of nerve agent stored nearby. In fact, since 9/11 concerns have increased about the Blue Grass Army Depot as a potential terrorist target. Everything seemed on track for an elaborate plan to neutralize the weapons, but now a new and strange twist as the Pentagon proposes pushes back the deadline several years and pulling back on the money to get it done.

GUEST: Caleb O. Brown, Kentucky Votes.Org
DATE: Saturday, November 25, 2006
TIME: 11:15-11:30 am
TOPIC: Literally hundreds of issues will come up in the coming months as lawmakers report to Frankfort for the odd year session. It will all come in the pressure cooker of a Gubernatorial election year. What issues will come before the Kentucky Legislature in just a few weeks? Already dozens of laws have been proposed and pre-filed.

GUEST: U.S. Rep. Ben Chandler, (D) Kentucky 6th District
DATE: Saturday, December 2, 2006
TIME: 10:30-11:00 am
TOPIC: After an agonizing few weeks, Congressman Ben Chandler decides to stay where he is and represent Kentucky in Washington. While many have thought his ambition in life was to be Governor of the Commonwealth, Ben Chandler is saying "not this time around." Elected and re-elected to Congress, Chandler is focusing on what he can accomplish as a member of the new Democratic majority. What does he think of Speaker to be Nancy Pelosi, will he work to pull the Democrats to the center of issues confronting the nation? Will the war in Iraq take a different turn now?

GUEST: Tom Martin, Editor in Chief of the publication website Bizlex.com
DATE: Saturday, December 9, 2006
TIME: 10:30-10:40 am
TOPIC: Tom Martin is here to talk some business issues with us. He gave a pulse reading on business issues facing Lexington and the Commonwealth.

GUEST: Dr. Steve Henry, Former Lt. Governor
DATE: Saturday, December 9, 2006
TIME: 10:40-11:00 am
TOPIC: Dr. Henry says he'll soon be a Candidate for Governor. He served two terms in Kentucky's number two post as Lt. Governor and made a bid for the U.S. Senate. Along the way, he married Miss America Heather French Henry and his already fast paced life became a whirlwind. In recent years, Dr. Henry has been practicing medicine, helping raise his young family and considering his return to public life.

GUEST: Jonathan Miller, Democrat candidate for Governor
DATE: Saturday, December 16, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am
TOPIC: State Treasurer Jonathan Miller, elected twice statewide now embarks on the biggest campaign of his life. Jonathan has decided to take the unusual step of trying to move up from the office of State Treasurer to Governor of the Commonwealth. Miller enters the race knowing full well that the democratic primary could be crowded.

GUEST: Sylvia Lovely, Kentucky League of Cities
DATE: Saturday, December 23, 2006
TIME: 11:00-11:30 am

TOPIC: As the peace of the holidays sets in many families and friends will discuss how things are going in their community. Most Kentuckians live in the city limits of one of hundreds of cities and towns, even those who don't depend on the nearby 'Ville or 'Burg for shopping and services. So what challenges is your hometown facing right now? Trends show it's tough going for cities, citizens want more services, workers want more salary and benefits and leaders want more flexibility in how they can levy taxes and grow.

GUEST: Dave Adkisson, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce

DATE: Saturday, December 30, 2006

TIME: 11:00-11:30 AM

TOPIC: What is the business outlook for Kentucky for 2007? What issues are likely to come before the general assembly that may affect the bottom line? Kentucky has it challenges, our unemployment rate is above the national average and we trail other states in luring high paying professional jobs.

HEALTHFIRST MAGAZINE

Once a month half-hour program hosted by Jerry Sanders. Local doctors discussed various health issues during fourth quarter of 2006.

GUESTS: Dr. Elvis Donaldson, Cancer Specialist
Dr. David Hager, OB-GYN
DATE: Sunday, October 8, 2006
TIME: 6:30-7:00 pm
TOPIC: Cancer vaccine and the controversy over it

GUESTS: Dr. Graham Bundy, Cardio-Thoracic Surgeon
DATE: Sunday, October 22, 2006
TIME: 6:30-7:00 pm
TOPIC: The heart is a mechanical marvel – a pump basically that sends blood circulating throughout our bodies. Hearts do break...literally. Sometimes something goes wrong with one or more of the four valves that control the flow of blood thru the heart, valves that open and close like the locks in a canal or river. When that happens, those valves need to be surgically replaced.

GUESTS: Dr. James Bean, Neurosurgeon
Dr. Michael Webb, Neurosurgeon
DATE: Sunday, November 26, 2006
TIME: 6:30-7:00 pm
TOPIC: Minimally invasive surgical techniques are quickly becoming the gold standard in operations. Many procedures that used to require large incisions and a long recovery time are being done through three or four tiny cuts at strategic points in the body – sometimes just requiring a few band-aids over stitches. That trend is even picking up in Neurosurgery with procedures on the back.

GUEST: Dr. David Bensema, Internal Medicine Specialists
DATE: Sunday, December 14, 2006
TIME: 6:30-7:00 pm
TOPIC: In Central Kentucky some hospitals are cutting services while others are embarking on multi-million dollar construction projects. Central Baptist Hospital has been making noises about what its planning for a piece of property at Hamburg Pavilion. Treatments in hospitals are changing, keeping pace with evolving medical technology.

| October 3 | Lexington Police are looking for a masked man, but it's not too difficult to tell what he looks like – the mask is clear! Police say this man walked into the Shell Station on Harrodsburg Road, approached the clerk and implied he had a gun. When the clerk steps back from the register, you can see the man take the money out of the register's drawer – then takes off. |
| October 10 | Police need your help identifying a masked robber they believe hit two Lexington fast food restaurants last year. The KFC on Nicholasville Road was robbed in September of last year and the Captain D's on North Mt. Tabor was held up in October. In both robberies a masked man implied he had a weapon, put the employees in the freezer, and stole from the cash register |
| October 17 | Lexington police need your help finding two men wanted for a deadly drive-by shooting. Police say someone in a gold minivan fired a shot on Hawkins Avenue this summer, killing Theartrice Wortham. Police say there were several witnesses, but so far, no one has come forward. |
| October 24 | Lexington Police continue to search for the people responsible for vandalizing a tribute to a victim of Flight 5191. If you have any information please call Crimestoppers at 859-253-2020 |
| October 31 | The Secret Service says someone in Lexington is passing fake one-hundred-dollar bills. They are asking for your help, so they can put a stop to it |
| November 7 | The police are looking for a man who waited until the coast was clear then asked the employee of the Life Uniforms Store on Waller Avenue to give him all the money in the register. By the looks of the video, you can hardly tell a robbery is taking place. Police say as he was leaving the clerk heard something most robbery victims don't – the suspect said he was sorry. Next day a Dollar Store was robbed and police think it may be the same suspect – but no apology that time |
| November 14 | A bank robbery is caught on tape, now police hope you may recognize the suspect. Mt. Sterling police say a man walked into the Traditional Bank this morning, showed a teller a gun and asked for money. Police say the whole incident took only a minute. The bank is located next to the interstate, so police believe he may be from out of town |
| November 21 | A shoplifting case turns into a felony investigation for Lexington Police. Police say the man in a khaki jacket and Cincinnati shirt milled around Ulta Salon on October 9 th – you can see on the video that he picked up | some products and puts them in his pocket and walks out. Some of the merchandise, salon products, were rather expensive – which makes this shoplifting a felony. Police need your help to find him

- November 28 Police have video and need your help in finding him. A person had a car broken into and inside the car some money was taken, credit cards and Speedway gift cards that was on Andover Drive. Police say on October 5th this woman was caught on tape using the Speedway gift cards and credit cards stolen from the car. Police don't know who this woman is, do you?
- December 5 Police say someone is taking advantage of the elderly in Lexington. A woman stole credit cards from several residents at Richmond Place in Lexington. Police say she's used the cards at Sears, Walgreen's and Dicks Sporting Goods. The cards were taken from the resident's rooms, so she might be an employee at Richmond Place or someone who visits a relative there. If you can put a name to this face, police want to hear from you.
- December 12 Police need your help as they continue to search for a man they believe is responsible for two rapes in Lexington. There are similarities in the two cases. The alleged rapes both happened near the University of Kentucky campus, one on University Drive and the other on Con Terrace in the early morning hours. If you have any information or suspect someone, the police want to hear from you
- December 19 Witnesses told police that a man took a brown paper bag in a bank and told them to put money in it. The man is wearing a grey hooded sweatshirt and police say a scarf covering his face. Police say he told the teller to fill his bag with money. After they did, he left on a blue moped with a Crete on the back. If you have information or suspect someone, the police want to hear from you
