National Coverage, Local Focus

SDPB, PBS & NPR working to keep you informed.

Get local news, updates, and resources at SDPB.org/COVID. Text SDPB your questions about the pandemic at 605-956-7372 or look up our question of the day and send a response. We want to hear from South Dakotans. Need help? SDPB has state resource links available or call the South Dakota COVID info hotline 1-800-997-2880.

Find video and national news from PBS programs and resources with timely and relevant information on the spread of the virus. Content includes a new primetime program, PBS NewsHour Confronting Coronavirus, which features interviews with officials and a virtual town hall with curated questions from across the nation; an upcoming documentary, FRONTLINE Coronavirus Pandemic, on the government's response to the outbreak; and a new episode of PBS Digital Studios' It's OK to be Smart focusing on the prevention of spreading germs.

COVID-19

Additional online resources are available from PBS.org, PBS KIDS and PBS LearningMedia to help adults and children understand the virus and ways to prevent infection. As many families and teachers face school closures, PBS KIDS and PBS

LearningMedia are offering a variety of tools to help support learning at home.

SDPB.org/COVID provides a direct link to NPR's up-to-the-minute news coverage on the pandemic from trusted reporters around the globe.

SDPB is made up of individuals who care about the information you receive. We are working hard to ensure the information provided to you continues to uphold the standards of trust, accuracy, and value that viewers have received from their public media stations for years. We are all in this together. We are South Dakota.

SDPB Learners Connection

Schools across South Dakota are closed due to the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak. This is resulting in thousands of students learning with modified educational instruction. South Dakota Public Broadcasting has FREE educational resources for learners in preschool through high school, to help with at-home learning.

In an effort to provide students with educational programs, WORLD Channel (SDPB2-TV) offers at-home learning opportunities for grades 6-12 weekdays from 11am - 4pm CT. SDPB provides a weekly schedule document at SDPB.org/learnersconnection that contains clickable links to resources that align with these programs.

At SDPB.org/learnersconnection parents and students will find a bounty of free resources: distance learning activities and lesson plans for K-12 students, crafts for kids, kitchen classroom ideas, free learning apps, selected online articles, and links to resources for your little learners.

Need even MORE resources? PBS LearningMedia.org

Inspire your learners with thousands of free teaching resources including videos, lesson plans, and games aligned to state and national standards. PBS LearningMedia curates learning opportunities for students of all ages.

Find the weekly SDPB WORLD schedules with clickable resource links at SDPB.org/learnersconnection.

Early Learning Initiative

For little learners SDPB offers SDPB.org/ELI

The goal of the SDPB Early Learning Initiative (ELI) is to prepare children for Kindergarten. Without a formal, funded and standards-based preschool program available to students across the state, SDPB ELI fills the gap and prepares children for the first step of their education.

“At many times throughout their lives, children will feel the world has turned topsy-turvy. It’s not the ever-present smile that will help them feel secure. It’s knowing that love can hold many feelings, including sadness, and that they can count on the people they love to be with them until the world turns right side up again.” – Fred Rogers

THE PRAIRIE DOC GOES HOME

Richard Powell Holm, M.D. passed away Sunday, March 22, 2020, at home under hospice care, surrounded by his family. He was 71.

Driven by his passion for providing ethical, science-based medical information, Rick founded a variety of programs including a weekly Prairie Doc® Radio show, a weekly Q&A television show, On Call with the Prairie Doc® broadcast on SDPB, and Prairie Doc® Perspectives weekly column published in more than 120 newspapers in five states including South Dakota, North Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas.

Rick authored two books, The Picture of Health: A View from the Prairie with Judith Peterson, M.D. and Life's Final Season: A Guide for Aging and Dying with Grace.

Rick practiced medicine in Brookings for nearly 40 years. He served as the hospice medical director in Brookings until the time of his death.

Rick guested weekly on SDPB's In the Moment with Lori Walsh. From this partnership, a friendship grew. Lori Walsh shares her tribute to Dr. Holm with us.

Dr. Rick Holm and SDPB's Lori Walsh.

Remembering Rick

by Lori Walsh

Dr. Rick Holm would be the first person to tell you he lived a spectacular life. He followed his own advice — exercise every day, eat fewer calories, connect with others. He lived well and laughed often. And yet he knew he was going to die. For years, he prepared himself and the people around him for a meaningful death.

Please understand, that doesn't mean his death was easy. It wasn't free of suffering. But a difficult death cannot erase one moment of a beautiful life. That's worth considering right now.

Because here we are, remembering Rick and fearing death in ways we didn't know possible. What does his legacy teach us about how to face our own fears?

Here's what I know. Rick Holm was willing to "hop to the next lily pad" and have faith that another lily pad would soon appear. Rick Holm was willing to "Snoopy dance" every day, brimming with joy and gratitude no matter how grim the future appeared. He was vibrant and devoted and unafraid to show up, even when he was frail, even when he was frightened.

Let's all do that too. Let's do the next right thing and celebrate every day we are healthy, every day we are together. Let's support honest, science-based information. Let's despise poverty and inequity. Let's do the difficult things because the difficult things save lives. Let's sing every now and again, because singing is good for the soul.

The last words I said to Rick were "I love you." Those were the last words he said to me too. You don't often hear people say that on the radio. I'm glad we did.

The work of the Healing Words Foundation, the work of Rick and Joanie Holm, goes on. We can still tune in to On Call with the Prairie Doc® on SDPB TV. Rick's voice is amplified through the voices of others. When you remember Rick, remember them, support them. If we didn't already know our South Dakota doctors are heroes, let's prove we know that now.

I also enjoy listening back to our conversations on In the Moment, and I invite you to do the same. We talked about taking care of yourself, about staying active, about being clear about what kind of life you want to live and what kind of death is worth embracing. He was unflinching in conversation and uncompromising in compassion. He was kind. He was funny.

Rick wanted to be remembered as a father who read to his kids. If you want to be a good guy, he said, read to your children. They are better human beings for it. That's how I'm spending my days right now. Loving my daughter. Laughing with her. Noticing how the books we spent hours with when she was younger have helped create the thoughtful, kind, fierce woman she is today.

We are together, huddled here on this metaphorical lily pad, dancing a dance of our own making, saying "I love you" in a million shimmering ways. This is our wish for all of you, no matter how heavy grief feels draped about your shoulders right now.

Love. Sing. Connect. You also might want to get a little exercise. A mile a day really does make a world of difference.

New episodes of On Call with the Prairie Doc® with Rick's team of Prairie Docs, will continue to air Thursdays at 7pm (6 MT) on SDPB1.

Shortly after his diagnosis of pancreatic cancer, Rick and Joanie, co-founders of the Healing Words Foundation established a plan to continue their legacy of service. Rick and Joanie took steps to assure that the work of the Prairie Doc® will go on. Four physicians from Brookings have agreed to take on the role of hosting Prairie Doc® radio and television programs, as well as authoring the weekly newspaper essays. Rick wanted everyone to know that, while he originally developed the Prairie Doc® programs and had been known by many as "THE" Prairie Doc®, he felt he was always surrounded by a "team of Prairie Docs."

Host and award-winning chef Vivian Howard digs deeper into the lesser-known roots of Southern food, Southern cooking, and Southern living. Each episode of Somewhere South explores the connectivity of a single dish, and the ways people of different backgrounds interpret that dish while expressing the complex values, identities, and histories that make up the American South. In May, she travels to Florida for smoked mullet and Texas for barbecue with Japanese and Mexican twists.

On September 5, 1929, the New York Yankees, led by their star player Babe Ruth, played an exhibition game against the inmate baseball team at Sing Sing prison. This new documentary, Babe Ruth at Sing Sing, examines the backstory - exploring the social history of the era by weaving back and forth between the careers of Babe Ruth, the major sports figure of his day, and Lewis Lawes, who as warden of Sing Sing was considered "America's Warden."

H2o: The Molecule That Made Us is a landmark, three-part series that tells the human story through our relationship to water. We find out how our success is intimately connected to our control of the molecule, but that the growth of our civilizations has also created a dangerous dependence on a precious resource.

Follow along every Sunday night on SDPB with the nurses, midwives and nuns from Nonnatus House on the ninth season of Call the Midwife. This year, the medics and midwives encounter new challenges as the population shifts, rules change, and old diseases return. Meanwhile, their own experiences are fueled by love, loss and doubt. Don't miss an episode of the critically acclaimed BBC series in one of its most exciting seasons yet. SDPB1: Sundays at 7pm (6 MT)

Expedition with Steve Backshall

Head into the unknown with naturalist Steve Backshall as he journeys to the world's last unexplored places and faces challenges around the globe, encountering extraordinary wildlife and meeting remarkable people along the way.

Starting May 6, binge episodes 7-10 starting the night of the broadcast premiere. Episodes 1-6 are also available with Passport.

Walter's Choice on Passport

Walter's Choice is a curated collection on Passport of award-winning international drama, hand-picked by Walter Iuzzolino, a TV aficionado who scours the globe for compelling hits. Presented in their original languages with English subtitles.

Resistance – Based on true events. The story of a group of young heroes fighting for freedom from German Nazi occupation in WWII.

Professor T – Belgian TV series about an eccentric professor who is an advisor to the police.

Line of Separation – Gripping historical drama exploring the devastating and sobering effects that decades of conflict had on the close-knit German communities after World War II.

Passport is available for $5/month. Visit SDPB.org/passport for details.

By virtually every yardstick, antisemitism in the US and Europe is rising and worsening in ways not seen since the 1930s. It comes in the forms of vandalism, social media abuse, assault and murder. Like a virus, it mutates and evolves across cultures, borders and ideologies, making it all but impossible to stop. Filmmaker Andrew Goldberg explores its infectious behavior in his film Viral: Antisemitism in Four Mutations as he travels through four countries to speak firsthand with victims, witnesses, antisemites, and interviewees including Bill Clinton, Tony Blair, Fareed Zakaria, George Will and Deborah Lipstadt.

For more than a decade, Henry Louis Gates, Jr. has explored the ancestry of dozens of influential people from diverse backgrounds, taking millions of viewers deep into the past to reveal the connections that bind us all. In Finding Your Roots Beyond the Pale, Henry Louis Gates, Jr. explores the Jewish heritages of actor Jeff Goldblum, radio host Terry Gross and comedian Marc Maron, uncovering previously unknown stories that show each shares much more with their ancestors than a religious tradition.

Hedy Lamarr never publicly talked about her life as an inventor and so her family thought her story died when she did. However, in 2016, director Alexandra Dean and producer Adam Haggiag unearthed four never-before-heard audio tapes of Lamarr speaking on the record about her incredible life, finally giving her the chance to tell her own story in American Masters Hedy Lamarr. Described as the most beautiful woman in the world, Lamar was also an ingenious inventor. Her pioneering work helped revolutionize modern communication, including WiFi, GPS and Bluetooth.

Singer/songwriter Thao Nguyen, of Thao & The Get Down Stay Down, grew up in Falls Church, VA, and first picked up a guitar at age 12. She began performing in a pop country duo in high school and spent most of her 20s touring. Nobody Dies, directed by Todd Krolczyk follows Thao and her mother as they visit Vietnam, a first for both: Thao’s first time in the country and her mother’s first time since the Vietnam War. As Thao explores the country of her parents, she experiences a deeper understanding of the cultural influences that shaped her family, the impact it had on her music and her relationship with her mother.

THE MIDDLE OF EVERYWHERE

CONNECTING RURAL SOUTH DAKOTA

New SDPB documentary premieres this fall.

In 1878, Deadwood, South Dakota had a small operating telephone exchange. At the time, San Francisco didn't have a major exchange. Even the White House didn't have a telephone.

The Middle of Everywhere – Connecting Rural South Dakota, a new 60-minute documentary premiering this fall, explores the history and ongoing work of services – from basic electrical service and early telephone exchanges, to cell phone technology and broadband Internet – that keep rural South Dakota connected to the world.

The Middle of Everywhere – Connecting Rural South Dakota presents milestones in transportation, energy, and communication infrastructures. The wiring of South Dakota farms and ranches between the 1930s and 1960s changed the agriculture industry and rural life almost immeasurably. The construction of hydroelectric dams on the Missouri River provided a reliable source of renewable energy. Farm-to-market road improvements reached a high point with the construction of I-29 and I-90, South Dakota's intersecting Interstate connection to the rest of America.

Various people in South Dakota experimented with radio as early as 1912, and many of those stations continue to operate today, including KGFX, WNAX and KUSD. The Middle of Everywhere shares the stories of how radio, and later television, kept South Dakotans informed and entertained during both good times and bad.

SDPB's new documentary considers ongoing communication issues in rural South Dakota. Most of the state has had cell phone service for some time, and high-speed Internet is available in most larger towns, but most rural areas still do not have broadband access. A state-backed "rural broadband initiative" has been implemented to address that issue and the success of it remains unmeasured.

South Dakotans who can access and use social media are finding creative uses for Facebook, Twitter, and other platforms.

The Middle of Everywhere – Connecting Rural South Dakota shares conversations with rural people using social media to keep their communities connected during uncertain times and amid issues that include rural population loss, a new pandemic threat in the form of COVID-19, and the forever challenge of maintaining a healthy ag-based economy.

Missing Sports? So is SDPB.

The 2020 spring high school sports season has been a bit different. To combat the blues sports fans are feeling, SDPB is re-broadcasting some of the greatest South Dakota high school state tournament basketball games on SDPB2-TV/ WORLD. The South Dakota Public Broadcasting sports archives go back to 2002, when SDPB received the contract to broadcast SDHSAA state championship events. These games will air Sundays at 2pm/1 MT on SDPB2-TV.

More high school games are also being shared on the SDPB Sports Facebook page and @SDPBsports on Twitter. SDPB's Nate Wek is searching archives of other South Dakota sources for even more historic sports events.

Tanner Bordeaux-Two Strike Featured on Sesame Street

Tanner and his grandparents, Elroy and Sandra Two-Strike of Rosebud, are featured on Big Bird's Road Trip, a recurring segment on Sesame Street.

by Vi Waln

Last summer, Sesame Street producers contacted the Valentine Elementary School in Nebraska to let them know their town was selected for an episode of the series.

Many families were contacted about the Sesame Street series. "We had to do an initial video, and two of my boys were picked in the first bunch," said Annisa Bordeaux, of Valentine, NE. "Many videos and pictures later, taken at all kinds of locations, they let us know Tanner, our 10-year-old son who is in 5th grade, was selected to be in the series. It's been a long wait. I'm thankful for my experience in marketing, advertising, taking photos and videos because it helped in every step of this process. I kept in contact with the producer Jeri Rafter, a producer based out of Montana for our regional area."

The Sesame Street episode, There's a New Count in Town begins by showing a map of Nebraska and some cornstalks. In the video, Tanner and his family, including his brothers, parents, as well as grandparents Elroy and Sandra Two Strike in Rosebud, are all shown. The video also has a few scenes from Valentine.

"We are proud that Valentine was chosen out of all the towns/cities in Nebraska," Bordeaux stated. "We are very proud of our boys and specifically Tanner for presenting himself so well. It's pretty cool to see Rosebud, scenes from Two Strike, and his grandparents as well."

"I think it's an awesome thing as one of our young Rosebud Sioux Tribal citizens is in a national kids video series," she continued. "Sesame Street is now celebrating 50 years."

"You can now mention that you know of that lil' Bordeaux-Two Strike kid being on Sesame Street! Give Tanner a high five next time you see him! He can be found at basketball practice, on the golf course, looking to the stars, always going full blast," Bordeaux added.

Vi Waln (Sicangu Lakota) is an award-winning journalist and editor of Lakota Times newspaper. This story originally appeared in Lakota Times.

How to Listen to SDPB on Your Smart Speaker

Smart speakers are hands-free, wi-fi connected speakers controlled by voice commands. The most popular devices include Apple HomePod, Amazon Echo, and Google Home. However, other smart speakers are in development including Samsung with voice assistant "Bixby" and Microsoft with voice assistant "Cortana."

To use the hands-free device, you speak a trigger phrase – such as "Hey Siri," "OK Google," or "Alexa" — and then ask a question or make a request. The speakers are powered by voice assistants like Siri and Alexa that talk back.

If you own an Amazon Echo, listening to SDPB Radio is as simple as saying "Alexa, play NPR." The device might ask what station you wish to listen to, and in that case answer "SDPB Radio." You may also answer with the call letters of your nearest SDPB radio station – "KUSD," "KESD," "KBHE," etc. See SDPB's radio coverage map on the back of this magazine for assistance.

If you own a Google Home smart speaker, TuneIn continues to be the default radio stream provider. Say "OK Google, play SDPB on Tune In." The voice assistant known as "Siri" powers all Apple platforms. You will need to open the Apple Music app and choose SDPB Radio's stream to hear local programming.

For more information about smart speakers, visit the website of the device you own. SDPB has some details available online at SDPB.org/SmartSpeaker

ASIAN AMERICANS

The most ambitious television chronicle of the Asian American story in the United States launches this month on SDPB.

According to data from the 2010 U.S and South Dakota Censuses and July 1, 2018 estimate, individuals in South Dakota who identified solely as Asian grew by 94% between 2010 and 2018. Americans of Asian descent are among the fastest growing racial/ethnic groups in the United States. Asian Americans, an engaging new five-part documentary led by a team of Asian American filmmakers, captures the impact of Asian Americans on the country's past, present, and future.

This groundbreaking series, produced by Renee Tajima-Peña (Who Killed Vincent Chin?, No Más Bebés), examines the significant role of Asian Americans in shaping American history and identity, from the first wave of Asian immigrants in the 1850s and identity politics during the social and cultural turmoil of the twentieth century to modern refugee crises in a globally connected world.

Narrated by Daniel Dae Kim (Hawaii 5-0, Crash, Always Be My Maybe) & Tamlyn Tomita (Star Trek, The Man in the High Castle, The Good Doctor).

Tune in to SDPB1-TV for the premiere of back-to-back episodes:

Monday, May 11
Episode 1: Breaking Ground
7pm (6 MT)

In an era of exclusion and U.S. empire, new immigrants arrive from China, India, Japan, the Philippines and beyond. Barred by anti-Asian laws they become America's first "undocumented immigrants," yet they build railroads, dazzle on the silver screen, and take their fight for equality to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Episode 2: A Question of Loyalty
8pm (7 MT)

An American-born generation straddles their country of birth and their parents' homelands in Asia. Those loyalties are tested during World War II, when families are imprisoned in detention camps, and brothers find themselves on opposite sides of the battle lines.

Tuesday, May 12
Episode 3: Good Americans
7pm (6 MT)

During the Cold War years, Asian Americans are simultaneously heralded as a Model Minority, and targeted as the perpetual foreigner. It is also a time of bold ambition, as Asian Americans aspire for the first time to national political office and a coming culture-quake simmers beneath the surface.

Episode 4: Generation Rising
8pm (7 MT)

During a time of war and social tumult, a young generation fights for equality in the fields, on campuses and in the culture, and claim a new identity: Asian Americans. The war's aftermath brings new immigrants and refugees who expand the population and the definition of Asian America.

Episode 5: Breaking Through
9pm (8 MT)

At the turn of the new millennium, the country tackles conflicts over immigration, race, economic disparity, and a shifting world order. A new generation of Asian Americans are empowered by growing numbers and rising influence but face a reckoning of what it means to be an American in an increasingly polarized society.

NOVA EAGLE POWER

Eagles dominate the skies. But what makes these predators so special? Researchers study one special bird — and stunning up-close footage reveals her exceptional strength, eyesight, and flying skills. With intimate access to a new bald eagle family, NOVA takes you into the nest to witness the drama of chicks struggling to survive.

SDPB1: Wednesday, May 13, 8pm (7 MT)

SDPB2: Thursday, May 14, 6 & 11pm (5 & 10MT)

NOVA DECODING COVID-19

The coronavirus SARS-CoV-2 has upended life as we know it in a matter of mere months. But at the same time, an unprecedented global effort to understand and contain the virus — and find a treatment for the disease it causes — is underway. Join the doctors on the front lines of the fight against COVID-19 as they strategize to stop the spread, and meet the researchers racing to find treatments and vaccines. Along the way, discover how this devastating disease emerged, what it does to the human body, and why it exploded into a pandemic.

SDPB1: Wednesday, May 20, 8pm (7 MT)

CLARENCE THOMAS: IN HIS OWN WORDS

Although Clarence Thomas remains a controversial figure, loved by some, reviled by others, few know much more than a few headlines and the recollections of his contentious confirmation battle with Anita Hill. In Created Equal: Clarence Thomas In His Own Words, producers interviewed Justice Clarence Thomas and his wife, Virginia. Unscripted and without narration, the documentary takes the viewer through this complex and often painful life, dealing with race, faith, power, jurisprudence, and personal resilience.

SDPB1: Monday, May 18, 8pm (7 MT)

SDPB2: Wednesday, May 20, 6 & 11pm (5 & 10 MT)

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE GEORGE W. BUSH

In this two-part, four-hour look at the life and presidency of George W. Bush, follow his unorthodox road to the presidency through the contested election of 2000, when a Supreme Court ruling resulted in his becoming the 43rd President. The film chronicles the tumultuous events, domestically and internationally, that dominated Bush's eight years in office.

SDPB2: Friday, May 8, 7 & 11pm (6 & 10MT)

NOTES FROM OUR SUPPORTERS

As SDPB Sustainers, there's no question that your past donations and current sustaining memberships have given us the ability to provide the highest level of service as the Coronavirus continues to impact our daily lives. Your monthly contributions help provide financial stability and the vital resources we need to consistently bring essential services into households throughout our state. Your gifts mean more now than ever. Thank you for your support.

"I have been a member for a while, and worked for the network for 16 years, so I have a long-term investment in SDPB. During the past few weeks with the COVID-19 pandemic, however, I've been reminded how much I rely on SDPB to bring me NPR news. I also want to support my friends who work at the network and thank them for all of the extra work I know they're doing right now to keep people informed. This is important work, and a service to the rest of the state."

- Janet D., Vermillion

"For my grandkids at home with no school."

- Clarice, Sioux Falls

"PBS NewsHour is must-see TV right now. I'm going to bring my mug to work, so I can show my support there."

- Anne, Sioux Falls

"Need quality programming for kids during Covid-19."

- Caley, Vermillion

"I listen to SDPB Radio everyday. This donation adds a dollar a day to my monthly sustaining pledge! Keep up the good work!"

- Anonymous

"Received my SDPB magazine for the month. I was shocked and then delighted that my interview took up about two thirds of a page! Even more delighted that they decided to print the entire picture of my siblings and me! What I really appreciate, though, is that SDPB is recognizing us 'little constant viewer/listener/donor' people. This is really cool and makes me appreciate SDPB even more. I will be looking forward to future interviews with other South Dakotans. And Katy, I am reading through the entire magazine!!! Thanks again!"

- Judy H., Webster (April featured sustainer)

"I always should have been giving to you guys. Did so now because of Coronavirus coverage."

- Kyle, Sioux Falls

"Supporting an entity that provides awesome educational materials."

- Richard, Yankton

"In weird times, I always turn to PBS for reliable information. Thank you for helping out."

- Cameron, Story, WY

"I've been a long time listener and fan. It's long overdue that I support your excellent work. Thank you so very much. I'm happy to say my 29 year old son is now a fan, too. He grew up on it and it's now his go to station. :-)"

- Joan, Hopkins, MN

SPOTTED ONLINE: SOCIAL DISTANCE POWWOW

by Chynna Lockett

Some of the most traditional of ceremonies, Native powwows and dances are finding a new life online. Tribes are canceling events and gatherings to adhere to restrictions because of the coronavirus. But Indigenous people across the continent can share their talent and cultures online.

Social media has helped thousands of people see 16-year old Wakiyan Cuny and his 14-year old sister Wicahpi Cook dance. The two are Oglala Lakota and live in Washington state. They compete at powwows across the country, and usually travel a lot in the summer.

But that won't happen this year. So instead, they put on their regalia and danced in their front yard. Their mother recorded the performance and posted a video on social media. Wakiyan Cuny explains the roots of his Grass Dance.

"Back then the grass would be really tall. So they would have all the grass dancers go out and dance before everybody to lay down the grass so that it would be ready to dance on for everybody else."

His sister Wicahpi Cook danced in her Jingle Dress. It has about 200 metal cones sewn onto it that make noise when she moves. She says it's a healing dance that originates from the Ojibwe Tribe.

"Some dresses, they kind of differ depending on your age because you don't want too many on a smaller child's dress. But a normal dress should have 365 for the days of the year."

The siblings usually compete in separate categories. So dancing in their yard, together, is a treat.

Cook: "It's fun dancing with my brother and having him by my side.

Cuny: "Yeah, I think it's pretty fun and she's just my first sibling and we're pretty close."

A Facebook group called Social Distance Powwow shares a variety of traditional performances. It's the creation of Whitney Rencountre—he's a member of Crow Creek Tribe who is based in Rapid City. So far, it has almost 90 thousand members.

"A platform has been created for them to share these songs and dances and so that's why I think it's just going viral for everybody. Because it's the right time and it's important to share the talents, and the songs, dances and artistry, languages and all these things that I think throughout the world we never really had a platform for to provide that," says Rencountre.

Rencountre says the pandemic has helped draw interest to traditional Indigenous practices.

PBS AMERICAN PORTRAIT

"I never expected to make such a positive impact towards the emotional healing of people around the world during the COVID-19 pandemic... we created a video that has in one week reached 15 countries, garnered more than 6 million views and received words of gratitude from different generations saying that these kids, their music and message of hope have uplifted them and brought them joy."
Imee P., Chino, CA

"I never expected ... That this would be my classroom and dorm, and that my parents would be my roommates. I never expected that my only way of seeing my friends would be through my phone."
Andy E., Enid, OK

"I never expected ... to watch us all grow... no matter how much it sucks."
Tori B. Omaha, NE

"I never expected this is how I would celebrate a self-isolation birthday. It was still fun."
Anonymous, NY, NY

"I never expected to have to juggle working at home full time while also wrestling with how to explain a global pandemic to my daughters. Although Olivia is only 6 years old and Stella is only 4 years old, I was surprised to see how much they comprehended at a time when even as an adult I'm struggling to grasp what is happening."
Jon C., Philadelphia, PA

Dakota Life Digital Edition

In Dakota Life: Digital Edition, SDPB producers remind us South Dakota is full of hidden gems, where solitude has always been the norm.

We visit a community of limber pine high in the Black Hills' Cathedral Spires and Union Grove in Southeast SD. We look at the long history of the South Dakota Dairy Princess tradition and see how it is evolving. And we learn from Lorri Two Bulls the entrepreneurial steps artists are taking amidst the COVID-19 home-sheltering. A painter of colorful images of women, animals and geometric shapes with touches of gold metallics and gemstones, Two Bulls and other artists are working out how to sustain themselves in the wake of the pandemic.

Choose SDPB

To our Corporate Partners & Members:

As South Dakota and the nation adjust to our new normal, SDPB is committed to serving the public with high-quality information, resources and entertainment to help our audience navigate through this challenging period.

We are working to present special programming about the coronavirus pandemic. Our reporters and producers are telling the stories of how the virus has affected South Dakotans – their families, their businesses and their lives. We continue to provide programming that creates learning opportunities for K-12 students whose schools have been forced to close.

SDPB thanks you for sticking with us. Support in the form of your membership or your business's underwriting are vital partnerships that allows SDPB to produce programs South Dakotans need and appreciate. Your continued support is necessary to roll out our enhanced COVID-19 coverage, the new Learners Initiatives, and to continue to ensure SDPB is the place that listeners and viewers turn to for trustworthy reporting and civil conversations.

Now more than ever, SDPB needs your assistance. We do understand that your business and family is dealing with tightening budgets and uncertain futures. We will work with you to adjust your underwriting messaging to meet the needs of these challenging times, and remind the audience that you are working hand-in-hand with SDPB to keep valuable information, educational resources and quality entertainment available.

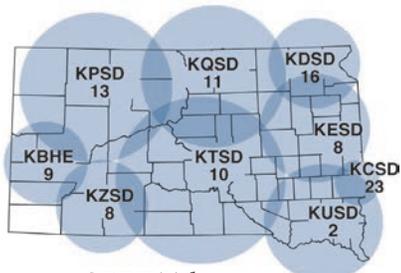

We are going to weather this storm together, as partners, and we are grateful for your continued support.
