How was Leonardo da Vinci able to think so far "outside the box" that he envisaged developments in engineering, astronomy, and anatomy that were only realized centuries later? The list of da Vinci's "firsts" is astonishing: he asserted that "the sun does not move" more than a generation before Copernicus; he reasoned that fatty deposits in narrowed arteries were caused by an unhealthy diet; he drew the first designs for a parachute, armored car, machine gun, diving suit, helicopter, and a flying machine that anticipates the modern hang glider, not to mention history's first humanoid robot. His inventions and insights have come down to us through his notebooks, each page packed with a profusion of ingenious ideas and breathtaking drawings but revealing little about his personal life or character. As a result, the man behind the Mona Lisa and a host of futuristic inventions remains a shadowy figure. Now, NOVA joins Walter Isaacson, author of the acclaimed recent biography, on a journey to Italy to explore the impact of da Vinci's art on his science and his science on his art.

Drones hover silently over whales in the waters off northern Canada, capturing at last the unusual behavior that locals have tried to understand for over a century. In India, wildlife biologists use camera trap technology to compare a passing tiger's stripes with thousands of tiger images to track one animal's movements. With more "eyes" in the wild than ever before, camera technology is revolutionizing the study of animals. Now, NOVA takes you on a journey through the evolution of camera technology in wildlife research, showcasing many firsts in the field: thermal cams reveal how thousands of bats make an organized exit through a very small hole, collar cams show woodland caribou using tools, and specialized audio playback cameras help demonstrate how fear of predators can affect prey animals' very biology. Beyond the gripping animal's point-of-view footage, and stunning moments both candid and comical, this technology is giving wildlife managers insights that could help them fight extinction and habitat loss.

Almost a century ago, paleontologists found the first tantalizing hints of a monster even bigger than Tyrannosaurus Rex, perhaps the largest predator ever to walk the Earth: spectacular fossil bones from a dinosaur dubbed Spinosaurus. But the fossils were completely destroyed during a World War II Allied bombing raid, leaving only drawings, lots of questions, and a mystery: What was Spinosaurus? Now, the discovery of new bones in a Moroccan cliff face is reopening the investigation into this epic beast. What did it feed on and how? Why did it grow so big? We follow the paleontologists who are reconstructing this terrifying carnivore piece by piece, revealing a 53-foot-long behemoth with a huge dorsal sail, enormous, scimitar-like claws, and massive superjaws, tapered toward the front like a crocodile, hosting an army of teeth. It is a painstaking puzzle, and it is missing many of its pieces. NOVA follows researchers on the hunt for more fossils, tracing ancient history along with the very modern drama of how the bones of the Spinosaurus were discovered, seized, bombed, stolen and smuggled across international borders. Bringing together experts in paleontology, geology, climatology and paleobotany, this NOVA/National Geographic special brings to life the lost world over which Spinosaurus reigned more than 65 million years ago.

Since 2014, Flint, Michigan, has been synonymous with tainted water. Five years on, not all of the city's residents have access to safe water. Some wait for hours in line to obtain bottled water, while others deal with the physical and emotional fallout of exposure to high lead levels from corrosion of city pipes. John Yang reports from Flint on what has changed -- and what hasn't.

Chain-smoking Iraqi "Phillip Morris" escaped his homeland in 2011 and landed in Minnesota via the U.S. Special Immigrant Visa program, a backlogged and often dysfunctional conduit for the tens of thousands of local interpreters who have risked their lives to help U.S. troops in Afghanistan and Iraq. Despite the frightening, years-long wait for his visa to come through, despite his relentless immigration battles on behalf of his family left behind in Iraq, Phillip has fared better than many of his peers in a climate where accusations of treason often trigger a gruesome death sentence. Now living in Minneapolis, he personifies success for a visa program that was launched to protect people like Phillip but is threatened by rising anti-refugee sentiment. The Interpreters follows the stories of Phillip and three interpreters who face the impossible decision of waiting for paperwork that may never materialize or attempting a hazardous exit route to Europe. When Pope Benedict resigned in 2013, it was the first papal resignation since 1415 -- nearly 600 years. At the time, his successor, Pope Francis, was perceived as essentially Benedict's opposite. But in a new film, "The Two Popes," director Fernando Meirelles imagines the relationship between the two men and discovers that the Catholic figures are not "black and white." Jeffrey Brown reports.

On a rainy August morning in 2018, a massive section of the Polcevera Bridge in Genoa, Italy, collapsed and killed 43 people. As emergency responders raced to rescue survivors, authorities began investigating the cause of the collapse. For 50 years, the iconic bridge had stood up to the ever-increasing traffic, a testament to the strength of its pre-stressed concrete and cable stays. So what went wrong that fateful day? Through eyewitness testimony, expert interviews, and dramatic archive footage, NOVA pieces together the sequence of events-and investigates what may have led to the bridge's downfall. But the Polcevera Bridge isn't alone. Across the United States and Europe, thousands of bridges are listed as structurally deficient. Join experts as they compare what happened to the Polcevera with other deadly bridge collapses, including Minnesota's I-35W bridge over the Mississippi and the famed Silver Bridge over the Ohio River. How can new technologies and engineering improvements make bridges across the world safer and more durable than ever before?

How was Leonardo da Vinci able to think so far "outside the box" that he envisaged developments in engineering, astronomy, and anatomy that were only realized centuries later? The list of da Vinci's "firsts" is astonishing: he asserted that "the sun does not move" more than a generation before Copernicus; he reasoned that fatty deposits in narrowed arteries were caused by an unhealthy diet; he drew the first designs for a parachute, armored car, machine gun, diving suit, helicopter, and a flying machine that anticipates the modern hang glider, not to mention history's first humanoid robot. His inventions and insights have come down to us through his notebooks, each page packed with a profusion of ingenious ideas and breathtaking drawings but revealing little about his personal life or character. As a result, the man behind the Mona Lisa and a host of futuristic inventions remains a shadowy figure. Now, NOVA joins Walter Isaacson, author of the acclaimed recent biography, on a journey to Italy to explore the impact of da Vinci's art on his science and his science on his art.

Chain-smoking Iraqi "Phillip Morris" escaped his homeland in 2011 and landed in Minnesota via the U.S. Special Immigrant Visa program, a backlogged and often dysfunctional conduit for the tens of thousands of local interpreters who have risked their lives to help U.S. troops in Afghanistan and Iraq. Despite the frightening, years-long wait for his visa to come through, despite his relentless immigration battles on behalf of his family left behind in Iraq, Phillip has fared better than many of his peers in a climate where accusations of treason often trigger a gruesome death sentence. Now living in Minneapolis, he personifies success for a visa program that was launched to protect people like Phillip but is threatened by rising anti-refugee sentiment. The Interpreters follows the stories of Phillip and three interpreters who face the impossible decision of waiting for paperwork that may never materialize or attempting a hazardous exit route to Europe. Meanwhile, hope dwindles for the thousands of interpreters seeking survival as a reward for their sacrifice.

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

These are hard times in the Quad Cities, a great American crossroads along the border of Iowa and Illinois, where the Mississippi River intersects Interstate 80. Home to John Deere manufacturing and the nation's breadbasket, it's also an area deeply scarred by the recession. FRONTLINE follows three young girls growing up amidst their families' struggles against financial ruin. This an intimate portrait of the economic crisis as it's rarely seen, through the eyes of children. With one in five American children living below the poverty line, "Poor Kids" is an unflinching and revealing exploration of what poverty means to children — and to the country's future.

Tapping The Great Lakes

October 15, 2019 @ 2:00am

Detroit Public Television's Great Lakes Bureau takes a deep dive into several methods of water withdrawal and their impact on the Great Lakes.

First, we look at Nestle, a company that withdraws millions of gallons of water from aquifers near Lake Michigan, bottles it, and sells it in the U.S. Next, we examine fracking, a method of obtaining oil from the ground that uses massive amounts of Great Lakes water in the process. Then, we research the case of Waukesha, Wisconsin, and ask how and why a city outside the Great Lakes Basin has been granted the right to use Lake Michigan water for its drinking water supply.

Who's watching over Great Lakes water? Are the laws strong enough to protect the region's drinking water supply? Should global corporations have the right to use Great Lakes water to make big profits? What industries are allowed to use massive amounts of water? Are aquifers being depleted by certain practices, or is the groundwater able to replenish itself?

The Forever Chemicals

October 16, 2019 @ 3:00am

In the new half-hour program called "The Forever Chemicals," Detroit Public Television's Great Lakes Now team travels around Michigan talking to water experts, health professionals, politicians and, of course, residents with PFAS in their home water supplies. By exploring how the problem emerged in two communities, this program also helps explain what affected citizens are doing to get answer to their questions and hold polluters and politicians accountable.

Poor Farm

October 19, 2019 @ 4:30am

Long ago, "Poor Farms" were established in the United States to take care of those who could not take care of themselves and had no one else to care for them. "The Poor Farm" is a documentary film that tells the story of the Eastmanville Poor Farm in Ottawa County, Michigan. Founded in 1866, it was the longest continually operating Poor Farm in the United States, serving its community for over 130 years. Like many such Poor Farms across the country, the Eastmanville Poor Farm provided a home for the sick, the elderly, the disabled, and anyone else unable to live independently in our society.

A Change of Practice: Leadership in Medicine for the Underserved

October 22, 2019 @ 2:00am

"A Change of Practice: Leadership in Medicine for the Underserved" is a half-hour documentary film that follows third- and fourth-year LMU Students as they complete their medical degree from MSU in Flint. During this time, they are embedded in organizations and schools in this city, practicing new ways to navigate the complexities of underserved communities, as well as the health impacts of the water crisis. LMU students learn they are called to be more than physicians; their role is to change the practice of medicine.

The Grand River: Heart of a Land

October 29, 2019 @ 2:00am

The Grand River: Heart of a Land is a riveting dive into the history and culture surrounding The Grand River, Michigan's longest river. This documentary goes deep into the rich history of this majestic river, as we talk with area Native Americans, Historians, and Local City officials. The Grand River: Heart of a Land is sure to take you on a journey through time as you explore the wonderful sights and history of the Grand River.

Sustaining Our Young Forests

October 30, 2019 @ 4:30am

Michigan's 19 million acres of forests are one of the state's most treasured resources. They cover 53% of the land area of Michigan and most are owned by private citizens, not the government or corporations. Come and learn about forests and the special role that young forests play in sustaining our ecosystem, economy and enjoyment of the outdoors. Discover the array of help available to private landowners in managing their forests to meet their objectives for now and in the future.

Greening Mid-Michigan: A Vision For Green Infrastructure

November 4, 2019 @ 5:30am

Mid-Michigan is getting greener! Farmers are enhancing their environmental stewardship, disused industrial sites are being transformed into beautiful waterfront parks and storm water is being efficiently cleansed through natural and constructed wetlands and rain gardens. Non-motorized trails on land and water increasingly connect residents and visitors to communities, businesses and the environment through fun, healthy, active transportation. Farmers markets support agriculture and bring healthy, locally grown food directly to consumers. Join with the many cooperating organizations and individuals you will meet in this film to be part of a more sustainable region.

Linking Land and Lakes: Protecting the Great Lakes

November 17, 2019 @ 7:00pm

"Coastal Wetlands: Linking Land and Lakes" focuses on the extensive research being done, the data base that has been created and how the information is being used to protect and restore the coastal wetlands of the Great Lakes.

Mackinac – Our Famous Island

November 30, 2019 @ 12:00am

Mackinac - Our Famous Island takes viewers along the shores and trails to experience the natural beauty of the island, visit historic landmarks to reconnect to its earliest history and get to know the people who still work to preserve this "gem of the Great Lakes."

Greening Mid-Michigan: A Vision For Green Infrastructure

December 6, 2019 @ 3:30am

Mid-Michigan Remembers

December 9, 2019 @ 8:00pm

Q-TV tells three forgotten stories from Mid-Michigan history. First, we look at the one-room schoolhouses in Tuscola County. Then, the story of Dr. Wilke Drake, a country doctor from the village of Breckenridge. And finally, we visit Spikehorn's Bear Den and Wildlife Park, where you could shake hands with a trained bear.

Symphony In D

December 10, 2019 @ 2:00am

In SYMPHONY IN D, Pulitzer Prize-nominated composer Tod Machover, a professor of music and media at MIT, and his group Opera of the Future are commissioned by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra to crowdsource a symphony from Detroit citizens. Tod Machover works with citizen submissions to compose a piece that encompasses the city's character, its concerns, and its questions about the future.

The Door Flint Opened: America's Drinking Water Crisis

December 11, 2019 @ 3:00am

In this debut of the DPTV Great Lakes Bureau's series of half-hour specials, "The Door Flint Opened; America's Drinking Water Crisis" GreatLakesNow.org examines how the Flint Water Crisis is shining a light on global water issues. We interview pediatrician Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha, who wrote the book "What the Eyes Don't See: A Story of Crisis, Resistance, and Hope in an American City," and journalist Anna Clark, who authored "The Poisoned City: Flint's Water and the American Urban Tragedy." Through these authors' words and a journey to Flint, viewers will learn the background of the crisis and where it stands today. Then we venture to the Society of Environmental Journalists annual conference - this year held in Flint -- where we interview journalists, residents, scholars, and advocates about the impact of Flint's Water Crisis on how journalists cover water issues and we examine how policymakers make important decisions involving the safety of drinking water.

Inside Grand Hotel

December 10, 2019 @ 8:00pm

Viewers will explore Grand Hotel's iconic spaces to learn what has made this unique property an icon of success for more than 125 years. Cameras will become virtual guests at the hotel, exploring some of the rooms and suites that most guests never see while sharing how the hotel continues to find new ways to pamper and promote the relaxation of its guests.

Korean War: Voices From The 38th Parallel

December 11, 2019 @ 8:00pm

They call it "The Forgotten War", but those who served will never forget their experiences. In this new Q-TV documentary, hear stories of the Korean War told by the men and women who were there. This new documentary features twenty-three Michigan residents whose lives were touched by the Korean War talking about their experiences in their own words about the Pusan Perimeter, Inchon Landing, the Chosin Reservoir and Heartbreak Ridge, along with their reflections on the war, over sixty years later.

2019 Hope College Christmas Vespers

December 24, 2019 @ 8:00pm

Hope College Christmas Vespers is a holiday tradition for many families from West Michigan and around the country. This program is a celebration of the true spirit of Christmas and features some of the most beautiful choral and instrumental music of the season. A tradition at Hope College since 1941, Christmas Vespers is the perfect way to ring in your holiday season.
