Aging Services of the Upper Cumberland offers an advocacy program for residents of long-term care facilities.

FAMILY LEGAL ASSISTANCE is one of the two programs and it is available to residents who are age 60 and over.

THE DISTRICT LONG-TERM CARE OMBUDSMAN program, headed by Kim Fowler, helps families as well as facilities resolve issues. This program also is seeking volunteers who are willing to attend a training session and then devote a few hours each month to helping with the program.

WLIV AM and WLIV FM broadcast an interview with Ferrant during which she told listeners of these two important programs.....making listeners aware that they are available:

The interview was aired over several days at various times of the day and evening in order for the maximum audience to be reached and informed.
