Guest: Pam Ealey

Agency: Upper Cumberland Habitat For Humanity

Subject: Agency's plans for Overton County

Recently, Putnam County's Habitat For Humanity and Overton County's Habitat For Humanity combined to form Upper Cumberland Habitat For Humanity. Under the new name, the agency began serving both counties at the start of the year.

During our interview with Pam Ealey, the executive director of Upper Cumberland Habitat For Humanity, she informed the audience of what Habitat does and how listeners can help insure successful, on-going Habitat work projects here in Overton county.

Mrs. Ealey says volunteers are needed in a number of areas.

She also urged listeners to seek additional information by talking with Trent Carter, the local contact for Overton County. The director said she will also be available to meet with those interested in getting more involved in the Overton county wing of Habitat's work.

Habitat For Humanity will begin building new homes for eligible families as well as offering remodeling services on existing homes.
