We are located in the area known as The Upper Cumberland's of the state of Tennessee.

This area is rich in natural resources which also means it is rich in outdoor sporting opportunities. Multiple fresh water lakes and thousands of acres of woodlands truly make for an outdoor enthusiast's paradise. Hunting, camping, fishing all abound in our area. Locals realize it and for many years out-of-state visitors have recognized the great outdoor activity resources we have to offer and have travelled great distances to enjoy our rich natural resources.

State parks, municipal maintained lakes, private hunting grounds and much more await the avid outdoorsman.

For that reason, WLIV AM and FM feel it in the best interest of our listening public to air our public affairs programming dealing with:

- *Firearms Safety
- *Camping and campfire safety
- *Hunting and Fishing Rules
- *Respecting Private water and woods
- *Conserving Nature for Future Generations

For our public affairs feature, we drew material from the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency, Army Corps of Engineers, In-house written materials, Other public domain information sources.

Safety in enjoying our "great outdoors" conservation, and respecting the rights of others were the major themes of our series.
