“Rock The Block” is an event sponsored by and overseen by the Livingston/Cookeville office of Habitat For Humanity.

During a Rock The Block event, volunteers, under the oversight of Habitat representatives, provide repair and renovation service to local residents.

The Rock The Block event on November 17 is the first of its kind to be held in several months in Livingston and will focus on the areas of Sevier Street and East Cedar Street – a 40-home area.

WLIV AM and FM broadcast an interview we did with Trent Carter who is a representative for Habitat For Humanity. Mr. Carter outlined to our listeners what the event is all about and why they should participate in it. Additionally, Mr. Carter used this interview time to solicit volunteers who will come and help on November 17 with the projects.

This public affairs interview was aired for a ten-day period – at random times during the broadcast day – on both AM 920 and FM 104.7 – for two weeks prior to the November 17 “Rock The Block” event.

Placed in the public file November 12, 2018.
