It's become an annual event that the entire region looks forward to and attends. Livingston's annual Christmas In The Country.

This year's holiday festival will be staged the nights of: November 29, December 6, and December 13.

The entire community comes together to usher in the holiday season, with the official kickoff the Friday night after Thanksgiving day this year.

Merchants are open late with special holiday sales, there's entertainment on the square, wagon rides, giveaways, and time to visit with Santa and have a photo taken with him.

This annual event is an opportunity for local churches, civic groups, and clubs to join in making our town a better place. It's a time when all ages unite in the enjoyment of the Christmas season.

Pam Sadler, representing the local merchant's association has been on WLIV AM & WLIV FM telling listeners about Christmas In The Country and urging everyone to come out and participate.

Pam was out guest on three separate FOCUS ON COMMUNITY features.

To remind the public to join in this once-a-year event, WLIV AM & WLIV FM have broadcast this as part of our FOCUS ON COMMUNITY public affairs programming.
