PUBLIC AFFAIRS TOPIC: Community July 4th Celebration Still On GUEST: Greg Arnold, First Baptist Church (FBC) Event Coordinator

The annual July 4th music, fireworks, and independence day celebration is expected to continue this year without interruption according to Mr. Greg Arnold, long-time coordinator of the community celebration.

Although it will be impossible to not make changes to the day and evening schedule, the event will retain much of its familiar tone – with a live music group and a huge July 4th fireworks show around 9 PM.

Mr. Arnold appeared on FOCUS ON COMMUNITY, our on-going public affairs program which is heard on WLIV and WLIV FM. Mr. Arnold told listeners that a group has been secured for the music and he is currently working on a location from which fireworks can be safely launched.

The celebration has been held for years on the Livingston First Baptist Church grounds but this year's event – because of restrictions – will need to be moved to Central Park. The FBC July 4th of July event joins a number of events which have become a tradition during the summer months in our area have had to be cancelled or drastically altered this year because of tight restrictions on gatherings as issued by the Health Department and other agencies.

WLIV invited Mr. Arnold to return as our guest to update the community as the July 4th weekend gets closer.

This FOCUS ON COMMUNITY feature with Mr. Greg Arnold aired on WLIV AM & WLIV FM to reach both the local as well as the Upper Cumberland audience who regularly attend this FBC July 4th celebration.

Placed in the public file June 20, 2020.
