Monterey Mayor Bill Wiggins was our guest on FOCUS ON COMMUNITY to explain installation of solar power for the town of Monterey.

The Mayor says currently two sites are being built and a third solar site will begin in the near future.

Currently, a solar power roof array is being installed at the Monterey Emergency Services Building.

A ground array solar power system is also currently under construction at the City of Monterey's water intake facility.

The City's conversion to using solar power is also planned for the town's sewer plant. A lawn assembly solar array will be constructed there and work on that project will begin also in 2019.

Our interview with Mayor Wiggins airs starting January 7, 2019 and will air at random times and random days through March.

Placed in the public file January 7, 2019.
