ISSUE DESCRIPTION	PROGRAM SEGMENT	DATE/TIME	DURATION	DESCRIPTION OF SEGMENT
1.	New Frontiers	Agrivoltaics	10/1/2023 at 6:30pm	00:05:49	Ever notice that many of your garden plants grow better in the shade than in the direct sun? Researchers at the University of Arizona have noticed it too, and they're busy developing the technology to harness it. It's called "agrivoltaics" and involves growing food in the shade of solar panels. Not only does it increase crop yield while using less water, it also improves solar panel efficiency. Agrivoltaics is now being tested throughout the region, including at Biosphere 2 and at Manzo Elementary School in Tucson, where it's also being used as an educational tool for kids.
2.	Arizona Illustrated	Arizona En Español	10/8/2023 at 6:30pm	00:28:00	This week on an Arizona Illustrated...How High School teacher John Contreras has influenced generations of students through music; How a non-profit along the border is building homes for families and helping children go to school; Peruvian artist Miguel Molina reveals how his ancestral Andean influences shape his artwork; and a visualization of the bilingual poetry of Gabriel Dozal.

3.	Arizona Illustrated	Al and Hannah	10/15/2023 at 6:30pm	00:14:50	Alan Lewin Curtis, affectionately known by his stage name, Al Foul, was a celebrated musician both here, nationally, and abroad. In May 2022, he passed away after a long battle with cancer. One of his last wishes was for his wife Hannah to raise awareness of an end-of-life option that is not available to people in Arizona, an option that would have prevented much of his suffering in his final days.
4.	Arizona Illustrated	The Blind Bandit	10/22/2023 at 6:30pm	00:09:20	After Angel Garcia Nunez lost his sight in a suicide attempt, horses helped him find peace and purpose. He realized he loved rodeos and wanted to be the first blind professional Saddle Bronc Rider. See Angel attempt to make his dream a reality.
5.	State of the ArtZ	Chinese Chorizo Project	10/22/2023 at 7:00pm	00:04:27	Native Tucsonan Feng-Feng Yeh created the Tucson Chinese Chorizo Project to retell the story of how Chinese and Mexican communities once thrived throughout the barrios of downtown Tucson. This historic recipe of the Chinese chorizo has been re-created and distributed to local restaurants that are putting a modern spin on this sausage as it is used to highlight the story of its humble past.

6.	Arizona Illustrated	Kyklo	10/29 at 6:30pm	00:08:05	Kyklo means "cycle" in Greek, but in Tucson it is a band that plays otherworldly and mystical music. Kyklo's music carries the traces of old romances and melancholy. Paul Amiel and Anton Shekergiev explore the Mediterranean and the Balkan spirit. The duo plays tunes from the Aegean region including Bulgarian, Greek and Turkish songs. If you are in Tucson and lucky enough to listen to Paul and Anton, their music will drag you into an enchanted land.
7.	Arizona Illustrated	Lex Gjurasic – Radical Happiness	11/5/2023 at 6:30pm	00:07:26	Lex Gjurasic is a visual artist from the rain-soaked Pacific Northwest currently living in sunny Tucson. Lex's work comes from the intensity she feels from being alive. For her, life is not an inspiration for art, rather, it is a compulsion to make art. Lex works purely from gut instinct. Creating joy filled paintings and sculptures is her way of processing memories, emotions and experiences in a chaotic world. Her work is a visceral expression of life.
8.	Arizona Illustrated	Navajo Weavers & OSIRIS-REx Returns	11/12/2023 at 6:30pm		Barbara Teller Ornelas and Lynda Teller Pete are master Navajo Weavers. They were born for the To'aheedliinii (Two Waters Flow Together Clan). Barbara and Lynda are fifth-generation Navajo weavers. They have been weaving since they were little. They are internationally acclaimed for their fine tapestry weaving. Barbara and Lynda will share the inside story of how these textiles resonate in Navajo culture.

9.	Arizona Illustrated	Flowers and Bullets	11/19/2023 at 6:30pm		What began as friends helping each other grow backyard gardens in Tucson's Barrio Centro neighborhood has grown into a vibrant community space. By sharing skills, promoting place-based connections, and listening to each other's stories Flowers & Bullets is creating sustainable ways of living. The organization was able to buy an abandoned school and is creating a farm and health and wellness center for the community.
10.	Stewart Udall: The Politics of Beauty	Full program	11/28/2023 at 8pm	01:59:00	Arizona native Stewart Udall left a profound legacy of conservation and environmental justice as Secretary of the Interior during the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations. His social and environmental successes stemmed from his ability to bring together people with disparate interests and inspire them to achieve common goals. His example can serve us well today! More importantly perhaps, Udall called on all Americans to move away from our emphasis on economic growth and consumerism and toward quality of life, and a new politics centered on beauty, frugal living, appreciation of nature and the arts, and a recognition of the Earth's limits.

11.	Arizona Illustrated	Rio	12/17/2023 at 6:30pm	00:28:00	Rio Finnegan is a beloved figure in the downtown Tucson music and art scene. He is a filmmaker, musician, and podcaster who was born with spina bifida. With humor, he encourages honest conversations about issues effecting the disabled community, issues that are often misrepresented through the "able-bodied" lens.
12.	Arizona Illustrated	Afro Herper	12/24/2023 at 6.30pm	00:28:00	Earyn McGee is a PhD graduate, researching the impact that a drying climate has on lizard populations. She's also @Afro_Herper, running the popular social media game #FindThatLizard, where she gets to teach people cool facts about the lizards, while shifting the idea of what it means to be a scientist. She's also exploring ways to get more black women into natural resources careers.
