

Crystal Bridges 1

MEB/MEH

11/29 (Mon PM/ Tues AM)

The Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art in Bentonville has a new board chair. Olivia Walton is taking over from museum founder Alice Walton. In an interview with Talk Business & Politics, Olivia Walton says will use her background in art to expand beyond traditional media of painting and sculpture.

News 26

0:21

“...to Indigenous arts,”

She will continue to lead The Momentary, a contemporary art space and satellite of Crystal Bridges. In addition to a variety of art, The Momentary features culinary experiences, festivals, and music, making it easier for people to access the arts.

Crystal Bridges 2

MEB/MEH

11/29 (Mon PM/ Tues AM)

Olivia Walton is taking over as the new board chair for Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art in Bentonville. In an interview with Talk Business & Politics, she said she will use her background to focus on expanding the reach of Crystal Bridges through new ideas and partnerships. Walton said she has seen creative crafts and concerts that could be brought to Crystal Bridges.

News 27

0:25

“...a beautiful sentiment”

Walton wants to help link Crystal Bridges with other institutions across the country. In addition to Walton’s new ideas, an original copy of the U.S. Constitution, will be displayed at the Bentonville museum. Olivia Walton takes over from museum founder Alice Walton.