

Education

College enrollment plummeted during the pandemic. This fall, it's even worse

Elissa Nadworny

A majority of students at Los Angeles City College, the United States' largest community college district, are continuing with online classes for this fall semester in Los Angeles.

Al Seib/Los Angeles Times via Getty Images

Enrollment at U.S. colleges and universities is on track to fall by another nearly 500,000 undergraduate students this fall, continuing the historic drops that began with the start of the coronavirus pandemic, according to new data out Tuesday.