Fernbank Museum of Natural History: Extreme Mammals

Fernbank Museum of Natural History is one of the 10 largest natural history museums in the United States. With its permanent exhibit, "Giants of the Mesozoic," Fernbank became the first museum in the world to assemble a collection of the world's largest dinosaurs. Beyond the ferocious beasts menacing visitors in the 86-foot-tall Great Hall, the exhibit, "A Walk Through Time in Georgia," recreates the Earth's natural history using Georgia's landscape, vegetation, wildlife and fossils.

In addition to its permanent exhibits, Fernbank also host touring exhibits throughout the year. Fernbank spokesperson Brandi Berry came in to discuss the latest exhibit, Extreme Mammals: From the speedy to the slothful, the towering to the tiny, and the furry to the armor-clad, come nose-to-snout with an amazing array of extraordinary critters. Stand beneath the largest land mammal that ever lived, and peek at a creature so small that it weighed no more than a dollar bill!

Through the use of dynamic media displays, animated computer interactives, hands-on activities, touchable fossils, casts, taxidermy specimens, and more, Extreme Mammals highlights distinctive mammalian qualities and illuminates the shared ancestry that unites these diverse creatures.

Division of Family and Children's Services

The Division of Family and Children Services (DFCS) is the part of DHS that investigates child abuse; finds foster homes for abused and neglected children; helps low income, out-of-work parents get back on their feet; assists with childcare costs for low income parents who are working or in job training; and provides numerous support services and innovative programs to help troubled families.

Representatives from DFCS came in to discuss and promote National Foster Care Month. Each May, National Foster Care Month provides an opportunity to shine a light on the experiences of the more than 380,000 children and youth under 18 in the foster care system. The campaign raises awareness about the urgent needs of these young people and encourages citizens from every walk of life to get involved – as foster or adoptive parents, volunteers, mentors, employers or in other ways.

With the help of dedicated people, many formerly abused or neglected children and teens will either reunite safely with their parents, be cared for by relatives or be adopted by loving families. Many children would not have to enter foster care at all if more states provided support and services to help families cope with crises early on.

MARTA/See & Say

MARTA has launched a free smartphone application that gives customers the ability to send texts and photos to the transit system's police department regarding suspicious activity.

MARTA leaders say the "See & Say" app is "easy to use" and can be downloaded from the iTunes Store or the Android Market.

According to the transit system, the software is part of MARTA's ongoing "See Something, Say Something" campaign, which is supported by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's, Transit Security Grant Program.

The app is designed for environments with limited cell service – including transit systems such as MARTA – with underground tunnels where cell service is not available, say developers. If a customer loses cellular service while using the app, the text or photo will be sent to police dispatchers immediately once a signal has been re-established.
