11.1	Technology	4pm	6/25	1:45	KPLR News at 4pm	Grow Solar is a great way to cut down that electric bill this summer. Offered by the Earthways Center of the Missouri Botanical Garden and the Midwest Renewable Energy Association, it helps residents and small business owners' access affordable pricing for solar panels through Group-Buy. The more people who participate in a virtual power hour, where they learn the basics, will gain a discount.
11.1	Business	7pm	6/26	1:51	KPLR News at 7pm	Changes are being made at the St. Louis Zoo as it reopens. All employees and zoogoers are required to wear a mask and it must cover their nose and mouth. The Zoo's epidemiologist and other staff members are kindly reminding visitors to wear their mask while on the premises. Staff are constantly wiping down tables, socially distancing and adjusting as they go. You also will get a timed ticket when you arrive to go into the penguin exhibit and the "snake house" is now limiting the number of people who can be inside at once.
11.1	Employment	7pm	6/28	1:18	KPLR Weekend News	After a 7-11 was burned down following a night of unrest, after the death of George Floyd, former employee, Alicia McGee worked at the location near Washington Avenue for 20 years. Field Foods, on Washington Avenue, has already hired a cashier who previously worked at 7-11. McGee said her home is gone, and that there were so many people affected by this tragedy.

11.1	Government (Local)	7pm	6/29	1:46	KPLR News at 7pm	Despite the petition calling for Mayor Lyda Krewson to step down, she says she is not resigning. The reforms the petition is calling for are the conditions at St. Louis jails, the response to homeless camps downtown and when she read names and addresses on Facebook Live of people calling for police reform. They want reforms to address how she became the democratic nominee with just about a third of the vote. Maxi Glamour, petition organizer, noticed a lot of the signatures are people from Germany and that the petition is more about starting a conversation than making a legal change.
11.1	Community	4pm	6/30	2:44	KPLR News at 4pm	A follow up on the Kinlock firefighter that was shot in the Applebee's in St. John – she is still in critical condition but has been taken off the ventilator. Cooper, a 5-year-old who wanted to help raise money for the injured firefighter, is still raising money through his lemonade stand and when the victim's parents found out, it brought tears to their eyes.
